JANE ADDAMS SCORES POLICE

Hull House Leader Attacks Them in Address at Philadelphia

(Special to the Daily Socialist.) Philadelphia, March 18.—Asserting that the police interference with parades of the unemployed in Chicago and here is brutal and utterly unwarranted, Jane Addams, head of Hull House, Chicago, declared that intelligent Europeans cannot understand the American attitude which allows the police to interfere with the right of free assemblage. This right, she said, is guaranteed under one of the original amendments to the constitution, and is regarded as one of the fundamental rights of democracy. Miss Addams spoke before the Ethical Society on "The Problem of the Unemployed."

Caused by Police.

"If you investigate the so-called riots among the unemployed," said Miss Addams, "you will find that they are usually—by far the most invariable—caused by police interference. The men out of work want to get out in the streets and parade. But what they want is to get work, not to make a disturbance."

"Do you know," she continued, "that this is so far as I have been able to discover, the only country in the world where the unemployed are not allowed to parade and hold meetings? In Germany and England and the other countries of Europe demonstrations on the part of men out of work are accepted as a matter of course, and do no harm whatsoever."

"The Germans cannot understand why in America unemployed laborers are 'degraded' with what they want to march through the streets. Frankly, I cannot understand it myself. From what I have heard of the riot in Philadelphia a few weeks ago, it would seem very obvious to me that this was not a riot at all, but simply a matter of police interference with a harmless enough crowd who, naturally, resented being interfered with."

Police Create Riots.

"And so it usually is—it isn't the unemployed who create the disturbances; it is the officers of the city police."

"We are ready enough to exploit the muscles of our immigrants. A great deal of our enormous American industrial activity is due to the exploitation of the soil by the utilization of vast numbers of unskilled laborers, most of them foreign-born. And we are not particularly merciful about it. I have heard it said in Chicago that 400 men lose their lives each year in the Wyoming Valley in Pennsylvania."

"The social value of the immigrant is threefold—his value in art, in industry, and in civic life. To obtain the good that he has to give us we should study him as he is—not from the university point of view, but humanly, with the interest of a friendly acquaintance."

YOUNG GIRL WITH SHOTGUN FIRES UPON A BURGLAR

Pottstown, Pa., March 19.—A thirteen-year-old girl, named Alma, who had broken into the Monday residence at Pine, near here.

The girl's father, Morris Mowday, a farmer, was not at home, and the thief evidently knew it. The only other persons in the house were the little girl's mother and her old aunt.

When the burglar broke a shutter and forced his way into the house the older folks screamed and the aunt fainting. Not so Alma. She grabbed a shotgun with which she had bagged nine rabbits during one hunt last autumn, and fired twice at the burglar.

He turned quickly toward the open window and disappeared. Mark of blood were afterward found on the window sill.

The girl pursued the fellow for some distance in the dark, firing as she ran.

(Special to the Daily Socialist.) Rochester, N. Y., March 19.—"Good Year; Bad Times; Crisis; No Work; Starvation" was the heading of a circular distributed announcing a Socialist meeting here.

Captain Kluberantz of the Joseph avenue police station thought the bills were "incendiary" and ordered the meeting stopped.

"It don't look good to me; maybe anarchists are holding meetings," said the noble captain of police. Consequently he detailed a squad of officers to watch the hall and prevent the meeting.

It is said that Kluberantz was an old-time printer and that he did not object to the wording of the circular, as he did the typographical arrangement.

Y. P. S. L. HAS WORLD GROWTH

A report has been received by the Daily Socialist from the international secretary of Socialist Young People's League, at Vienna, as follows:

"Belgium—At the end of January appeared the first number of the new Flemish monthly, 'The Young Socialist.'"

"Holland—The negotiations between the executive of the Union of Young Workers 'Saaijer' (the lower) and the executive of the Social Democratic labor party have at last led to a result. A junction of the two bodies will be effected by the entry of delegates of the local party organization in the committee of all local unions of the 'Saaijer'; the executive of the party will also be represented by one of its members on the executive of the 'Saaijer' union. The party executive, however, requests that the age limit for membership of the 'Saaijer' be fixed at 20 years. As our comrades of the 'Saaijer' consider that the carrying out of this rule would rob their organization of the best of their leading elements, the deciding of the point will be left to the next general meeting of the union."

"International—In completion of the annual report of the secretary, sent last month, we have to remark that the union of the Swiss Young People's Association has now paid its contributions to the secretary. The entrance of the Australian Young People's Association, the Union of Socialist Sunday Schools of Great Britain and the F. N. G. S. of Italy into the international union has taken place. The Union of British Socialist Sunday Schools represents 3,000 members and the Italian F. N. G. S. 3,508 members."

LAST OF WASHINGTON ELM TREES FALL BENEATH AX

New York, March 19.—No more typewriter girls will write away the summer luncheon hours under the shade of the last of the old "Washington elms" in the churchyard of St. Paul's, for a gang of men cut down the last and most ancient of the trees, to which, so the story goes, George Washington used to tie his horse when he was president and the national capital was New York city.

