

THAW TRIAL SLOW WORK Many Talesmen Examined in Vain Effort to Fill Jury Panel

BULLETIN New York, Jan. 11.—Mrs. William M. Thaw, Harry Thaw's mother, who is ill in Pittsburgh, may not live to hear the outcome of her son's trial, according to a report that was brought to her son at the opening of court today.

New York, Jan. 11.—The trial of Harry C. Thaw for the killing of Stanford White opened this morning with one new juror sworn as the result of yesterday's work. Twice the jury box was filled yesterday and twice it was partially emptied again, and the attorneys faced the threat of a court session on Saturday unless they completed the jury before 10 o'clock tonight. It is not usual to hold court sessions on Saturday, and the attorneys on both sides had counted on having time Saturday to arrange for their testimony, as there will be no time after the jury is completed.

Jurors Already Sworn Following are the jurors already sworn: Charles E. Greenleaf, ship broker, jurorman. Arthur B. Naphtali, baker. George W. Cary, dry goods. George C. Sprague, salesman. John H. Holbert, mineral water. David E. Arrowsmith, manager. William F. Deolittle, auditor's clerk. A full panel of 120 veniremen was called for this morning, and it is hoped, but hardly expected, that the five remaining jurors may be found among those newly summoned.

So far 400 men have been summoned and 210 have been examined, the remaining ninety having been either excused by the court or not found by the officers serving the summonses. Of the 210 examined seven remain in the jury box, nineteen were excused on peremptory challenges by the defense, fourteen on the peremptories of the prosecution and 270 were allowed to go on challenges for cause allowed by the court or by consent of the attorneys.

Took Eight Days Before At the first trial 236 talesmen were examined to secure the twelve jurors, eight days being consumed in the process. There has been little interest during the examinations so far, and the crowd that has been noticeably smaller than during the first trial.

Littleton, Thaw's chief counsel, has made it plain during all the time he has been examining prospective jurors that the defense will be based entirely on a plea of insanity at the time of the shooting, and it is not likely that there will be any such plea of justification as was made by Dennis in his summing up at the first trial.

Terrorists Kill, Then Rob Train Washington, Jan. 11.—Terrorists attacked the passenger station at Spokane, on the Great Northern, a bomb was thrown at the car, killing two and wounding several soldiers and railroad employes. After looting the safe the terrorists escaped with a large amount of money.

Police Find a Female Fagin in New York New York, Jan. 11.—The moral condition of the public school over the University settlement, which has been a subject of much concern to teachers and the board of education for some time, resulted in the arrest of a woman, two men and a boy.

The detectives arrested Martin and Fanny Leoff and Jacob Somers, according to the detectives, Leoff would become acquainted with the boys and then introduce them to his wife, Fanny, who says she is 18 years old. The boys were taught to pick pockets, according to the police, and were introduced to other forms of crime by the woman.

Dies at His Post in Railroad Signal Tower Philadelphia, Jan. 11.—Heart disease killed Joseph Bernard, 62 years old, operator in the Reading Railroad signal tower at Ninth and Diamond streets. Matthew Hallahan, who came to relieve the old man, found him lifeless at his post.

Bernard seemed in good health during the day. He had nearly completed his shift in the signal tower when his death occurred.

Militarism Planned at Washington Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—The joint resolution extending to Jan. 21, 1911, the time allowed militia companies of the various states to conform their organization to that prescribed for the regular army, was passed by the House yesterday and now goes to the president for his signature.

GERMAN PRINCES ARE MADE TO LEARN TRADE

Berlin, Jan. 11.—The three sons of Prince Friedrich Leopold, of Prussia, have been sent to Gross-Lichterfeld to learn trades. It is the custom of the ancient Hohenzollern house to have all the boys learn trades. This custom is said to have come down from the founder of the house, who often said that a king or prince was likely to be exiled at any time, in which event the ordinary prince must either beg, steal or starve.

As neither of these is desirable, the best thing for a prince is to know a trade by which he can earn bread honestly. In accordance with this custom, Prince Leopold sent his boys to learn trades. The 15-year-old Prince Friedrich Karl is learning to be a locksmith under the best locksmiths in that locality, who have instruction to treat him as they would any other apprentice.

