International Trade in Girls Described by Miss Alice Johnson; Children Are Kidnaped; Chicago a Clearing House

A little ten-year-old American girl found dying in a brothel in Egypt. This is but one of the stories told by Miss Alice Johnson, when seen at the Deaconess home, 275 East Erie street, today.

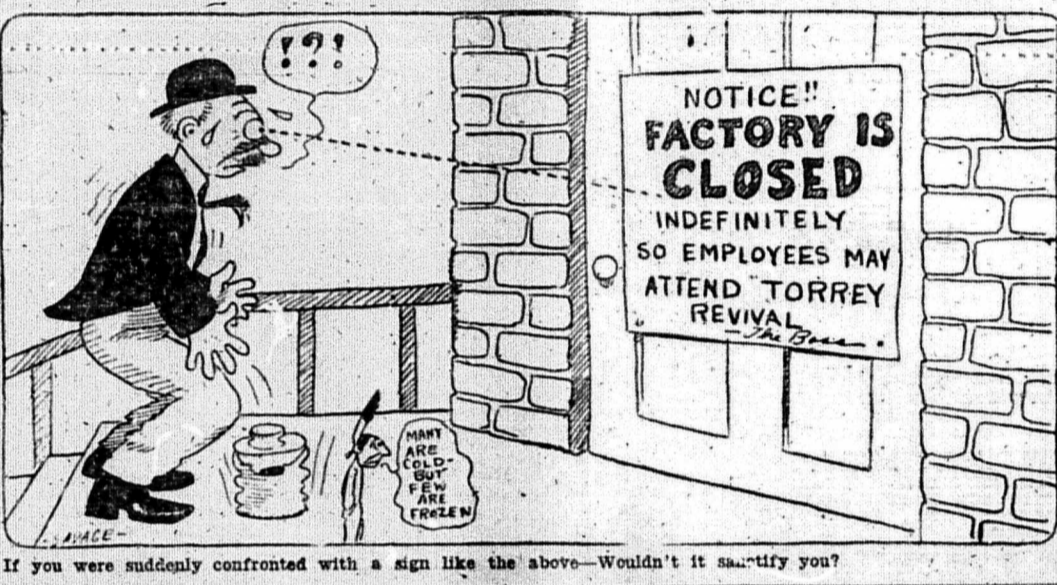

Miss Johnson is a rescue worker and missionary and for twenty-one years has been engaged in the saving of girls who have fallen into the hands of those who carry on the white slave traffic.

CLERKS UNITE DESPITE FOES

Streator, Ill., Nov. 25.—After more than four weeks of constant effort on the part of Organizer Woodson of the Retail Clerks and the Trades Assembly delegates a union of more than 70 clerks has been organized in this city.

The organization work has met with serious obstacles. The merchants have threatened immediate discharge to any clerk who joined a union, and the Citizens' Alliance, composed of the Retail Merchants' association, the Streator Improvement association, the Contractors' and Builders' association and numerous other associations, fought the movement.

TO USE GAS GUN TO BANISH FOG

London, Nov. 25.—The claims of Demetrio Maggiera that by the operation of a gas cannon which he has invented he can banish fogs and overhanging smoke from any city are just now the center of interest in London, the more so because last Wednesday was the worst day for London has ever experienced. Day was indistinguishable from night, there was no dawn, and darkness actually grew as morning advanced. At noon all lights were scarce in show windows.

Maggiera claims that his acetylene gas cannon, which is sixty feet long, will set the air vibrating, thus causing the fog to lift for a radius of five miles. The explosion is noiseless.

NEW O. LEANS PAINTERS LOCKED OUT BY BOSSES

New Orleans, La., Nov. 25.—Three unions of painters in this city have been locked out by the master painters. The trouble started some time ago when a workman had a dispute with F. Schneider, a master painter, over wages.

At an arbitration meeting composed of three union men and three master painters Schneider was found to be at fault and it was understood that he was fined by the association, but as the painters at his shop had been on strike for two weeks previous the master painters refused to fine him.

Failure to do this was protested against by the unions and the strike continued. A meeting of the master painters was called and it was decided to lock out the three locals keeping up the fight.

