
Left Wing Left Far Behind in Primaries:

Official Report Shows Fannie Jacobs Beaten by Bernard J. Riley, Johantges by C. Dann:

Not One Important District Captured by Dis-ruptionists, Even When They Hold Machinery

Published in The New York Call, vol. 12, no. 255 (Sept. 12, 1919), pp. 1, 3.

The sweeping victory of the Socialist Party in the primaries last week against the self-styled Left Wing, that undertook to save the party from itself, is seen to have been more complete than at first the defective police reports indicated.

In every single important constituency the Socialist Party won the place on the ticket, beating out the Left Wing even in the places where the would-be insurgents had the party machinery, the club-rooms, the mailing lists, and even the larger part of the old party membership.

Only in a few unimportant districts did the party lose a place on the ticket, and in those constituencies by a very slender margin.

Riley Beats Mrs. Jacobs.

The corrected official figures made public by the Board of Elections show a number of reversals from the police figures of last week. In the 18th Assembly District Mrs. Fannie Jacobs, last year's Socialist candidate, now a member of the Communist Party, was candidate against Bernard J. Riley. Last week's figures showed her the victor by three votes. Corrected figures show the loyal Socialist the victor.

Likewise, in the 54th Aldermanic, Charles Dann, loyal Socialist, is returned a winner over Carl Johantges, who was indicated as victor last week.

Bert Wolfe Defeated.

The most striking victory of all was that of William M. Feigenbaum over Bert D. Wolfe, the Left Wing kingpin candidate, who had the best organized Left Wing district in the city back of him, and who waged an aggressive campaign for the nomination. The district showed a vote of 61 to 42 when the police figures came in. The correct figures are 115 for the Socialist Party, as against 42 for the Left Wing aspirant for the Assembly seat.

The Left Wing candidate for supreme court judge, Louis B. Boudin, will head the Socialist ticket, inasmuch as the party had no candidate, and Socialists were instructed to write in the name of the Socialist candidate, Joseph Kooperman.

The "Lefts" likewise won one out of five municipal court nominations, that in the 1st District.

The complete and corrected vote is as follows:

It is noted that not a single important district, from the Socialist standpoint, has been carried by the Left Wingers. The party has a solid and a strong ticket for the campaign, which is now in full force.