Originally there were six of these "Washington" elms. When the last of them succumbed to the blows of the ax there were many persons who took away chips and branches for souvenirs.

TURNS DEFEAT INTO VICTORY

Haywood Absent, Substitute Wins Over an Audience of 4,000

(Special to the Daily Socialist.) Pittsburgh, Pa., March 19.—Congratulations are coming thick and fast to those who managed the mass meeting here at which 4,000 people assembled to hear William D. Haywood speak. J. W. Slayton, who took Haywood's place, it is considered, performed a miracle.

This was one of the dates that Haywood found it necessary to cancel on account of the death of his mother, and the Socialist leaders of Pittsburgh were in a sorry plight when an eager, expectant crowd of 4,000 filled the hall.

Local Elects Speaker.

The local had elected Slayton to make the address. An explanation was made by Chairman Gregerson, but the disappointment was so apparent that it was felt it would take the strongest personalities and the best of speakers to avert a disaster.

Slayton made good, and more than made good. For the first fifteen minutes the audience was against him then there came a change. Strict attention was paid to every word.

At times he would convulse them with laughter, then in a moment drive home a point that would bring out applause. He paid his respects to the platform of "Individualism vs. Socialism," Mayor Busse and Post's "They Are After You" fulmination. This, together with his wit, eloquence, sarcasm, stirring and earnest, drew from the audience almost to forget its disappointment.

Search for "Anarchists."

The Pittsburgh papers did not seem to know that there were 4,000 cheering men and women present at the meeting. There were detectives and a squad of police on hand to arrest "anarchists," but from the order maintained the plain clothes men and police were about the only "anarchists" present.

SHED BLOOD FOR PRIVATE PROFIT

walk. Policeman Sullivan, exulting in this "equal" combat, was heard to exclaim:

"The only way to do is to lay these boys out stiff."

Crosier struck Frank Mulholland, a 15-year-old boy, with his club, laying his head open. Inspector Lavin, who arrived with a patrol load of police, heard of Crosier's action, ordered him to his station and will prefer charges against him.

Mulholland was taken to the Palmer house and four stitches were needed to close up the wound made by Crosier's club. No one of the professional sluggers trained to defend themselves suffered from either Sullivan or Crosier's attentions.

Inspector Gets Busy

On his arrival Inspector Lavin at once saw that the time had passed to let two newspaper circulation departments and a car company settle their private differences by creating a riot in the public streets, so he ordered the police to charge the crowds, which they did, using their clubs with no regard for mercy.

Even the arrival of the police did not stop fully the operations of the slugging board in the employ of the Chicago American and the Daily News. These men were trained for such emergencies and carried on their warfare with its blackjack and gaspique accompaniment for a full half hour after the marked interference of the police.

The sluggers' policy in coercing the car company by delaying traffic and terrorizing passengers, so that the company would listen with a chastened ear to the circulation departments of the American and News, met with signal success. It was after 7 o'clock when the disturbance was quelled. Every car which went south during the rush hours was half empty instead of being overcrowded, as is the custom.

WANTS NEW POLITICAL PARTY FOR RAILWAY MEN

The formation of a new political party with the million and a half railroad employees of the country as a "nucleus"—to combat restrictive railroad legislation both in the national congress and in the state legislatures, was advocated by John H. Clarke, counsel for the Nickel Plate system, at the annual banquet of the American Railway Engineering association last night.

"It is encouraging," said Clarke, "to observe that the officials at Washington at last have come to realize that all acts of railroad advancement must come as the result of consistent evolution and not from revolution either in high or low places. The Sherman anti-trust law prohibits all combinations of capital, but since its passage the era has witnessed greater combinations of capital than ever before. The vast railroads interests have combined, but such combinations have not been in the spirit of defiance to the laws, but in obedience to the commands of the higher law."

SAYS BRITAIN IS INVINCIBLE

London, March 18.—Speaking in the house of lords Lord Trenchard, first lord of the admiralty, said Great Britain's three vessels of the Temeraire type were superior to the Dreadnought type and the three vessels of the St. Vincent type would be an improvement on the Temeraire type. In the spring of 1911, he said, Great Britain would have three squadrons of four ships each of the St. Vincent type.

"No power in the world would be able to assemble such a fleet of first-class battleships, Lord Trenchard declared, and he would almost say that a combination of all the powers of the world would not be able to put an equal squadron on the sea."

ELLIOTT SYSTEM IN HOT WATER

On Complaint of Six Victims Commissioner Cruden Gets Busy

As a result of the various disclosures made by the Daily Socialist in regard to the fake employment agency operated by Eugene M. Elliott, who is at the head of the "Elliott system," Commissioner W. H. Cruden of the Illinois board of labor has filed a complaint against Elliott and his "system" before Judge Lantry of the municipal court.

Eugene Elliott is the head of a $5,000,000 Arizona corporation and president of the "Elliott system." He is at present the defendant in six civil suits by six unemployed men, who, it is alleged, have been swindled by him out of $5 each.

