Henchmen "Clean" Streets

The department of street cleaning cleaned up the sum of $347,350 all right, even if it did not clean the streets. The division of the street cleaning graft between the warus showed that the between the warus showed that the henchmen were being taken care of again, the lion's share going to the first ward, where those eminent statesmen. "Hinky Dink" Kenna and "Bath-House" Coughlin manipulate affairs demo-republicratically.

The knifing of Dunne at the last election in these wards has evidently brought it reward in hard cash to the manipulators. More men are being manipulators. More men are being paid to clean the streets—the only strange fact being that the streets are

One curious fact about the street cleaning graft is that the ward which honors one Milton J. Foreman, of lake front grab fame, with its votes, the third ward, is the only one which has not increased the payroll, the astute hose of Chicago being too smooth to have things like plain graff on its face go into the records against him.

Streets in Filthy Condition

The streets of Chicago are today in wome condition than they have been for a decade, but this liftle sub-department is carrying the big saddle of $347,350 of increased expenses on its back. There is no possibility of pleading that there was a heavy winter and a lot of snow to make the big discrepancy, because there was less snow to be cleaned than there has been in years.

crusades against it, notwithstanding the extra money which was being spent for the "boys" who deliver the voies on election day.

Johnny Powers cut into the plum for his followers out in the Nineteenth to the tune of $6,680 increased expense although this by no means represents Johnny's representation in the schedule. Johnny "sends 'em all over" in his elegant phraseology, meaning by that that he forces Busse to give his henchmen jobs in all parts of town.

Can't Trace Beneficiaries

There is absolutely no way of tracing the number of beneficiaries of he $347,350 grab, as the sums are simply the number of beneficiaries of he $437,580 grab, as the sums are simply lumped as street cleaning for the ward mentioned. The money is listed as street cleaning—that is all, and only the manner of its distribution can be ascertained. Who got the money is a matter for more or less shrewd guess work, although it does not take a good guesser to find the answer.

Ex-Alderman Dougherty's ward, that same Dougherty who deserted Dunne and tried to get himself into the Busse machine and did land a good fat job, broke into the till for $19,240 increase. The streets in the Twenty-second, Dougherty's ward, are in a worse condition than those in the First, if that were possible. Where anyone could possibly have spent nearly $20,000 on the streets in this ward in addition to what was spent two years ago is a what was spent two years ago is a mystery.

Of course there were nice fat in-creases for the "respectable wards." the Sixth and Seventh, the first getting $15,000 extra for the street cleaners and the latter getting $14,740 increase. These are the best kept wards in the city, but there is no appreciable difference in their present and former conditions, nor have they increased in size.

TEACHERS WIN IN LEGISLATURE

Score a Complete Victory When Bill Protecting Salaries Passes House

cago Teachers' Federation and those forces which have fought to keep the grip of big business from stiffing the Chicago schools won a complete victory yesterday when the house passed the bill protecting teachers' salaries al-most as it was drafted by the Chicago Teachers' Federation and other organizations of school employes. The bill provides that "repairs" must hence-forth be paid for out of the building

The Sollitt bill presented under the auspices of the Chicago Commercial club was passed also, but it was shorn of the vicious provisions which gave board members and of the tremendous power which it sought to give the su-perintendent of schools. As the latter bill now stands, both the business manager and the superintendent of schools are to be elected by the school board for terms of one year instead of four as not removable except through impeach

Tribune Steal Is Hit

The Sollitt bill was amended in another very important particular. It and especially a 29-year lease without revaluation amounts to a sale. The statute which provides that no school statute which provides that no school property shall be sold without the consent of the council has been now reinforced so as to protect school lands from future leases like that held by the Tribune. The original Sollitt bill legalized 39-year leases without revaluation

The number of school trustees is cut and labor representatives to have the members of the board paid so that workingmen might serve was defeated however. The fifteen members of the board are to serve without pay. Still another blow was struck at the Sollitt bill. Originally it provided that it required a two-thirds vote of the board to override a recommendation of the superintendent of schools on text books or other matters. As the bill now reads a majority is sufficient.

