

POICE PROTECT THE OIL KING

Chief and U. S. Marshal examined He Shall Have Right of Commonest Citizen

Hundreds and thousands of people surrounded the federal court building today to get a glimpse of Rockefeller.

STOPS ELEVATOR SERVICE At 7 a. m. Marshal Hoy issued orders that the federal building elevators should not stop at the sixth floor.

Judge Landis determined to have the proceedings in his court as orderly as any that ever took place in the United States.

CHIEF TALKS "The police," said Chief Shipley, "are used today not to do honor to John D. because he is the richest man in the world."

WORKERS IN SHEET MILLS SIGN THE NEW SCALE It is Practically the Same as Last Year's, With the Exception of Foot Notes

Youngstown, O., July 6.—The Youngstown Sheet & Tube company, which has signed the year's scale with the sheet makers, has resumed operations after a brief shutdown.

GOVERNOR MAGOON WILL ARBITRATE THE STRIKE Havana, Cuba, July 6.—Governor General Magoon has consented to act as arbitrator between the tobacco manufacturers and their employees.

GUN MEN TRY TO START RIOTS AT BOISE TOWN

Disappointed at Haywood's Victory, Pinkertons and Owners' Thugs Insult Workers' Representatives

(Appeal to Reason Bureau Special to Chicago Daily Socialist.) Boise, July 6.—All the world now knows that the prosecution hasn't come within a million miles of making a case against Haywood.

Practically Ended. With the exception of a few witnesses not here, whose testimony will be short, and the Bradley depositions from San Francisco, the defense has practically completed its case.

Richardson Will Open. As now arranged Richardson will open for the defense and Hawley will open for the state.

Detective Made Case. It has been a detective-made case from start to finish.

All Are Mad. Gooding is mad, Borah and Hawley are disgusted, the Boise papers are shrieking with rage.

Hisses in His Teeth. Today as the writer and J. C. Barnes were walking past the postoffice, Bob Melrum, the murderous thug, sent here from Colorado for highway robbery, stepped to the sidewalk and hissed through his teeth:

Several days ago D. C. Scott, the railroad detective from Cripple Creek, tried to engage the writer in a personal encounter over some writings that appeared in the Appeal to Reason in the spring of 1905.

W. W. Main, the discharged operator, by stating "it is understood" he has gone to work for a prominent board of trade firm.

At union headquarters both these stories were denied by Secretary-Treasurer Russel.

A bulletin just sent out from international headquarters warns all members to black out confidence in Associated Press reports or newspaper stories of dissension among the organization's officials.

The Tribune publishes a fake story about President Small of the Commercial Telegraphers' union.

At union headquarters both these stories were denied by Secretary-Treasurer Russel.

Major Berryson is in charge of the late night expressed themselves as very indignant that federal officers should make a march over the route taken by Sherman.

It is probable that President Roosevelt will be called on to explain the march or call of the officers.

PETE CURRAN IS SENT TO COMMONS

Bye-Election Shows Trend of Voters Toward Socialism.

(Scripps-McRae Cable.) London, July 6.—In the defeat of the Liberal candidate for parliament in the bye-election at Jarrow yesterday, and the election of Peter Curran, the labor candidate, there is deep significance.

Home rule is the rock over which the Liberal and Irish parties have split.

WOODROW IS SCARED AND ALSO ANGRY He reached the city shortly before 6 o'clock and went to the new home of the Commercial National bank.

At least many might try to get near him just to see what he looks like.

Mrs. McCormick Talks. Mrs. McCormick, who, like her father and mother, is a simple-minded woman, with the virtues and weaknesses of the ordinary wife and mother and daughter, gave an interview before her father arrived.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER IS HERE; GREAT "REFORM" REACHES APEX OF DARING

After the conference he was whisked to 85 Bellevue place in a large auto. In front of the home of his son-in-law, Harold F. McCormick, he was met by a squad of newspaper men.

Peer Between Bars. News of the arrival of the industrial king, who goes about in the garb of a simple, cautious business man, spread through the tall iron pickets.

None was allowed to stop long in front of the home of such awful and impressive power. Plain clothes men from the Chicago avenue station, harness men called from the reserves in police stations further away and the ever present Pinkertons kept the crowd moving.

The capitalist newspapers have used John D. as a convenient person to charge with all the economic ills from which society is suffering.

Play Was Close Until Final Stages of the Game—Results at Dunning. The Young People's Socialist league baseball team defeated the Pettibones at the Ninth ward Jewish picnic at Dunning yesterday.

The honors were evenly distributed between the two teams. The pitching of Brush and Hanselman was of brilliant order, each having eight strikeouts to his credit.

The Y. P. S. L. team seemed to have the worst of the game for the first five innings. Three errors with a couple of base hits, however, gave the Pettibones in the last half of the second and third innings, while Hanselman held the Y. P. S. L. to goose eggs.