ROOSEVELT'S COMING MESSAGE FORECASTED

Washington, Nov. 25.—President Roosevelt's message to congress is nearly completed. It will be read to the members of the national legislature on Tuesday, December 3, the second day of the session. It is a long document and discusses a wide range of subjects in his customary vigorous style.

Wants Railroad Control

He will urge, it is said, the passage of a national incorporation law for corporations engaged in interstate business. He thinks that this should particularly apply to railroads over which he will argue, the national government ought to exercise a precisely similar supervision and control to that which it now exercises over national banks.

This supervision should extend, he will recommend, to all stock and bond issues of the railroads. He would also have it extended to every big business concern engaged in interstate commerce. He will also seek to procure a federal license, which will impose restrictions as to capitalization, methods of doing business, control of subsidiary companies and such other limitations as may be deemed necessary to the public safety and welfare.

Amend Anti-Trust Law

He will recommend amendments to the Sherman anti-trust law, so as to permit of railway pooling arrangements, looking to the maintenance of uniform rates for services, also that it may be made to prohibit such combinations in restraint of trade as may be pronounced by the courts to be unreasonable.

The president believes that the national license for corporations would confer upon them the same benefits as the federal inspection of meats and meat products has produced for the packing industry.

The president will make a particularly urgent plea for the enactment of a currency law which shall give the needed elasticity. He believes that the recent experience has shown the imperative necessity of legislation of this character, and he has strong hopes for its early passage.

No Tariff Revision

The president will not call for tariff revision at this session of congress. He will ask for the passage of a Philippine tariff bill greatly to lower, if not remove entirely, the tariff on sugar, rice and tobacco coming from that archipelago. He will also defend the German tariff arrangement and point out the desirability of giving to the executive departments of the government means, perhaps through a maximum and minimum tariff, or through an extension of the reciprocity section of the Dingley law, to meet the tendency of foreign governments to raise their rates on American goods with the hope of forcing concessions from the United States.

Urge Postal Savings Banks

The president will recommend the

TRADE SLUMPS FELT IN MAELS

The postoffice of Chicago, which is ordinarily at this time of year flooded with business and working a double force overtime, has just dropped sixty-three extra men.

During October the department called in its entire force of substitute mail carriers in the expectation of a great rush. These "subs" were kept for one week then laid off, and since then the regular force has been cutting in only seven and eight hours a day, whereas in former years twelve and sixteen hours a day was necessary in order to handle all the business.

This condition is caused by the marked falling off of advertising matter in the mails. Business concerns do not dare to print advertising matter under the present conditions. In proof of this is the report that Sears, Roebuck & Co. have canceled orders for twenty car loads of paper, having curtailed their printing of catalogues.

CARPENTERS REQUESTED TO AVOID STREATOR, ILL.

Streator, Ill., Nov. 25.—All journeyman carpenters are requested to stay away from Streator. The carpenters here have been called off a building being erected by the real estate firm of Barlow & Chubuck. This firm, it is asserted, has been decidedly unfair to work the union men.

POSTAL CLERKS UNION TO GIVE A THANKSGIVING BALL

The seventh annual ball of the Chicago Postoffice Clerks' union, local No. 1, will be given Thanksgiving night, November 28, at Brooker's Casino, Wash. avenue and Peck court. H. W. Starr is chairman of the arrangement committee and E. B. Gotley is chairman of the entertainment committee.

GERMANS HAVE A GAY EVENING

The German Socialists of Chicago gave an entertainment and ball in honor of the six years of existence of the German party organ, Neues Leben, last night in Brand's hall, which was packed with Socialists from all over Cook county, not only German Socialists, but every other nationality to be found in the Socialist movement.

It was a happy evening and the numbers, both vocal and instrumental, and the singing of the different singing societies, were splendidly given.

The entertainment, which preceded the dancing, concluded with a dramatic performance, "The Day Before Christmas," based upon the anti-Socialist law of Germany of 1888, where, on the evening of December 24, between 5 and 6 o'clock, without chance to make arrangements, many heads of families were arrested from the soil of Germany for being Socialists. Many of those that composed the audience were victims of that outrage, and when the performance concluded the tears were rolling down the cheeks of some of the oldest and best workers in the Socialist movement in Cook county.