The second son, Prince Friedrich Sigismund, 17 years old, is the understudy of a carpenter. The third brother, Prince Heinrich Friedrich, is learning to be a shoemaker.

The Garrick meeting tomorrow morning marks a crisis in the development of Socialism in Chicago. It is hoped that all Socialists really interested in the success of our cause will be present. Beginning at 11 o'clock, the lecturer will present a matter of vital importance for the decision of the audience. On that decision hangs much of the future success of the Socialist party, not only in Chicago but throughout the country.

After this great question is disposed of Lewis will lecture on "The Socialist Theory of the Social Revolution." As a result of many requests he will close his lecture by reading W. J. Dawson's revolutionary poem, "The Song of the Peoples." Miss Alfonsi will play at 10:45.

Washington, W. C., Jan. 11.—President Roosevelt is preparing a special message to congress in which he will advise changes in the Dingley tariff law which will be in accordance with the promise made to Germany in an agreement signed last May.

Various modifications of the administrative features of the law, particularly in regard to undervaluation, will be recommended. At the present time any article undervalued 50 per cent is subjected to forfeiture of the goods. It is considered doubtful, however, if these recommendations will be adopted. Nor is it likely that the committee will attempt to have enacted more stringent regulations respecting the enforcement of the Dingley law.

Among the women who have offered their brains is Miss Louise Randolph of New York. Miss Randolph is said to possess an excellent memory, and a study of her brain should be interesting.

Starving Man Is Left On The Street Boston, Jan. 11.—So weak from hunger that he could not help himself, William Copp, 54 years old, was brought to this city from Camden and abandoned at Delaware avenue and market street.

Reserve Policeman Samuel Little found the unfortunate man sitting on the pavement. Inquiry made in the neighborhood elicited information to the effect that a man had been seen to wheel Copp in a rolling chair from ferry boat about an hour before he was found.

Copp could not walk unassisted and was carried to a patrol wagon, which took him to the city hall. He was examined by Dr. John Wansmaker III, who said that Copp's condition was due to lack of nourishment. Copp was sent to the Philadelphia hospital.

Whisky and Milk, Fatal Family Row Des Moines, Iowa, Jan. 11.—Whisky and milk formed the basis for a family row, in which five members of the family of Alvin Schaeffer were wounded, two perhaps fatally.

LOCKS UP HIS CHILD TO DIE

Philadelphia, Jan. 11.—Blind, deaf, mute and half-witted, 9-year-old Mary Hirschbuehl was locked in a room in an abandoned house by her father to die of starvation, thirst, cold and fright. She was rescued after four days' imprisonment, emaciated, unconscious, and almost dead.

This is the terrible charge made against John Hirschbuehl, the father, of 2807 North Fairchild street, by the Pennsylvania Society for the Protection of Children from Cruelty. When Magistrate Wrigley heard the story of the society's agent, he held Hirschbuehl in $600 bail, and directed that his four other motherless children be given into the care of their mother's sister. The rescued child was sent to the Philadelphia hospital.

It was a story that caused agents of the society, accustomed as they are to horrifying sights and heartless indignity and to cause tears to spring to their eyes. Particularly pathetic was the sight of the wasted body of the child, of the bluish pallor of her drawn, cold face and the tangle of neglected hair that lay across the agent's arm as the little head swung lifelessly when they placed her in the ambulance.

Locked in Room To Die The story told in the magistrate's court was convincingly direct. Hirschbuehl's wife was buried recently. On that day he gathered his little household furniture, assembled the four normal children, locked the door on the unfortunate Mary and left her there without any sign that he and the others had gone.

It was hours before she realized she was alone. There was no fire in the house. She was clad as she had been when the house was warm. Neighbors heard her moaning that night. Hunger and fear later scattered in a measure the cloud that has overhung her reason, and she screamed the alternately high and shrill cry of the deaf mute. She feared the approach of death. She grew weaker, the screams growing fainter and fainter. For some unaccountable reason, the neighbors did not go to her assistance.

It was only on the morning of the fourth day that the society was notified. When an agent found her, the child was rigid with cold and fear. It was a long time before she was restored to anything resembling life. Her condition is still grave.