In the sixth Brush got a scratch hit which was followed by a double. Kehoe sacrificed him to first.

Wallace lined a single over second, scoring Brush. Wallace then stole second. Collins singled to the same place, taking second on the throw. Catch Wallace at home. Wallace sliding back to third. Hahn singled to deep right, scoring Wallace. Collins taking third. Hahn scored on the throw in. Dillon placed a nice sacrifice down the first base line, scoring Collins.

Have few out, ending the agony. The score remained tied, 3 to 3, up to the sixth. In the seventh the Y. P. S. L. added another double by Auth, a sacrifice by Grudel and a passed ball. The Pettibones did not score after the third inning.

The score tallied up as follows: Y. P. S. L. 0 0 0 3 1 0—4 R. H. E. Pettibones 1 1 0 0 0 0—3 R. H. E. A. E. MORGAN, TREATED AS A THIEF, WILL BOYCOTT Milan, July 6.—And now the Italian authorities are said to have accused J. Pierpont Morgan of theft.

They suspected that he had concealed on his yacht Corsair a portion of the Stronach art collection and intended taking the pictures out of the country, contrary to law.

They failed to get the goods on Pierpont, but have so angered the millionaire that he has declared an eternal boycott on the ungrateful country in which he has spent piles of American dollars.

HARD FIGHT WAGED; SPECIAL ELECTION

Milwaukee Stirred by Efforts to Compel Election Under the New State Law.

(Special to Chicago Daily Socialist.) Milwaukee, Wis., July 6.—The Social-Democratic aldermen in the Milwaukee city council are now fighting hard for a special election for the new school board.

It won't do any good to let the Socialists get control. They have so many queer ideas they want to put into execution that once the town was turned over to the Socialists, not a dollar of capital would come here for investment.

Socialist News. Hancock, Mich., has been set tony-tour by a Socialist orator. So alarmed have the authorities become after three consecutive meetings that the city council has passed an ordinance forbidding the carrying or display of red flags or the making of speeches tending to enlighten the workers.

Organizer John Collins has been meeting with great success in his Pennsylvania campaign. He remains in Washington county until July 7; then goes to Fayette county, where he will be from July 8 to July 15.

The Socialist of York, Pa., who have had no official recognition, not since 1904, having polled the necessary 2 percent vote of the highest nominee at a general election, have placed a full contingent in the field. It is as follows: Sheriff, John Tom, Shambaugh; district attorney, Arthur W. Lewis, York; director of the poor, George F. Smith, York; register of wills, H. C. W. Warner, York; clerk to the county commissioners, H. E. Myers, York; coroner, H. G. Meinel, York; county surveyor, Lorenz Weber, York.

Coal Heaver's Widow May Become Queen of Belgium

(Scripps-McRae Cable.) Brussels, July 6.—The prospect of a plebeian son of King Leopold and a woman of the commonest antecedents becoming heir to the throne of Belgium is just now causing the greatest anxiety to Belgians of all classes.

Such an act would make the baroness queen of Belgium and her son heir to the throne.

THE LION ROARS; SULTAN SHIVERS

Great Britain Demands Release of MacLean and Morocco Can't Comply

(Scripps-McRae Cable.) Tangier, July 6.—England's demand upon Morocco for the prompt release of Kaid General MacLean, a British subject who is commander of the sultan's bodyguard and held by Raisuli until the sultan agrees to the bandit's terms of surrender, has caused the greatest apprehension. The inability of the sultan to secure the release of MacLean is admitted. Raisuli's ransom demand is so exorbitant as to be out of the question. Already an army is being gathered under the direction of War Minister Gabbas to pursue Raisuli. So many similar expeditions have met ignominious failure that the chances of success are regarded as very poor. Raisuli's prestige among the natives has been greatly increased by his constant additions to his ranks. It is doubtful if an imperial army strong enough to defeat him can be sent against the bandit.

PHILANTHROPY RIPS AND PAWS THE AIR

Philanthropy, pure and unalloyed, is on the rampage in Chicago. Mysterious donations are coming in to the vacation school board to keep open the summer schools during the season. One anonymous contribution is $1,400. The Illinois Steel company from its beneficent fund has donated $500. This is but a fractional part of its surplus, derived from cheating widows and orphans out of damages due them for injuries and deaths of husbands and fathers at the mammoth iron works.

LABOR NEWS

"What's in a name?" asked the immortal Bard of Avon. "Trouble," answers L. P. Straube, business manager of the Chicago Allied Printing Trades council. And thereby hangs a tale. It happened in this wise: Several days ago the Chicago Daily Socialist printed a story about Mayor Busse. The coal yard mayor is highly incensed over the efforts of reporters on the afternoon papers to verify his stories before publishing them. Because of their lack of confidence the mayor has issued a "ukase." It is more binding than an injunction. It bars all reporters on afternoon papers from the mayor's office.