Six Bragg Complaints

The six complaints against Elliott and his schemes are:

- E. A. Rehnke, 385 West street.
- E. W. Wright, 8549 Ward street.
- F. L. Kelly, 8417 Vincennes avenue.
- Edward Meyer, 615 West Adams street.
- E. A. Peck, Jr., 224 Fifty-third street.
- O. E. Overpeck.

The suits of Rehnke and Wright were heard yesterday by Judge Lantry, who postponed a decision until the evidence in the other four cases are heard April 6. The complainants were represented in court by Mr. Stewart.

Upon investigation by officers of the commission of labor it was discovered that the "Arizona corporation" exists wholly in the mind of Elliott and a few other men.

Method of "Exploiting"

The Tribune prints the story of Elliott's trouble. In the same issue appears an advertisement of the Elliott system, from which the following is taken:

"We are not cheap. We charge as much as any other agency and more than many. Our method of exploiting you is new and original and is worth all it costs."

Perhaps Elliott doesn't know the real meaning of the word "exploiting."

500 DRAW LOTS TO GET 15 JOBS

(Special to the Daily Socialist.) Terre Haute, Ind., March 19.—Five hundred men appealing for work drew lots to see which ones of their number would make up the "lucky 15" which were to get a job paying 15 cents an hour. That is the prosperity which has struck this town.

A firm here applied through the want ad columns of the Daily papers for fifteen men. All applicants were instructed to call between 3 and 4 p. m. Men started to come at 6 a. m. and continued to arrive till 6 p. m. About 500 tried for the fifteen jobs. The employer was puzzled, and so decided to make the choice by lot. The 500 names were put in a hat and fifteen drawn.

The rejected 485 went back, having lost the chance to work for 15 cents an hour on rough carpenter work. Men here are glad to get anything and, knowing this, the daily papers tell of the "boom" which has struck Terre Haute.

ROOSEVELT'S NIECE BREAKS HER WEDDING BRETHERAL

New York, March 19.—It is announced that the engagement of Miss Corinne Robinson and Dr. George H. Draper has been broken by mutual consent. The news has caused a sensation, as it was reported recently that the date of the wedding had been set for the early part of June.

Miss Robinson is a niece of President Roosevelt. Her engagement to Dr. Draper was prematurely announced about a year ago, when she was in Rome with her parents. After a prompt denial on this side of the ocean, it was finally acknowledged by Robinson and his wife in Rome.

Dr. Draper is a son of the late Dr. William H. Draper and a grandson of the late Charles A. Dana. He was graduated from Harvard in 1903, and afterward attended the medical school there.

DYNAMITE BLAST SHAKES SUBURB

A mysterious explosion on a construction car that is being used in building the extension of the Northwestern Elevated road startled residents throughout Buena Park at 9 o'clock last night. The employment of non-union workmen by the construction company was suggested by the police as containing the clue to the solution of the matter.

The car on which the explosion occurred was standing on a switch of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, 200 feet north of the Buena Park station of the elevated. Backing up to the elevated on the way, at a long line of apartment buildings. All the rear windows for over 100 feet about the car were blown in. On the west is the wall of Graceland cemetery.

Every family along the block between Buena and Montrose avenue, along Kenmore, ran into the street when the explosion shook the houses. It was first reported that the boiler of the engine which works the hoisting derrick had blown up. When the first persons reached the switch it was seen that the boiler was intact.

Under the circumstances, involving the defendant, no good purpose can be advanced by his execution, and there can be no demand therefor except from those persons who stand charged by his voluntary confession with grave crimes or by the defenders andologists of such person."

Orchard Thanks Court

The finishing act of the drama was then given by Orchard.

With tears streaming from his eyes he thanked the court for the review of the case and for the kindly remarks in regard to him.

ORCHARD WILL ESCAPE NOOSE

Judge Recommends That Governor of Idaho Show Mercy

Caldwell, Idaho, March 19.—Harry Orchard will not die on the scaffold. Judge Wood has sentenced him and fixed the date of execution as May 15, but has recommended that the sentence be commuted to life imprisonment. There is no doubt but what this is the first step to set Orchard free and get him out of the country.

Judge Wood reviewed the case from the time of the killing of Steinberg to the present, including the arrest of Orchard, his confession, the arrest of Charles E. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, William D. Haywood, secretary-treasurer of the federation, and George A. Pettibone, and the plea of guilty entered by Orchard to the charge of murder in the first degree, the punishment for which under the Idaho statutes is death.

Judge Believes Orchard

In regard to the part of Orchard in the trials, Judge Wood said:

"I am more than satisfied that the defendant now at the bar of this court awaiting final sentence has not only acted in good faith in making the disclosures that he did, but that he also testified fully and fairly to the whole truth."

On the question of immunity Judge Wood said:

"Under the circumstances, involving the defendant, no good purpose can be advanced by his execution, and there can be no demand therefor except from those persons who stand charged by his voluntary confession with grave crimes or by the defenders andologists of such person."