Tobacco Users Roundly Scored by Preacher Warsaw, Ind., Jan. 11.—The use of cigars, the cigarette and the pipe is a sin, declared Presiding Elder Bennette of the Goshen district of the Northern Indiana Methodist conference during the course of a sermon here. He held smokers up to scorn, saying that they are "shriveling up their bodies and stunting their minds with nicotine for the same reason that the Chinese and representatives of a few other nationalities are doing with opium."

He let out a him that when the liquor business is obliterated there will be a society organized to rid the country of tobacco in its various forms.

Secretary Taft Pays $1,000 for Giant Horse Bloomington, Ill., Jan. 11.—A. T. Ewing, of McDonough county, has sold his black saddle horse to a Chicago horse buying firm which has been engaged in the search for a horse for Secretary of War William Taft. The firm has been advertising for a horse large enough to carry a man weighing 300 pounds. The animal was purchased a year ago in Missouri by Ewing. It is six years of age, weighs 1,240 pounds, stands 16 hands high, and is sound in every way. The horse cost Secretary Taft $1,000.

Seek to Oust Teacher Because He is Socialist (Special to the Daily Socialist.) Dallas, Tex., Jan. 11.—A fight is going on in Dallas which shames even some of the staunch supporters of capitalism and injustice. An attempt is being made to oust a teacher from the city schools, because he is a Socialist and a friend of union labor.

In the face of bitter opposition, the school board appointed George Clifton Edwards, former editor of the Laborer, to fill a vacancy in the Oak Cliff high school. Since the appointment mass meetings and protest petitions have been circulated. Judge M. L. Morris is leading the fight against Edwards.

Politics Is Cause The board investigated Edwards' ability and fitness and utterly ignored the request to disqualify him on account of his political ideas, which were openly declared by those making the fight to be the cause of their animosity. Judge Rufus C. Porter, former mayor of Oak Cliff, was present at the first meeting and opposed the petition, stating that as a matter of justice and fairness he felt that Edwards should not be recalled until he had been guilty of reprehensible conduct.

The members of the board declared that Edwards was the best qualified available man for the place, and as he had resigned the editorship of the Laborer and agreed to drop all political matters during the time he was in the service of the school board, he would be retained. Calls Mass Meeting There is strong opposition to him in the Ninth ward, where he teaches. Geo. W. Owens has taken his son from the school, and it is understood several others have, or will, do likewise with their children. Owens circulated a petition calling a mass meeting to be held in Oak Cliff to take some steps in the premises. Dog-eared printed as follows were distributed: "To the patrons and citizens who live in the Ninth ward opposed to a school board in favor of a Socialist teacher in the city school. You are hereby called to meet at the Auditorium of the Texas Baptist university in Oak Cliff tonight at 7:30 o'clock. Organized labor of Dallas is inter-

LOVE'S COMING-OF-AGE, by Edward Carpenter, deals with that delicate subject, the sex question, and radically, too, yet with such reserve and good taste that even Anthony Comstock has never questioned our right to send the book through the mails. Carpenter, as we have said before in other words, is a man of the highest caliber; he is a man of science and poet in one; otherwise he could not have written so clearly nor so sympathetically. Our sex ethics are already being profusely profaned by the modern economic conditions, but those who are alarmed over this may be cheered by Carpenter's healthy optimism. Cloth, $1.00.

Socialist News
 The liquor question was discussed at the last meeting of the Milwaukee city council. The Social Democrats' resolutions introduced the following resolutions:

Whereas, Milwaukee is known for the orderly character of its population, statistics showing that the number of arrests for crimes and misdemeanors of all descriptions are very much smaller in Milwaukee than in any other large city in the United States, and

Whereas, Especially the masses of the people and our working class are famous all over the United States for their intelligence, enlightenment and orderly habits, although their personal liberty is less restricted here than in any other city, and

Whereas, Any existing abuses and excesses could easily be corrected and avoided under the present laws and ordinances if we had a decent mayor and an efficient chief of police. Therefore be it

Resolved, That there seems to be no special reason for general demand for any further restriction of personal liberty in this city, and consequently the common council ought not to legislate any further laws which would curtail the liberty of the people, and be it further

Resolved, That before any further measures in that direction are enacted in every county, the Social Democrats of Milwaukee shall be given a referendum of the voters of Milwaukee at the next municipal election; shall the common council enact any further restrictions on the beer and liquor trade of the city of Milwaukee or not? Yes or no.