THE GRAND DAY CLAIMS ITS VICTIMS

Thirty-Seven Dead and Over Two Thousand Injured the Results of Celebration

As a day of slaughtering and maiming the glorious Fourth this year lived well up to its best record. Thirty-seven were killed and 2,153 injured during the patriotic display and the fire loss aggregated $340,555. The roster of the dead is four more than last year's. Fireworks led all the other weapons of death. They claimed seventeen victims. Cannon killed four; firearms, nine; gunpowder, three; runaways, three; toy pistols, one.

New York will have the largest number of funerals as a result of the celebration. Ten of her citizens were killed and six are so seriously injured that they are expected to die. At New York hospitals 423 persons were treated and hundreds were cared for at the free dispensaries. Four hundred and twenty-eight men and boys were arrested for carrying concealed weapons, thus averting other casualties.

Pittsburg yielded up nine lives on the altar of noisy patriotism; Aberdeen, S. D.; two; Chatham, Ill.; two; Des Moines, Iowa; Ellingham, Ill.; Greenup, Ill.; Harrisburg, Pa.; Hartford, Conn.; Kansas City, Kan.; Montpelier, Vt.; Spokane, Wash.; and Troy, N. Y. each contributed one, and Springfield, Ill., three.

Chicago for once fell away behind New York. Only two of her people were sacrificed and the injured reached the insignificant total of 107. Last year 1578 were maimed in the celebration. George Ott, 19 years old 8708 La Salle street, was shot to death while standing on the platform of the Lake Shore railway at Thirty-fifth street last night. The shot was fired, the police believe, by negroes who were celebrating with an old pistol. Two arrests were made.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hart, 60 years old, 5201 Bishop street, died from the shock of a giant firecracker which was exploded at her feet. Cora Boersma, 8 years old, is dying at Englewood hospital as the result of a bullet.

An Albert Hanson, 23 years old, Clyde, Ill., lost his sight through the explosion of a cannon cracker at Michigan City. William Duter, 20 years old, was disfigured for life by the explosion of a can of powder which he lighted with a cigar.

Carley Crouse, 8 years old, 670 Mildred avenue, son of Jess Crouse, pressman at the Chicago Daily Socialist, right hand blown partly off by torpedo case. Serious. Harry Johnson, 19, 3120 Elston avenue, right hand blown off by a giant firecracker. Johnson and a party of friends had waited until the celebration of others were nearly over and were amusing themselves by firing cannon crackers. Johnson attempted to hurl a lighted cracker into the street, when it exploded, tearing his hand completely from the wrist.

ONE PHASE OF BIG ICE STRIKE ENDED

(Scripps-McRae Press Association.) New York, July 6.—The ice drivers and helpers' strike was officially called off in Manhattan. The vote was unanimous, the union leaders saying it was impossible to keep a majority of the strikers from returning to work. The American Ice company takes all the striking employees back, but grants no other concessions. The Brooklyn strike is still on.

HENRY MAKI

Maki testified at Boise this week. He was arrested as a vagrant when he had $300 in his pocket and was employed in a coal mine owned by the union. He was bull-penned. He was ordered to do disgusting work by the soldiers and refused. Then he was chained in the street, as the picture shows.

BIG NAME, SMALL PAY MADE BOY A THIEF

Was an Assistant Manager and Raked in Large Salary of $9 Per

A salary of $9 a week for the responsible position of assistant manager, and the sight of unlimited wealth on all sides, made half a thief of Louis Kratina, 18 years old, 2003 West Forty-seventh street. His aged parents, condemned to a life of poverty and destitution, completed the work and Kratina appropriated goods to the value of $3,500 from the firm of Lyons Bros., by whom he was employed.

Kratina's only defense was that he became dishonest to provide for his aged parents. Yesterday Judge Pinckney sentenced him to a year in the house of correction.

Lyons Bros. are on the lookout for another $9 a week "manager."

Best For the Eyes

Electric light does not tire the eyes because it is steady and may be softened as desired. It insures the children's eyes against injury. Its cleanliness commends it to housewives. It is the most desirable light in particular—the most economical all the year round. For particulars about the reduced rates call Main 1250.

will be printed in full in the Appeal to Reason. Valuable evidence explaining Harry Orchard's letter to his wife, mailed from Alaska, was given by Marion Moor, executive board member of the Western Federation of Miners, today. The transaction was shown to be entirely innocent and had no possible connection with the assassination of Steunenberg.

By Mrs. Myra Fallon it was proved that Harry Orchard was "frequently seen in company with K. C. Sterling and 'Kid' Waters, two detectives in the employ of the Mine Owners' association.