Salaries Now Safeguarded

The teachers' salaries are safeguard-ed in the bill passed by the house by the removal of the repair account from the educational fund. This is not all that the teachers' asked but it is a great concession, as the repair account had acted as a brake on any effective wage scale for teachers.

CHILD ACTORS' BILL FAILS IN HOUSE; UP AGAIN TODAY

Springfield, Ill., May 26.—Representa-tive Lederer's bill, which permits chil-dren under certain qualifications to ap-pear in public theatrical performances, failed by six votes to secure the neces-sary constitutional majority in the house last night.

It did not die on third reading, how-ever, consideration being postponed un-til today, when a most determined attempt will be made by Representative Lederer and other friends of the bill to force it through passage.

The bill is drawn to assist the theat-rical managers who have had many trials and tribulations in Chicago recently when they have offered produc-tions in which children have appeared. It legalizes the appearance on the stage of children over 12 years of age, provided their parents or guardians legally consent to such appearance.

While Chicago packers were answer ing the statements made in the repor of George Young, second secretary of the British embassy at Washington by pointing to the recent report of the parliamentary committee as an entire refutation of any charge that the so-called American beef trust is trying to corral the English trade, there comes a dispatch from Boston which states that Swift & Co. and Armour & Co. are making arrangements to enter the packing business in Argentina on an extensive scale.

Measure Being Put Through at Springfield Robs Injured Employes of All Their Rights

BEING PUSHED UNDER GUIZE OF FRIENDSHIP

City Union Officials, Deeply Aroused, Send Deputation to the Capital to Expose Plot

Senate bill No. 385, drafted by Govnor Deneen's industrial commission provide for the health, comfort and safety of employes in factories, mills and workshops, has been discovered in its true light, and now there is a hurrying and scurrying among representatives of organized labor to have two dangerous sections in the measure cut out or the bill defeated entirely.

Attorney Jacob Le Boskey and others left Chicago for Springfield last night at 10 o'clock to make a vigorous fight on the measure, which has passed the senate and comes up in the house today for final review.

Letters From Laborites Le Boskey took with him letters from organized labor representatives in Chicago to labor leaders and congressmen in Springfield, and before leaving he secured opinions from other attorneys experienced in the handling of personal injury cases that the measure if passed would absolutely take away all rights that workers now have to collect damages in actions for personal injury.

According to the opinions of Attorney Le Boskey, Attorney Frank Wilson of the law firm of Darrow, Mas-ters and Wilson, Attorney Ashton, Atters and Wilson, Attorney Ashton, At-torney T. J. Morgan, who is a judicial candidate on the Socialist ticket, and others, the bill if passed would throw all the responsibility for accidents up-on the workers themselves and save millions of dollars for the insurance companies, be ides making criminals of the employes if they obeyed the orders of their bosses.

What "itzpatrick Says

After a nurried conference in the of-fice of Attorney Le Boskey yesterday afternoon, President Fitzpatrick of Chicago Federation of Labor sent the following letter to Sec etary William Rossell of the legislative committee at Springfield:

for a nice little deputy commissioner drawing $5,000 a year and several chauffeurs being attaches of the depty commissioners.

The same old tale of added clerks, tenographers and what not runs hrough this department as well, and the same old item of a blanket expense account bobs up again. This time the blanket expense is only $590. Presumably it is made so small in order that no less majests may be committed, the mayor's blanket account being only $1.-500. What this money is used for no one knows, and nobody has to tell. It

The chauffeurs employed in this de partemnt are the veriest pikers found in the whole graft scheme. One of them gets only $500 for working two months, and another only gets $250 for working one whole month a week at a time. Chauffeurs and expense accounts with a blanket thrown over them did not exist until Busse became master of the situation at the city hall.

There is another blanket item here of $15,000 which cannot be traced. It is marked "Special appropriations."