This session of the council was an animated meeting. The Social Democrats expressed the Socialist viewpoint on many of the questions which came before the aldermen, and the meeting lasted from 3 to 12 p. m. They took the Socialist stand on Chinese cheap labor, the race question and parks, which Alderman Seidel (Social-Democratic) demanded were the duty of the city and should be within reach of all the working people and their children. Something more vital was needed than mere automobile ways for the rich only.

The co-operative store of Racine, which has been in existence a year and a half, reports good success. During 1907 it had a volume of business amounting to $25,000 and a profit of 20 per cent, divided in the usual manner. This is good for a beginning.

In England the Socialists cast 100,000 votes and have thirty-one members of the house of commons. They had 10,000 votes in the county of York, and won two members of the national council. In Belgium their 202,000 ballots give them thirty representatives in the lower house. Their strength of 350,000 in France yields them the seats of fifty deputies. Eighty-seven Socialists sit in the Austrian reichsrath as representatives of 780,000. There are 301,000 Socialist voters in Italy, with twenty-five seats in the chamber. The greatest Socialist army is in Germany, where it numbered 2,000,000 in the election of 1903, giving the party forty-three members of the reichstag. Even in Norway, where it had only 25,000 voters, the Socialists hold ten seats in the storting.

WHERE TO GO
 The Co-operative Brotherhood and University of Humanity begins a series of lectures every Saturday night in regularity every Saturday night in Suite 20-21, 52 La Salle street. All who are interested in the discussion of this problem and an immediate practical effort to solve it here and now are invited to attend.
 The Society of Anthropology, 77 Randolph street, Lucy R. Parsons will speak Sunday, at 2 p. m. sharp, on "Liberty and Authority."

ANGRY STRIKERS BURN A CAR
 Philadelphia, N. J., Jan. 10.—The striking employes of the Standard Silk mill burned a street car here which was carrying a lot of non-union men to the mill. If another outbreak occurs the governor will be asked for military protection. It is said.
 A large number of non-union men were brought in from Philadelphia and Paterson, N. J., in trolley cars and were attacked by a crowd of strike sympathizers.

FULL COLLEGE COURSE NOW GIVEN BY MAIL
 College education by the mail instruction plan just being put into execution in New York is designed to provide for those who are unable to attend college some of the best instruction given the academic departments of colleges and universities. Behind the movement are some of the best known educators of this country. The School of Liberal Arts and Sciences for Nonresidents has opened its headquarters in the Presbyterian building, 154-155th avenue, New York. Students about New York are provided for by the school's headquarters. Professors prepare the instruction, and the student mails his answers covering the questions sent to him in the course he is taking. The professor writes correct papers and send them back.

News for Unionists
 The Wisconsin State Federation of Labor has offered a bill to the state legislature to provide for an accident insurance fund for employes named in its favor. It is proposed to raise this fund by taxation.

THE HUSTLERS' COLUMN
 A slow, steady increase shows today. If properly accentuated it will yet carry the Daily past the rocks. The situation calls for all the hustling societies and loyalty in the make-up of each individual reader. Only the lethargy of the workers themselves can now defeat the Chicago Daily Socialist.
 Upon this negligence the forces of capitalism are staking their hopes. And rest assured that the supporters of the profit system are watching the work of the Hustlers. In the private offices of corporation heads, on the desks of bank presidents, and in the sanctums of corporation controlled editors the Daily Socialist is read with an interest approaching, if not exceeding, that of the most ardent advocate of the co-operative commonwealth. The supporters of the profit system know that if the working class can establish a daily paper and maintain it through time of financial crisis the hour is near when that working class will be a potent factor at the polls. There are no genuine skeptics among the intelligent idlers. They know. The unawakened workers must know. The Chicago Daily Socialist, through the instrumentality of the Hustlers, must be one of the factors in their awakening. This will not be possible if there is the slightest relaxation in the present support and if others do not throw at least a portion of their energies into the breach. The Chicago Socialists have made possible the immediate continuance of the paper. Now if the thousands of readers will do their share in securing new subscriptions, circulating sustainers' lists and so far as possible make loans to the paper even in small amounts, the long fight against overwhelming odds will end victoriously for the working class. We shall have issued the first of a series of permanent injunctions against the further inroads of capitalism.