Refuted Orchard. Owen Barnes, accused by Orchard of having assisted in the manufacture of dynamite bombs in the Cripple Creek district, during the strike, took the stand and successfully refuted the statements of the Steunenberg assassin.

Jacob Wolfe, for several years an employe in the Denver Installment House, owned by George Pettibone, testified that he was the man who sent the letter to Orchard from Denver to San Francisco in the fall of 1904.

He said that in Pettibone's request he placed in the letter Orchard's union card and a Masonic pin, which had been left in Pettibone's safe for safe keeping before registering it to John Dempsey, the name assumed by Orchard in San Francisco.

Contained No Money. He stated positively that the letter contained no money at the time of registration. Archie Harper and his father, John Harper, were the last two witnesses to testify. They described the looting of the Victor union store by A. E. Carlton, Major Naylor and other members of the Mine Owners' association on the day of the Victor riots, and related the circumstances under which they were driven from the district.

It was a harrowing story, replete with the awful cruelty visited upon union men by the hirelings of capitalism, and there is no doubt that it had an impressive effect upon the jury.

One question asked John Harper by Darrow was ruled out by the court. This related to the attitude of the public toward the Western Federation of Miners in the Cripple Creek district before the blowing up of the Independence depot platform.

Two Parades Held. The witness stated that about a week before the explosion two parades were held in Victor which accurately measured the strength of the miners' organization and that of its enemy, the Mine Owners' association. In the mine owners' parade just 300 persons marched, while in the federation parade more than 3,000 men, women and children participated.

Yet, ten days later, by reason of the depot explosion, the federation men were deported and unionism was successfully crushed for the time.

(Scripps-McRae Press Association.) Boise, July 5.—Point blank denial of Harry Orchard's story of the famous Bradley depositions is contained in fifteen depositions to be offered in the Haywood case today.

The testimony is offered by witnesses who the defense found it impossible to bring to Boise in person. Their version is that no one planned to blow Bradley up with a bomb at all, but that the explosion was due to an accidental gas leak.

Legal Battle. The defense is fighting hard to get the evidence before the court, the prosecution to exclude it from the record. By a change in the defense's program Haywood will probably precede Moyer on the stand today. The former's story is understood to be his own version of the history of the Western Federation of Miners, his connection with the organization, his relations with Orchard and a denial of complicity in any of the acts of violence charged against him by the state.

Moyer's evidence will be purely in corroboration of Haywood's account. Rumor has it that "Steve" Adams, Orchard's alleged "pal," will turn the tide in the defense and take the stand against Haywood when the prosecution opens its case in rebuttal.

I want you to take a trip to Lake County, Michigan, and see the crops now growing in our county.

So many reports have been circulated by unprincipled parties, either from ignorance or through a spirit of pure cussedness, that nothing will grow on Michigan's sandy soil, that I want the pleasure of proving to you that these reports are absolutely false and that no state can produce better results than we can.

When you see this with your own eyes I'm sure that a proposition "ke mine," where you can buy fertile land located close to big cities, at from $7.50 to $10 an acre on monthly payments without interest is surely worth considering. I leave every Tuesday night via Goodrich line (fare only $6.80 for round trip), which I refund in case you buy. Better pack your grip, bring along your fishing tackle and spend your vacation with us. I can guarantee you an enjoyable trip whether you conclude to purchase or not. DEWEY PLEASSED WITH THE WARLIKE PLANS Admiral Believes Only Hope is a Large Pacific Fleet to Menace Japs.

(Scripps-McRae Press Association.) Washington, July 6.—The most pleasing news in Washington over the news that the president has consented to send a big fleet of American battleships to the Pacific is Admiral Dewey.

The movement was not only unanimously recommended by the general board of the navy, of which the admiral is president, but was personally urged upon the administration by Dewey.

Just how far the statement that it is to be only a practice cruise will be accepted by the powers of the world remains to be seen.

The admiral's recommendation contemplated the permanent establishment of a Pacific ocean battleship fleet. Representatives of the various foreign powers in Washington were busy cabling the news to their respective governments, together with their opinions as to the significance of the movement.

Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans, commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet, who has been selected as the commander of the Pacific armada, is making preparations for the voyage.

An Outgrowth of the Steunenberg Murder Case

It was inevitable that the attorneys for the defense in the Steunenberg murder case would "get the mining fever" before the case was over and the attorneys from Chicago were no exception to the rule. The attorney who has his foresight will "take a flyer" in a good mining proposition. These attorneys from the very fact of their employment on this famous case had the confidence of old prospectors and members of the Western Federation of Miners and as nearly every member of that organization is cherishing a "prospect" of his own, somewhere in the Rocky Mountains, it was natural that they should seek to interest the attorneys from Chicago in the development of their property.