To mention the entertainment was real. The anguish was lived at over again. The fire of youth returned in their mind's eye, and they could not see the struggle and the fray from within and without, from friends and neighbors.

The entertainment was the best attended and best received ever given by the German Socialists. Several hundred dollars were realized, which will be used to enlarge and support Neues Leben.

LABOR ARBITRATION

The message will deal vigorously with the corporation grabbing of real lands, forests, oil and mineral deposits belonging to the government and grazing lands. He will ask for more protection, O. I. subjects to be treated as the employers' liability, arbitration of labor disputes, technical and manual training for public schools, deer warfare, perfection of the food inspection act, the Panama canal and Cuba.

The president has pledged himself to urge upon congress the abolition of the tariff on newspaper paper, on wood pulp and on wood imported into this country for the manufacture of wood pulp and paper.

REQUIEM FROM PEN OF ENEMY

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 26.—In regard to the suspension of the Peoria Socialist, the Herald-Transcript, the leading local daily, has this to say in an editorial:

"It is not admitted that there is a growing interest in Socialism. People who know nothing about the methods and theories of the cult are desirous of investigating. People who know just a little of the tenets of the faith are willing to discuss the matter. Under those circumstances the local Socialist organ had a place to fill, and it is a pity that it could not maintain its existence."

In a recent editorial the Herald-Transcript declared its position on Socialism and every other doctrine. This was in the words of St. Paul: "Prove all things; hold fast to that which is good." During the life of the Peoria Socialist, the Herald-Transcript sought by every means possible not only to break out the questions at issue, but to give a wider publicity to the arguments which were printed in the Socialist.

FINANCIAL CLOUD PUTS A BLIGHT ON HORSE SHOW

New York, Nov. 25.—That the financial crisis has a sick the "409" where it lives is proved by the fact that the annual horse show, the big society event, has lost money. The show, which crashed through a window and struck Homer Kator, 11 years old, 224 Homer street, inflicting a slight scratch. The splinter struck a button of an undergarment, the child wore and was deflected.

Oakbrook, Wis., Nov. 25.—Country Roman Catholic federations are being formed throughout the state to fight Socialism.

The government statistician has figured it all out that the coal supply of this country will last for 500 years to come. We move that the coal barons be restrained from raising the price for at least 400 years.

LABOR IS AGAIN BY COURTS

Attleboro, Vt., Nov. 25.—Judge Fred B. Bryan gave an interesting decision in the case of the R. F. Simmons company, charged with employing women overtime in its factory. Two complaints were made by the state factory inspector against the Simmons company, one of the largest in the country.

The corporation admitted that it had employed the five young women mentioned more than 28 hours a week, but it also stated that they had ceased their regular work on the occasions mentioned, and were engaged in packing and wrapping up goods for shipment.

The judge said he did not construe that as a violation of the laws on the matter, as it was a departure from their employment, for was their work done in a room where there was machinery. Bryan says he is sustained in his ruling by a decision of Judge Morrison of the supreme court in a Fall River case.

This decision is of vital importance to manufacturing plants, as there are 1,000,000 of them in the country when it is necessary to take women from other lines of work and allow them to make up packages.

RICH AMERICAN TOURISTS ARE PENNILESS ABROAD

Paris, Nov. 25.—Many American tourists in this city are in the paradoxical condition of being rich and penniless at the same time. They have letters of credit on financial institutions at home which are regarded with suspicion by bankers here. Consequently they are without currency and some are going to the trouble of selling their personal belongings in order to get passage money home.

WORKMAN FILLS FOREMAN WHO DISCHARGED HIM

William Schramm aged 32 years, foreman of the machine shop of the St. Louis Car works, was shot through the heart and instantly killed by Ernest Hrapchak, aged 25, an employee who was discharged owing to the financial stringency. After shooting the foreman Hrapchak walked into the office of the company and asked for the superintendent to whom he surrendered.

Professor Lorenz L. Wilam and Esch Albert Alsenstadt are the coaches for the McKinley debaters.