Three thousand new subscribers in Chicago. The campaign is already on, but will be formally launched next Monday night in the Daily Socialist office. Practical all advertising is dependent upon city circulation. With the addition of new names in the city the paper will have reached a point where the advertiser will be anxious to gain access to its columns. In order to quickly add the required number the following plan has been adopted.

Something is going to be some scalp-raising down in Hallettsville, Tex. C. H. Melzer leads up with $5 worth of sub cards. This is a warning to the natives.

A quarter on the sustainers' fund from C. J. Read, San Francisco, Cal.

Hello, Lang! Here's Lee M. Lang of Muscatine, Iowa, looking up for another copy of the Daily Socialist. Fine business if the Hustlers will keep it up. Are they going to keep it up? Sure!

Don't forget those five new names for sample copies you are to send in with your letters. There's more than one way of converting a sinner, and that's one of them.

Now, what do you know about this? Here are three new ones from Frank M. Grow, Clinton, Iowa.

If you want to make a poor guess just guess that P. Rudolph, Seattle, Wash., isn't alive. Here are two from him, and one is from a man from whose eyes "the scales are about to fall."

And here's George P. Schardt, Hot Springs, Ark., with two under his arm. Carried them easily, too.

Ever hear the story—listen to this: A. M. Brooks, Fargo, N. D., hopes to bill clean to Chicago as a contribution to the Daily. In addition, he includes a subscription for a prominent Republican politician and candidate for the United States senate. This man says he's not a Socialist, but he wants to keep posted on what the enemy's doing. That's a good point for the Hustlers. If put to them in that way lots of old-party politicians will subscribe.

George B. Staring, New York city, gets a renewal and a new one to accompany his own renewal. That's pretty fine, isn't it?

Fred Cunningham, Wilburton, Okla., punches the clock twice for the good of the cause.

So does J. E. Williams, Arcadia, Kan. He signs: "Yours for the revolution." There are two—the social revolution and the progress of the hand on that clock.

The only way they can stop the workers is to stop the whole works. Here is a $25 loan from N. J. Modler, Gloucester, Ill. He says he's loaned $25 to his fine company you Hustlers are keeping:

"Gloucester, Ill., Jan. 7, '08.
 "Workers' Publishing Society, 180-182 Washington street, Chicago.
 "Dear Comrade: Enclosed you will find check for $25, my last night pledge—loan for the Chicago Daily Socialist. As I am out of work, and have been for the last month, and likely will be for the next two or three months, I will send this money in a month or two, if I do not need it I shall not trouble you about it. Yours for Socialism."
 "N. J. MODLER."

Two dollars' worth of sub cards were wrapped in tissue paper and tied with a bow-knot (not) for G. Lawrence, Herron, Ill. He's going to wake them up in Herron.

Thomas A. Walsh (not John B.) Chicago, chases a couple of iron dollars out to work for Socialism. The worst of it is the dollars were made under a Republican administration. They go on the sustainers' list.

Just to get back D. McDonald, Okechobee, Ill. did the same thing. No, he didn't; he took cards—$2 worth of them.

Harry Bray, Washington, Ind., loads up with $5 worth of sub cards and sends out after the unawakened. Watch for a showing from Washington.

Three healthy new ones from J. E. Joslyn, Bow, Wash.

A dollar on the sustainers' fund from K. Anderson, Chicago.

Now, just read the above over again and substitute the name of N. Gerdt-wald for S. Anderson.

A renewal and a new one for a year each come from P. P. Southstone, Decher, Tex. Not content with that he says he'll give some more loans in a few days.

Hustlers! The capitalist orchestra is all tuned up to play the requiem of your paper, but if others will do as well as to-day's list and those who flinched to-day will not let up, we'll turn that orchestra into a little German band and make them work for a living. Your paper needs every ounce of energy you can spare. You and your paper are in the biggest fight the world has ever seen. Somebody is going to get licked, and with a proper showing on the part of the Hustlers it won't be you and the Daily.