They all seemed to have the idea that men from Chicago were as a matter of course in touch with capital and could save dollars and cents for a meritorious proposition, and it was in vain that they were told the difficulties that surround the financing of a mining proposition no matter how good a prospect it may be. A mine has been defined to be "a hole in the ground owned by a liar," and so many fakes are being exploited in the daily papers and gullible people have been swindled to such an extent that a man who prizes his reputation for honesty and integrity will think many times before connecting his name with a mining proposition no matter how strongly it may appear to him as the opportunity of a lifetime.

It fell to my lot in helping organize the defense of the Idaho case to go into every mining center in the Rocky Mountains and various mining camps looking up witnesses and developing plans for checkmating the prosecution in its various moves to handicap the defense in the great legal battle now in progress at Boise. I met hundreds of members of the Miners' Union and it was among these that I encountered the friends of Steve Adams and learned of the great confidence they had in this important figure in the case and the conviction that he had never made a voluntary confession as alleged in the daily papers.

This feeling was so universal that I was encouraged to attempt to communicate with Steve Adams in the Penitentiary at Boise where every safeguard that the ingenuity of the Pinkertons and the attorneys for the state could devise was in operation to prevent any communication. The complete story of this successful raid on the preserves of the prosecution which Judge Smith of Caldwell pronounced "the master stroke of the defense" would make as exciting reading as any fiction.

Among other things while traveling in the mountains and meeting these old miners I became convinced that probably some of the greatest mines in the world are being withheld from exploitation because of their very richness. If a prospector locates a claim and complies with the law as to the assessment work required each year there is no power in this country that can prevent him from taking the property away from him. I met old prospectors who own claims that are so rich that working single-handed and alone with pick and wheelbarrow, "gophering" as it is called by the miners, they are able to take out enough ore to live in comfort and they dream of the time when they will be sole owners of "the greatest mine in the world." They turn a deaf ear to every proposition made by outsiders to develop the property and regard with suspicion born of their own experience in many cases, in connection with other property which they have lost, every man who approaches them.

However hopeful and satisfied they appear, however, they all are conscious of advancing years and are only too willing to put their interests in the hands of men in whom they have confidence and many of these men have thought they saw in me just the man to handle their property and get the money without which the property will never be more than a prospect and for the lack of which their dreams of riches will never come true. One man who has refused $100,000 in cash for his property freely offered to give me a half interest in it if I would raise the money necessary to develop it and not a great amount was required either. This property is situated in Colorado and adjoins for half a mile one of the richest mines in Colorado.

This man is an old soldier and located his property over twenty-five years ago and has held it all the time against all the world. The adjoining rich property was not located until many years later. As intimated above, I have decided to lend a helping hand to some of these old prospectors in the mountains and will undertake the raising of money for some of the best of the property. I have been made to me and as I can only interest others I have decided to offer what is called a ground floor opportunity to small investors who will take an interest in a perfectly clear proposition that promises good returns for the money invested. No mining proposition of course is regarded as a certainty otherwise stock in new mining enterprises would sell for dollars where it sells for a few cents per share, but where there is any return it is generally many times the amount invested and men who can afford to risk a small amount will always be ready to take a chance. The attorney Harry Orchard sold his 1-16 interest in the Hercules Mine for $500.00 to Dan Cordona. Cordona told me that $400.00 of this amount went to a perfectly clear proposition that he had made where it sells for a few cents per share, but where there is any return it is generally many times the amount invested and men who can afford to risk a small amount will always be ready to take a chance. The attorney Harry Orchard sold his 1-16 interest in the Hercules Mine for $500.00 to Dan Cordona. Cordona told me that $400.00 of this amount went to a perfectly clear proposition that he had made where it sells for a few cents per share, but where there is any return it is generally many times the amount invested and men who can afford to risk a small amount will always be ready to take a chance. Weighing Evidence

From start to finish the real jury in the Haywood case has been the working class of the United States.

When we say "both sides" we do not refer to the individuals who are present as defendants and plaintiffs and counsel in Idaho.

To the great reading public of the United States, therefore, the pleas have been directed. Each side has brought to bear all the resources at its disposal.

For months before the trial began they filled the public mind with stories of the certain guilt of Haywood and Moyer.

When Orchard's "confession" was being detailed by him upon the witness stand it was repeated upon the front pages of every capitalist daily in America.

Then the supposedly "impartial" magazines were brought into line. McClure's scored a "scoop" by purchasing the "life" which Orchard had composed with the assistance of McPartland.

Several preachers then contributed to the task of bolstering up the cause of capitalist murder by giving "expert testimony" from their pulpits on Orchard's religious character.

When the defense began its case it placed man after man upon the witness stand who took up one portion after another of Orchard's story and swore that it was false.