Lump Sum of $344,737

Reverting to that street busienss however, an astonishing item to which no parallel can be found in former budgets or expense accounts, meets the eye. This is a lump extra sum of $344.737 marked "Street repairs, etc." It is not street cleaning, because that is accounted for separately, and there i no corresponding item against which to balance. Neither is there any itemiza-tion so that anyone can tell what it means. The street repairs of the city are largely being taken care of by the traction companies under the ordi-nances, and where such an item as this could come in no one can find.

The grand total reaching up toward that $23,000,000 mark is still swelling, and it may be that the big figure will have to be revised upward before the reports are finished.

Of course the down state men, Shurtleff and others, know that the referendum clause tacked on the the referendum clause tacked on is the same as killing the bills in the open, but they prefer to put the steal up to the voters.

There is an intimation, however, that the house having passed the bills with-out the referendum clause, will stand by them without that clause, which is yet to come up in the house. If the referendum clause is killed in the house the bills will be killed in the senate.

Akron, O. (City Hospital), May 24.-At last I am able to sit up. I seem to writing plainly, considering how my hand shakes and the page blurs. I arrived here five days ago to deliver the last series of lectures of my eastern trip. I crowded far too much work into the four weeks, and I was dreadfully run down. I reached here at two, and at three my head began to epin. I was at three my head began to spin. I was the guest of the Frevys, and they put me to bed. I turned on my right side, but the sensation in that lung sent me back with a jerk. My host and hostess were both out. Dr. Morgan took a keen personal interest in my case, as he always attends my lectures here and is an earnest student of Socialism and devotes all the time a busy doctor can spare to forwarding educational and progressive movements. He said he would fell me the exact truth as the case developed.

"For the present," he said, "you will have to do like lots of people in Southern California and Arizona—you will have to get along on one lung; the right lung has suspended operations."

General Manager Scott of the railroad and Vice-President Ball of the firemen's organization, leader of the strike, were both here awaiting Mr. Nelli. Gov. Smith meanwhile has, not abandoned his e'vris to bring about arbitration.

The complete tie-up of the railroad has one unusual aspect. It is not due to any serious acts of violence, but the uncompromising ultimatum from several communities through which the road passes that trains will not b lowed to pass carrying negro or strikebreaking firemen. So stern has been the announcement of such intentions that the possible outcome of attempting to force trains to run is a serious problem.

Mails Becoming Congested

"Socialism and the Family" by H. G. Wells is one of the best works possible in the field which it covers. Of course, it is the opinion of one man as to an it is the opinion of one man as to an equitable position of woman in her relation to family life, and therefore must be placed in the list of utopian Socialist works. Regardless of this you will profit by a perusal of this book. It is good material to hand to the man who is convinced that Socialism is going to "break up the family and destroy the home." It will be sent postpaid for 50 the Democratic votes needed to elect Lorimer.

Here is something new for small, medium and full grown Socialists. "The dium and full grown Socialists. "The class Struggle" is a game which a Socialist will relish. It is as simple as A, B, C, and can be played by anywhere from two to six people. If you want something to educate and at the same time amuse your children you cannot do better than sende us a quarter for this remarkable game.

BIG BENEFIT PICNIC

On June 27th there will be a grand benefit picnic in Riverview Park for the Chicago Daily Socialist and Neues Leben, the Chicago German Socialist paper. The management of these papers has secured most generous terms from the Riverview Park proprietors. The papers get 50 per cant of the proceeds of the sale of the first 2,000 tickets and 90 per cent of all over that amount. The tickets are printed and ready to be put into the hands of any individual who will volunteer to sell them. If you will help in this work call or write for them at the office of the Chi-ago Daily Socialist, 180 East Washington street. If the sale of these tickets is pushed with vigor between now and June 27 there is no reason why several thousand dollars may not be cleared for the papers. Push the sale of these tickets and report promptly, as all tickets have to be ounted for.

One Chicago tomrade has already turned in $7 for tickets he got at the mass meeting Sunday and got another supply.