DUPIED UNRAVELS A QUEER MATHEMATICAL TANGLE
 Waterloo, Ja., Jan. 10.—A most peculiar marriage took place here when a husband and wife attached the wedding of their son and the other's daughter, both under age. The contracting parties were Arthur (married), aged 19, and Nellie Decker, aged 16. The groom is a student at the high school, the bride a daughter of Mrs. Goetzl No. 2. In securing a license the husband and wife were required to give consent to both parties for the marriage, the only instance of its kind on record here.

Caesar's Column
 A STORY OF THE FUTURE By IONATIUS DONNELLY
 The "UNCLE TOM'S CABIN" OF THE NEW REVOLUTION
 Large 12 mm., 367 Pages, Paper. With Striking Cover Design
 BY MAIL, POSTPAID, 30 CENTS

This wonderful book was first issued in June, 1890. Ogle Road summed up its charm in these words: "It will thrill a careless reader of novels, or profoundly impress a statesman. It is gentle as a child and yet it is rugged as a giant."

The book passed through twelve editions in six months. "Caesar's Column" has for its text the dangerous tendencies of our age and gives a picture of what the world will be a hundred years from now if the spirit of invention and progress remains the same and the moral spirit of society moves along in its present channels. ORDER FROM CHICAGO DAILY SOCIALIST
 180-182 WASHINGTON STREET, CHICAGO, ILL.

Checking the Crime Wave

One judge has just distinguished himself by giving a life sentence for simple assault and robbery, and he has been warmly endorsed by the police department for having taken steps to stop the "epidemic of crime."

The Chicago Daily News has another cure-all that it is loudly touting. It is simplicity itself. Stop selling deadly weapons to criminals. If they do not have a weapon they cannot commit crime.

Not one of all the moralists who have ever discussed the "crime wave" now sweeping over Chicago have raised the question of why it came at this particular time, of why it did not come last July, or any other question that would show a reasonable amount of intelligence.

This crime wave came on because men are starving, and have no opportunity to use their strength in PRODUCING wealth. Therefore they are TAKING it where they can.

Such a crime wave always comes when large bodies of the population get hungry. If they did not come it would indicate that the human race had ceased to fight for existence, and when that time comes the race will cease to exist.

The most brutal punishments will have no effect in checking crime brought on by such causes. Men have been drawn and quartered, boiled in oil, tortured in every conceivable manner in the hope of crushing the instinct for life that expresses itself in what we call crime.

When feudalism was giving way to capitalism in England, and the workers were being driven out of their little holdings to starve upon the streets, there was a "crime wave." To check it nearly every possible infraction of law was punished with death.

But while the heads of robbers were nailed thick along the highways, fat merchants still were plundered beneath the grinning skulls. To stop crime the cause must be stopped. Men must be given an opportunity to feed and clothe and house themselves and care for their children through the healthful, productive use of their strength.

When this is done and when a generation has had time to arise that did not draw its ideas from the "windling, thieving, exploiting basis of capitalism there will be no more crime waves.

The Selfish Socialist

Notwithstanding all the things that have been said against Socialism there are still a few things which may be said in its favor, or rather in favor of those who preach it.

No man can go into the haunts of squalor which are a disgrace to the big cities of this civilized age and not feel a fierce desire to do something to help the poor creatures who are born, live, suffer and die without either the comforts of life or even the necessities.

But this is a task that no man can accomplish were he as rich as all the millionaires combined. The man who has seen the slums naturally thinks of the problem and strives to evolve some method by which the wretchedness of a large percentage of the human race may be alleviated.

There are several theories as to the best means of bringing this about. Socialism is one of them.

The Socialist looks abroad and sees thousands of men risking their lives digging coal in darkness, mud, foul air and all sorts of discomforts. Then he looks again and sees that a large percentage of the profits goes into the pocket of a man who digs no coal.

The government has a big enough task in governing the people without undertaking to manage every industry in the republic.

Now this may seem to be true and yet these selfish Socialists, the capitalists, have succeeded in doing for themselves the very thing they claim the government could not do for the nation.

They have concentrated all the great industries in the hands of perhaps a score of men. Sugar belongs to one, coal to another, meat to another, metal to another and so on. The resources of the nation that are capable of exhaustion these people are exhausting just as fast as they can.