As soon as their testimony began to be given the capitalist press ceased to report the Boise trial with any fullness.

A professor of psychology from Harvard appeared on the scene and prostituted his position by giving "expert testimony" (through the newspapers) as to Orchard's truthfulness.

Now comes another division of the capitalist press to do its little share in bolstering up the case. These are the so-called "independent and impartial" publications that make a business of summarizing and compiling the matter from other publications.

THE FACT IS THAT THE WILDEST ASSERTIONS OF THE SOCIALIST PRESS SEEM TO HAVE BEEN BEHIND THE FACTS.

The Socialist press declared that the whole trial was the culminating step in a murderous plot to wipe out organized labor that dividends might be increased in the gold mining industry.

The evidence shows that Orchard was a Pinkerton when committing the crimes of which he is guilty, that the mine owners have paid him money, that they had honeycombed the Miners' Union with spies who incited to violence.

IF A WHOLESOME CONSPIRACY TO MURDER, INVOLVING THE CAPITALIST CLASS OF HALF A DOZEN STATES, TWO OR MORE STATE GOVERNMENTS, AND THE NATIONAL GOVERNMENT, IS NOT SOMETHING WORTHY OF STRONG LANGUAGE, WHAT IS?

The one hope of the conspirators of capitalism now lies in suppressing the evidence that the defense has introduced at Boise.

Did every worker in America know and realize what has been told upon that witness stand there would be such an indignant uprising against the whole exploiting system as would wipe it forever off the earth.

Getting Subscribers.

When the Chicago Daily Socialist started about half of the subscription list was made up of non-Socialists, or at least of those who were not true Socialists.

Every time a new subscriber is sent in a duplicate order ought to be kept and if the paper is not delivered within four days a complaint should be sent to the office.

The most important thing to impress upon the mind of a new subscriber is the necessity of telling the person who is at the address he gives during the day that he has ordered the paper and wants it.

The Telegraphers' Union

BY MAY WOOD SIMONS.

Great wires, stretched from ocean to ocean, form the nerve system of the country. They are the life of the commercial world.

The telegraph operators of the country are engaged in their first great strike. This is a young union, but has had a rapid growth.

There are conditions that the telegrapher must face that are unlike those of any other workman.

There are conditions that the telegrapher must face that are unlike those of any other workman.

It is unreasonable to expect the workmen to be judicious when the judiciary is against them.

We are anxious that the working class shall survive in order to keep the capitalist class alive.

So long as capitalism remains the capitalist will retain the privilege of fixing the taxes, as well as the tax-gatherer.

The workmen who turn the screws on which we grind our axes have always clothed and fed the drones as well as paid their taxes.

And whether double be the tax, or whether it be single, we don't intend to leave their backs, nor with the herd to mangle.

And whether tax be on the soil, or on what soil produces, we know the same old po, will boil, watched over by the gooses.

"Did your cook give you any notice that she was going to leave?"

"Oh, yes; she broke two windows, one of my most costly ornaments, three dinner plates, a whole porcelain tea service and the pledge."—Baltimore American.

The operator joined a union the corporation stopped his wages and the operator left his job. Then he began to realize that in a business way he was a homeless wayfarer.

The telegrapher is in a peculiar sense the victim of the capitalist system of industry. He must use the lines and keys that are in the possession of the great corporations.

were dismissed within three days without a reason being given.

For several months after this the union continued to organize quietly, under the direction of the Federation of Labor. The company discharged the men whenever they discovered that they had joined the union.

At the last convention of the union, held at Cincinnati in 1906, 119 locals of the union were represented.

The organization has members working under contracts in over thirty different cities.

THE TWO GEESE A Fable BY S. A. HUNT

A good many years ago there were two fine geese that were very much alike. They were continually arguing and quarreling as to which was the more beautiful.

They seemed to think that was but reasonable, and he tasted of one of them; he continued to taste until there was little left but bones and feathers.

"Before I render a just decision I must taste of you."

"That is not brave in you, for I am unarmed," said the fox.

"Name the conditions."

The fox fixed in terror and could not be induced to face the fowl again.

Then Pluto said: "I will decide in favor of the one that will work the cheapest and vote the ostentest."

One day, swelled with his own importance and a full stomach, he started out to hunt for more game.

"We do not need your judgment or advice in any way. We are very happy and harmonious here and we desire you to leave us alone."

"I deny it. He who produces nothing pays for nothing. Now, if you do not leave here I will shoot you through with paper bullets."

"That is not brave in you, for I am unarmed," said the fox.

"Then I challenge you to a duel," quickly responded the fowl.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Edited by Marie Jayne

Woman Workers to Meet

WHAT is the object of the three great labor conventions called for Sunday, July 14?

These meetings are intended to band women together more firmly under union rules; to enable them to present a solid front against the exactions of private corporations.