WOMAN QUITS 'ION, LEWIS' 'TURNS IN LECTURE

"Socialism and the Woman Question" was the theme of a lecture delivered by Arthur Morrow Lewis at De Hall, 1156 Milwaukee avenue last night. After the musical program and before Lewis was speaking, a woman, who had been in the audience, came forward, crashed through a window and struck Homer Kator, 11 years old, 224 Homer street, inflicting a slight scratch. The splinter struck a button of an undergarment, the child wore and was deflected.

DEATH IS END OF LONG SLEEP

Paterson, N. J., Nov. 25.—Great medical interest has been aroused here in the case of Joseph Kouskus, a young man who died at the St. Joseph hospital after having been asleep for seven weeks. Death came as a result of exhaustion from lack of nourishment.

The young man went to sleep two days after having been taken to the hospital from Frank's furnace. He slept for two weeks straight and woke up for twenty minutes. He awoke again just Thursday for ten minutes, but went to sleep again and never awoke, in spite of the treatment of electricity and hot and cold water, which was applied to him.

THE CHICAGO DAILY SOCIALIST

180-182 E. Washington St.

AT LAKE VIEW HIGH

At Lake View High, where the social life of the student plays an important factor, and where the student organizations are exceptionally well organized, there is a mandolin orchestra, in charge of Deo Dionne. Several entertaining recitals are given each year.

The Chicago Daily Socialist is now equipped to do linotype composition in languages using English and German characters at a very moderate price.

How Long Will the Crisis Last?

Even the capitalist daily press has at last begun to admit that we are in the midst of an industrial crisis.

It must always be remembered, however, that the entrance of the trust, the complete solidarity of capitalism, and their absolute control of social machinery at this time makes possible measures which were impossible under a competitive system.

While there has been a tendency to overrate the power of the trust in regulating industrial relations and determining the course of events, yet it must not be denied that the entrance of consolidated capital has introduced new elements with tremendous powers.

In the crisis of 1893, for example, there was no general recognition of the seriousness of the condition until several months of depression had passed by.

During the present crisis there are almost no bankruptcies. The weaker industrial units are quietly swallowed by their stronger competitors, with but little interruption in their operation.

Production is being at once reduced in all directions, even faster than the crisis itself might compel, but the skeleton of the business remains intact.

There is still another side to this. The ruling class of America and of the world are beginning to realize that their day of triumph is drawing to a close.

They have seen the little cloud of working class discontent grow and grow until it has overspread the heavens.

Faced with these facts, and wielding this concentrated power, we may be sure that every energy controlled by capitalism will be put in operation to hasten the passing of the time of desperate need.

Nor can it be denied that much can be accomplished in this direction.

TO SAVE ITS LIFE CAPITALISM WILL DO ALL. ALL THAT A SYSTEM, AS WELL AS A MAN, HAS IT WILL GIVE FOR ITS LIFE.

Recognizing, then, that this crisis will be met with desperate energy, yet with cool calculation, by a ruling class wielding autocratic power, there is reason to believe that the time of suffering may be shortened.

If the entire energy of the various units of government, national, state and municipal, are at once set in operation to take up the army of the unemployed, then it is possible that industry may resume something of its previous condition within a year.

WILL THOSE WHO HAVE BEEN ACCUSING US OF WANTING A PANIC URGE THE ADOPTION OF THE MEASURES WHICH WILL HASTEN ITS DISAPPEARANCE AND RELIEVE ITS WORST FEATURES?

Flies on the Tribune

The Chicago Tribune had about decided that the milk trust was a hideous monster that ought to be crushed.

The leading editorial in the Tribune on the day the advertisement appeared was on the terrible danger of infection of milk by flies.

ARE THERE ANY FLIES ON THE TRIBUNE? Not in November.

MORGAN'S MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

When Congress meets a few days hence, it will be to consider the annual message of the President.

Who is this man, this private citizen, who shapes the policy of the nation? He is a modern pirate, preying upon the wealth producers.

Morgan's power was sufficient to make or break the governments of Japan and Russia.

