

ERRATA

Page 26 is reprinted here as the original in this journal is too light to read.

“Gang”. The working class in China has deprived these bourgeois careerists of their “right” to spread rotten bourgeois ideas. There is no such thing as democracy in the abstract; democracy either serves the interest of the bourgeoisie or the interest of the working class.

The launching of the human rights campaign by the U.S. bourgeoisie exposed the fraud of bourgeois democracy. The campaign exposed the fact that the bourgeoisie is not interested in human rights or democracy. They use these slogans to serve their narrow self-interest.

It is the duty of the working class and oppressed people of this country to shove aside the corrupt bourgeoisie as the Chinese people overthrew their landlords and capitalists, and build a new socialist society where the working class will exercise true democracy.

Page 46, Editor’s Note, second sentence after quote reads, “It is their constitutional right to exist and develop, on this recognition we all must remain firm.”

It should read:

“It is their unconditional right to exist and develop, on this recognition we all must remain firm.”

An apology is extended to our readers for the inconvenience.