Let your fields, stretching to the sky, That set no boundary to the eye.

Give him their own deep breath of the vastness of the cloudless blue;

Give him to drink your freshening breath for the betterment of the oftentimes unhealthy and even revolting conditions under which the more than six million working women of this country must labor—such is the object of these great tri-city conventions.

There is no woman who toils with head or hand for her daily bread who will not in some way be benefited by the outcome of these three meetings.

And it is high time that woman should raise a hand and speak a word in her own behalf.

Woman is no longer an experiment in the industrial world. She is a necessity, and she may become a living power if she and her sisters will work together intelligently for their own good.

Nearly 2,000,000 American women and children are employed in the manufacture of cloth and clothing, and it is a sad and well-known fact that in the large cities tens of thousands of them are compelled to labor under conditions which stunt their growth, weaken their bodies, ruin their health and even result in death.

How can these conditions be remedied? Largely through the efforts of the women themselves, by flocking to the standard of union labor and bringing the vast influence or great organizations to bear upon the lawmakers of their various states.

In time women, organized in trades, will grasp the fact that only through a political party of the working class will the conditions they combat be removed, a political party demanding the ownership of the things with which men and women must work by the people who do the work.

Fashion's Dictates

Although collarless waists are a special feature of the summer's fashions, there have never been such charming styles for stocks and collars purchasable as the shops are showing this season.

For a Small Boy

O prairie, Mother of the West, Take this small waif to your broad breast.

Let his feet love your changeless ways, To teach him firmness all his days;

Give him their own deep breath of the vastness of the cloudless blue;

Give him to drink your freshening breath for the betterment of the oftentimes unhealthy and even revolting conditions under which the more than six million working women of this country must labor—such is the object of these great tri-city conventions.

Wages for Women

Wages of female help, on account of the scarcity of labor in Omaha, are advancing this year.

Socialist Cook Book

Sponge Cake.

Three eggs, beat one minute; 1 1/2 cups sugar, beat five minutes; 1 cup sifted flour, beat one minute; 1/2 cup cold water, 1 cup flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoonful vanilla, beat one minute.

Embroidered handbags are as necessary accessories to the white costume as is the white belt. These may be made in the conventional shape with a stitched strap for a handle and heavily embroidered on the flap, or they may be made in the reticule shape with ribbons run through embroidered slits.

A white silk parasol that has become soiled may be painted with oil colors in Dresden design of roses around the center portion, and by concealing the soiled portion in this way, will reappear as an entirely new article of attire, chic and stylish.

For Home Dressmakers

LADIES' JUMPER OR OVER-BLOUSE.

The newest form of the jumper is shown in this smart model developed in pale heliotrope linen trimmed in Cluny lace. It is a decorative little garment and easy to adjust.

There is no development of the Japanese sleeve idea which will give such a softness as this little jumper. It would develop nicely in muslin, crepe de Chine or silk.

The pattern is in 7 sizes—32 to 44 inches, bust measure. For 36 bust the jumper requires 2 1/2 yards of goods 39 inches wide, or 1 1/2 yard 36 inches wide, or 1 1/2 yard 42 inches wide; 5/8 yard of insertion and 1 1/2 yards of edging to trim.

Price of pattern, 10 cents.

All orders for patterns should be sent to the Chicago Daily Socialist. Remember these patterns are strictly the product of union labor. Catalogue showing 1,000 Paris patterns sent on receipt of 10 cents to cover postage.

There is no abatement in the style of wearing strings of beads as ornaments, for they are so becoming and make such a pretty accessory to a toilette that they seem to have come to stay.

Boldly adventurous. For the fight is won by him who ventures all with daring heart.

FIGHTING SOCIALISM IN JAPAN

A Russian correspondent, writing in the Vilna Volkszeitung about the persecution of Socialists in Japan, traces the cause of this persecution back to the Russo-Japanese war and the decided stand which the Socialists have taken against war and against the militaristic policies and tactics of the Japanese in general.

At the beginning of the war, the correspondent writes, Katayama, leader of the Japanese Socialists, wrote an article condemning war, as it is bound to result in great misery to the living, in addition to the thousands of victims who will fall on the field of war.

The Socialist responded to Katayama's call and at once began to arrange street meetings, at which their speakers condemned war for any reason.

The government, seeing that this might undermine its militaristic plans, stopped these meetings and arrested the speakers, and since then the persecutions of Socialists have not ceased.

The Japanese government has now adopted many of the Russian methods of hunting down Socialists.

Spies shadow every Socialist. Domestic visits are constantly indulged in by the authorities, and the government, through the press and otherwise, seeks to paint the Socialists as enemies of the fatherland—as persons who deserve no consideration.