In Morgan's message to Congress will not be found the following story. It appears, however, in the Philadelphia Public Ledger, regarded as Morgan's private organ, and may be taken as authentic.

THE BOY NEVER USED TO BACCO.

Fussy Old Gentleman to chance way companion: "Have you any children, sir?"

"Yes, sir, a son."

"Ah, indeed. Does he smoke?"

"No, sir. He has never so much as touched a cigarette."

"How nice that is, sir. The use of tobacco is a poisonous habit. Does he frequent clubs?"

"He has never put his foot in one."

SOCIOLOGY BEING THE FABLE OF THE GREAT HORSE "SOCIETY"

Once upon a time there was a horse, great in his day and generation, called "Society."

Then spoke one they called Small, who was a great preacher: "The plan is good. We will even do this thing, and to us will be the glory for will not the people say that in us dwelleth the wisdom which cometh of education?"

"Not so, not so! Saw ye not how those fared who monkeyed with the animal?"

And the Sociologists raised their voices and mocked, saying: "The soul is not quantitative."

"What care we for these philosophers? Come, now, let us try once more what we can do."

And the Sociologists raised their voices and mocked, saying: "The soul is not quantitative."

Then said one Socialist to his fellows: "What care we for these philosophers? Come, now, let us try once more what we can do."

THE TRAMP'S STORY

BY LEWIS G. DE HART.

There was unusual excitement in the little town of Durbin, and a large crowd of its citizens were gathered at the depot and filled the little waiting room to overflowing.

A tramp had been run over in the railroad yards the night before, both legs being cut off and an arm crushed to jelly.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Edited by Marie Jayne

A Bird's Eye View

BY CAROLINE H. PEMBERTON.

AM tired of all this talk about child labor," exclaimed Mrs. Chauncey Ballew to a small gathering of friends around her afternoon tea table.

"How on earth are the lower classes to learn to work if they don't begin young? The mill is really a great benefactor to the children because it keeps them off the streets, where they learn all kinds of mischief."

"But wouldn't it be better," seriously inquired a young woman who was known to be a college graduate and who had been carefully trained to ask very deep questions and to be perfectly content with shallow answers, "wouldn't it be better for the children to be in school?"

"The lower classes do not need a higher education," replied Mrs. Ballew, soaring into high irrelevance. "The whole trouble with them is that they have too much education already. It makes them dissatisfied and unfit for their duties in life. I think this is now becoming generally recognized everywhere."

And besides, the associations are so very bad in the public schools," said a handsome young matron with an air of deep concern. "I heard of a woman—a lady, who was, but somewhat eccentric—who insisted on sending her children to the public school—and she had to take them out—almost immediately. They picked up the most terrible expressions and wanted to associate with the children of dreadful people—blacksmiths and painters and carpenters. Oh, the associations in the public schools are beyond expression!"

"The idea of sending one's children to the public school," exclaimed several voices at once. "How shocking! What could she expect? What made her do it?"

"Would the associations be better in the mill?" asked the college bred girl, as she took up her notebook.

"I should think—well, it is a queer situation—the conditions of the mill are much better for the poor than the public school," said Mrs. Ballew, leaning back in her chair.

"To begin with, they don't allow much conversation in the mill," she said, leaning forward and talking so of course, you see, the children cannot hear as much as if they were in the schools."

"Oh, Mrs. Ballew, I am so glad to hear the fair college graduate with enthusiasm: 'I am so glad to hear practical common-sense view of this question. And of course Mr. Ballew knows. He has had so much experience with all these mills he contrasted I've been so troubled over this question of child labor. One sees it talked of in every newspaper and magazine.'"

"Yes, yes, yes," said the matron, who had the mother of two beautiful golden-haired cherubs, "I wish they'd begin to talk about something else."

"My dear!" cried Mrs. Ballew, taking

TO MEND CRACKED FURNITURE.