These are the true Socialists. They are proving the very things that they deny. They are showing to the world that the whole business of a great nation can be carried on by a score of groups of millionaires.

Now this is not any Socialist paper. It is from the Peoria (Ill.) Herald-Transcript, and is only one of several of a similar character that are making the rounds of the capitalist press.

"Be good, or you will be kicked off the earth." It is the same warning voiced in Taft's recent speech and Roosevelt's last message. Unfortunately the capitalists cannot "be good." For any individual to attempt it is to be devoured by his more voracious fellows.

The Wanderer and His Pupil

LEWIS G. DE HART.

The street lamps were just sparkling into life as Wandy the Wanderer and Tommie, his pupil, sat at a little round table in the rear part of a busy saloon.

read both parts of the paper. Then Wandy rose with a yawn. "I'm off for bed," he said. "Better put your money under the pillow; you'll be sleeping on it."

Hot Shot

Non-in-Law Aldrich has brought in a currency bill to make future panics impossible and give us an elastic currency. Any old kind of bonds that our friends in the treasury accept will be used to issue money in instead of government bonds.

HOW TO MAKE ELASTIC CURRENCY. If those solons and wise guys down in Washington want to know how to make the most elastic currency I will tell them. Make it of rubber.

CONUNDRUM. If it takes Teddy two terms to just start "his policies," how many years will it take his man Friday to finish them? Answer—As many times as something is contained in the far-off and distant future.

NO MOLLYCODDLE. There is no mollycoddle about our big Injun's cartoons. But just look at those of the other daily papers and compare them. Savage's pictures all mean something vital, but the others are all mush and only for the little children.

WISHING. Two little maids were chatting beneath a shady tree. There fell a sudden silence, and I raised my head to see.

Care of the Child. Milk ought to be delivered to the consumer in sealed bottles packed in ice or cold water. After this has been done the responsibility of the dealer ceases.

For Home Dressmakers. The odor of fresh paint. It can easily be removed by placing in the room a pail of water into which several onions have been sliced. One onion will absorb the odor.

"The great thing, Tommie, in dining at well placed like this is to keep up your nerve, not like you had a hundred in your pocket, spend your nickel like a king. When you come in, go to the lunch counter and make yourself a sandwich; then buy your beer and get a bowl of soup, eat lots of bread; then get another sandwich as you go out. You get a good meal and the owner feels the bill."

"But he doesn't make anything on us at that rate." "Of course not, but 'tisn't everyone else like that. Most of 'em just take a peck or a herring, and lots of 'em nothing. But don't let that worry you. I know a dozen places like this, and I go the rounds so they won't get too wise on me. Of course they know they lose on us, but most of 'em have been on their uppers, and as long as you keep neat and don't loaf too much they won't open their heads. But now let's go to my room and read the evening paper before we turn in."

"No you take the paper?" queried Tommie. "My one extravagance," sighed Wandy; "but it doesn't cost nothing. I helped a carrier out of a fight once, and he always throws me an extra now. But let's go."

"They left the saloon, not forgetting to take another sandwich on their way out, and made their way to the east for several blocks, on a dark street. Alone and well dressed, Tommie would have been afraid; but clad in his workman's suit, none paid any attention to him."

At last Wandy turned abruptly and darted up a dark flight of stairs, Tommie following; then a landing and another flight, and down a hall lighted by a single oil lamp. He thrust a key in a lock and flung open the door, lighted a match and from it a lamp on a dresser. The light flared up.

"My apartments," said the Wanderer, with a bow. Carpet on the floor; bed, dresser, washstand, a few pictures and chairs, also a table.

"Tommie looked about him with amaze. "Rather good for a tramp, eh, Tommie?"

"Well I guess yes. I don't see how you can afford it on your income. Steam heat, too. Must cost you about five a week, don't it?"

"Guess again. I pay a dollar a week. You see, this building's condemned—don't get scared; she'll stand up tonight; but the owner's got a pull and won't let them pull it. See the point? So he rents it out cheap—gets what he

Reply to the Injunction

The injunction of the Buck Stove & Range Company against the American Federation of Labor forbidding the publication of the "unfair list" has just been made permanent.

This means that from now on the organs of the American Federation of Labor are prohibited from publishing the list of those firms who are fighting organized labor.