Coming down to the political conditions of Japan at the present time, the correspondent says that there is at present no political movement among the masses in Japan. The people have become indifferent to all political movements and reforms. The ruling classes have had their heads turned by the victory which they won over the Russians, while the people have all they can stand in paying taxes which the war with Japan entailed upon them.

The cost of living in Japan has risen by leaps and bounds since the war with Russia and the subsequent rise of militarism. Strikes have taken place in many large cities, and it looked as if the Socialists might have an opportunity to use these economic troubles as a means of propaganda against the government's jingoistic policy and for a political movement against the masses.

But here, too, the government gained the upper hand over the handful of Socialists and confiscated their daily paper several months ago.

The correspondent adds that the Japanese government is lining up daily more and more with the capitalist elements of that country, and soon will take a place beside the other European powers in their manner of suppressing Socialism in favor of the capitalist class. This, however, is having the same effect in Japan as it had in all other European countries. It intensifies the conflicts between classes, draws tighter the class lines and creates more and determined Socialists.

District Attorney Sims was ready to continue the search for Rockefeller all summer if necessary. We have no doubt that he would be willing to continue it for the next ten years if necessary to bluff the great American people into believing that their Uncle Sammy is greater than Oily Jawn D.

No man could vote to convict Haywood after hearing the testimony in the case, but we shudder to think what would be his fate if the jury happened to be composed of twelve "square deal" every man is equal before the law" Roosevelt.

That friend of labor, the Examiner, considers a circulation squabble with the Tribune to be of greater importance than the outcome of a foul plot to railroad innocent men to the gallows. The Haywood trial has been relegated to an obscure portion of the paper.

One good reason for your joining and voting with the Socialist party is the fact that your master is opposed to your doing so.

While not qualified to pass upon the question whether Dr. Long and Jack London are nature fakers, as has been declared by our infallible Teddy, our sincere opinion is that Roosevelt should be classed among the greatest political fakers of the day.

Coloring to Kill.

Oscar King Davis, who is doing the Haywood trial at Boise, Idaho, for the Globe-Democrat, is grossly prejudiced against the defendant, ridicules his lawyers and palpably colors every line he writes in the interest of the prosecution. His stories are well written, but they are not good reporting, because they are lopsided. One wonders whether the presentations of the Oscar King Davis stories is not one of the tactics that the national manufacturers are financing with the $1,500,000 anti-labor fund.—St. Louis Mirror.

Darrow's Great Speech

Gentlemen, one circumstance that has not yet been shown by the state, and which we will show, if they have forgotten it, which they have not: When Orchard was arrested, it was freely given out in the papers that he was a member of the Western Federation of Miners, and like everything else, they were responsible for this.

Mr. Haywood was the secretary and treasurer, and a charge was at once brought directly to his door. He at once took steps to wire and to write to an office at Silver City, the nearest place, to have the interests of the Western Federation of Miners protected in any charges that might be made against the organization, and likewise to look after any member of the organization who might be arrested, saying in this communication, in this letter, that over and over again in their troubles, men had been arrested without cause, and to look after this case.

We will show that it has been the policy of this organization from the beginning to defend every one of its members, however obscure and unknown; that it is a part of the purpose of its organization, and they behaved toward him as they would charge any other or under any other name, and defend him. That after Mr. Miller had come down here and consulted him a few times, and after he had been visited a number of times by McPartland, that he concluded that McPartland could do him more good than Miller, and I presume he is right, and that is the last our people had to do with him.

Gentlemen, many names have been mentioned by Mr. Orchard—names of members of the Western Federation of Miners whom he has said were connected with some things he has done. Gentlemen, in Cripple Creek these lodges were broken up and the members were scattered throughout the length and breadth of the land after the riots at Cripple Creek—some of them to Montana, some to California, some to Idaho, some to Nevada, some to Utah, and taking all sorts of names that they could find, but gentlemen, we will bring before you here most of those very names he has given; we will bring you Davis, and Easlerly, Mallich, nearly all the men whose names have been given, have taken their chance and come here to Idaho to tell their story. There may be some who say, "I think before we get done you will say we have had most of them and that we have had enough of them."

Farker, Kemison, and a few others are dead, as we will prove to you, we will account for them, but most of the rest will come.

Gentlemen, we will show you that Moyer, Haywood, Pettibone, not one of those ever had any connection with this man in any criminal act. Moyer and Haywood were the leading officers of the labor union, doing their best and all they could for that organization, and we will tell you, straight to this jury, that this is not a murder case, and Bill Haywood is not on trial, but that the state of Colorado has sent these men to Idaho, thinking that conditions there would be different here—they have sent them there, the Mine Owners' association of Colorado, that they might try and hang and execute and kill forever, the Western Federation of Miners, and it is that organization and through them that all organizations, and not Haywood that is on trial in this court.

(Conclusion.)