UGLY marks caused by slits or cracked places on furniture are easily filled in with beeswax and the mark is never detected. In fact, this is how furniture dealers cover such blemishes. First, slightly soften the beeswax until it is like putty, then press firmly into the cracks and smooth evenly with a thin steel knife. Of course, a putty knife is best for the purpose, but a dull case knife will do. Sandpaper over the surrounding wood and work the dust into the beeswax. This gives a wood finish or color and when the furniture is varnished, you will look in vain for the blemishes. Often this defect occurs in the panels of furniture, headboards of beds and tables, so try this method of mending and you will be delighted with the result. It is better than putty, since putty soon dies, crumbles and falls out, while beeswax remains forever just where it is placed.

For Home Dressmakers

LADIES TWEED SHIRT-WAIST. Pat. P. 1000000 No. 2514.

This smart shirt-waist in the Gibson style has the neck laid on in a manner which gives the broad-shouldered effect so much in vogue at present. It would look very stylish in flannel, nun-collared or flannel, and is worn with a large collar and a dainty silk tie.

The pattern is in 3 sizes—22 to 46 inches. Full measure. For 36 bust the waist requires 4 1/2 yards of material 20 inches wide, 3 1/2 yards 24 inches wide, 2 1/2 yards 28 inches wide, 2 1/2 yards 32 inches wide. Price of pattern, 10 cents.

All orders for patterns shown in this column should be sent to the Chicago Daily Socialist. Remember these patterns are strictly the product of union labor. Catalogue showing 1,000 Paris patterns sent on receipt of 25 cents to cover postage.

ONE DON'T WANT TO BE A SOCIALIST ALONE

A verse maker, who'd be funny for a little bit of money. A bit of rhyming nonsense sent to "Puck".

His lines were plutocratic and, I think, somewhat erratic. And he was published with a lot of other trash.

"Socialism as we view it—there is really nothing to it—"

Wrote this rhymester, and his lack of wit was shown.

When he said this alleged poet, as if thinkers didn't know it, "One cannot be a Socialist alone."

When our robust, unique Teddy, that great rough and ready, Sets out to con the people with his guff, He hopes the folks are trusting him in his alleged trust busting.

That they'll renunciate the rider rough, But his temper turns satanic when he's asked about the pauper, At times he thinks less majestic has grown.

And then he really hankers to give aid to harassed barkers, One cannot raise a campaign fund alone.

And William Jennings Bryan, who with grief is often crying, As he meditates upon our country's wrong, When from far climes returning, with utterances burning, He flung at all the people's foes, Each railroad corporation should be bought up by the nation, Cried Will, then hearkened to a diabolical groan.

His views held in derision, he turned to supervision, For one can turn a somersault alone.

Those who are Socialistic are, mostly, optimistic, Co-operation they know how's the key To better man's condition and thought looked on with suspicion, By those they've helped to taste its miserably, Socialists their advice flouted, go on with men undaunted.

And soon as Socialistic seed is sown, Folks will waken from their slumbers and help increase our numbers, One don't want to be a Socialist alone.

THE DIFFERENCE.

Tennyson could take a worthless sheet of paper, write a poem on it and make it worth $25,000. That's genius.

Vanderbilt can write a few words on a sheet of paper and make it worth $5,000,000. That's capital.

The United States can take an ounce and a quarter of gold and stamp upon it an eagle and make it worth $20. That's money.

A mechanic can take material worth $5 and make it into watch springs worth $50. That's skill.

A merchant can take an article worth 75 cents and sell it for $1.25. That's business.

A ditch digger can work eight hours handling several tons of earth for $1.50. That's labor.

A pauper can write a check for $50.00 and it is not worth 40 cents. That's tough.

A lady can purchase a hat for 75 cents, but prefers one that costs $27. That's nonsense.

OH, MR. BOK!

A little girl's papa had been very ill with appendicitis and had lain for many days in the darkened room after the doctors had come and removed his appendix. The little girl had been told to be very quiet and very good, with the promise that she should go in to see her papa at the earliest possible moment. At last she was permitted a brief interlude. She stood perfectly still, gazing at her father with loving eyes, but when the nurse came to take her away he held back a moment. "Haven't I been quiet, papa?" "Yes," whispered the fond parent. "And haven't I been very good?" Her father admitted it. "Then won't you do me a favor, papa?" "Certainly. What is it my child?" "Let me see the baby!"—Ladies Home Journal.