Here is the reply of the Chicago Daily Socialist to this final decision of the highest court. If this be contempt make the most of it. No Socialist should patronize any of the names on the following list:

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Edited by Marie Jayne

Care of the Child

Now that the season of coughs and colds is with us, it is hard to have a reliable remedy on hand. For this purpose nothing can exceed equal quantities each of camphorated oil and menthol crystals. Pour the crystals into the oil and heat together until melted. Shake the bottle before using, wherever the child develops a cold, rub the back and chest with the mixture.

For the first twenty-four hours of an infant's life very little feeding is necessary, once in five hours being sufficient. If possible, the mother should nurse the child herself, but if for any reason this is not advisable a little boiled water, slightly sweetened, or very thin dex-trinized gruel may be given. After the first thirty-six hours cow's milk, very much diluted, will be suitable; or else top milk.

For Home Dressmakers

2192 CHILD'S DRESS. Paris Pattern No. 2192. All Sizes Allowed. This dainty little frock is adaptable for both every-day and party wear, as it may be made with high or low neck, fulllength or short sleeves, and worn with or without the bertha. It made up for 18 inch waist it should be worn over a slip of colored silk or thin flannel. The bertha bertha is of half Irish lace, trimmed with a narrow band. Neck with ribbon or ribbon bow, and a ribbon sash. Collar with ribbon bow, and a ribbon sash. Collar with ribbon bow, and a ribbon sash.

Socialist Home Book

HOT-WATER BAGS. Old hot-water bags should not be thrown away; they make excellent linings for sponge cases, bath and tooth-brush bags if covered with bright-colored material. Cut round mats from the sides to give under flower pots; they will prevent any moisture from injuring a polished surface.

WET UMBRELLAS. Wet umbrellas should be turned upside down, standing on their handles, to dry. The water will then run out instead of collecting at the junction of the ribs, which rusts a metal and splits the silk.

NEVER FORGET THE BIRDS. Animals and birds that come about a house appreciate the opportunity of having cups or vessels filled with clean water for them to drink, and this should be done daily. I know a man who had iron cups put on all of his fence-posts and a fountain on his side lawn for no other reason than that the birds might always have clear water for bathing and drinking.

THE READY MENDER. A can of plaster of Paris should always be kept handy for mending. A file in the bathroom gets loose, or an umbrella handle slips off. Put a tablespoonful of the plaster in a saucer, add enough water to make a thick mass, fill the hole with the detached part, slip it back, and in a few moments it will be absolutely firm.

THE ODOR OF FRESH PAINT. Many persons are easily bothered by the odor of fresh paint. It can easily be removed by placing in the room a pail of water into which several onions have been sliced. One onion will absorb the odor.

HOW TO TEST EGGS. To test eggs put them, one at a time, into a basin of cold water. If they remain at the bottom they are all right. If they float they are of doubtful freshness and if they float at the top they are certainly bad.

Legal Advice

I would like to know if a person deserting from the French army twenty years ago and who is now an American citizen could be molested by the French government if he returned.

NOTE—We must insist that persons making questions refrain from writing on soft paper and with a hard lead pencil, as we are not supplied with magnifying glasses.

A GOOD STARE. Isaacstein—I hear that your son is going into business for himself.

COULD BE KEPT IN THE HOUSE. I am the father of a boy who, after the death of my wife, I gave or left with my mother-in-law seven years ago. At that time I was unable to support him. The child was not adopted, I should like possession of the child. What should I do?

THE TWISTINGS OF SOCIALISTS

I see it Hanrahan: "Av all the tom foolery I ever had, here plan to rattle the nation is the biggest foolness av all, ye ouadhun! Don't ye know that even if Socialism should ever prevail—which God forbid!—there'd be no equality among men? Ye know dang well there's always felles who can twist others around their little fingers; that some men will rise to the top, while others will sink below the level. The felles would get all the soft jobs, would be presidents, governors an' such like; would hold all the aisy snaps—an' how could Socialism prevail if? An' this I gives him the ha-ha!"

P. B. P. H. stands for Poor Bryan! Poorer Bryan! Poorer Bryan! It was Poor Bryan when he made that unfortunate speech at Chicago, which ruthlessly thrust him into the candidate class and has disturbed his sleep ever since.