HUSTLERS' BULLETIN BOARD ward boasts of having 25 party mem-bers in good standing and 58 Daily Socialist readers.

What the Wards Are Doing

Most of the energies of the ward branches are now being expended in the general distribution of judicial campaign literature. There are 300,000 of these leaflets, posters and pluggers printed and ready for distribution. The can paign committee has done its duty and it is now up to the ward organ-izations and individual party member-ship to see that it gets in the hands of the voters as soon as possible,

NO LIQUOR AT WEDDINGS, IS DECREE OF PASTORS

Muskegon, Mich., May 26.—Pastors of all six of the Helland-American churches in this city, where there is a large population of former Hollanders, have made an agreement not to officiate at any weddings unless a pledge is made that there will be no liquor served either during or after the ceremony. The action follows several scandals which have grown out of drinking at weddings here. The clergy-men further announced that men affiliated with clubs which serve beer on Sunday will be gut off from the shurch unless they cancel their membersamp.

THE HUSTLERS' COLUMN GANG WADING IN GRAFT PUDDLE

After a Little Item of $1,700,000 Now

The Busse gang in the city council went right back at their graft again last night. The sum of $1,700,000 in fonds had been retired, but the city treasury was bankrupt and Alderman be re-issued, thus bringing the bonding capacity of the city up to its full capacity. Thus, if the $16,000,000 sten! fails to go through at Springfield the Busse administration can at least get away with this extra $1,700,000 before it gets out of office. If it cannot get the big ripe red plum it can at least get a raisin when it votes it to itself.

After World's Fair Surplus

in addition to plucking the $1,700,000 raisin the city council also picked up a dried currant in the shape of $44.600 which had been left over from the world's fair fund. out of pure sentimental fanaticism until we are drunk with it. They allege that we are seeking a political revolution at any price, even though we might progress

Engels did not disavow the revolutionary position, as has been sometimes claimed.

This matter deals so largely with German local politics as to be of little interest

I discussed this question of the revolution in the Neuen Zeit in December,

We are revolutionists, and this not simply in the sense that the steam engine attained only through a political revolution, by means of the conquest of political power by the fighting proletariat. The only form of the state in which Socialism can be realized is that of a republic, and a thoroughly democratic re-party. We know that our goal can be attained only through a revolution. We also know that it is just as little in our power to create this revolution as it is in the power of our opponents to prevent it. It is no part of our work to instigate a revolution or to prepare the way for it. And since the revolution cannot be arbitrarily created by us, we cannot say anything whatever about when, under what conditions, or what forms it will come. We know that the class struggle between the bourgeoisie and the proletariat cannot end until the latter is in full possession of the political powers and has used them to introduce the Socialist society. We know that this class struggle must grow both extensively and intensively. We know that the proletariat must continue to grow in numbers and to gain in moral and economic strength, and that therefore its victory and the everthrow of capitalism is inevitable. But we can have only the vaguest con-jectures as to when and how the last decisive blows in the social war will be ire manifestly unable to say whether they will be bloody or not, whether physical force will play a decisive part, or whether they will be fought exclusively by

The French Strike

While it is still too soon to be entirely sure of all the facts concerning the second great strike of the French postal and telegraph employes, enough is known to show that the fears expressed by the Daily Socialist in an earlier editorial were justified.

The attempt to repeat the success of the first strike has certainly not succeeded.

The Berlin Vorwaerts, the organ of the German Socialists, contained an editorial almost simultaneous with the one on the same subject in this paper, also suggesting that the second strike was invited by Clemenceau and the French government and that its success was at least doubtful.

It would now appear that the strike is gradually disappearing, which means that the government is practically victorious.

There has been much talk of the "general strike" among American Socialists. Most of this talk has been based upon an extremely slight knowledge of the necessary conditions to the use of this powerful weapon.

The general strike is very plainly something that cannot be prepared for in advance, except indirectly. To make such a strike the object of an organization is to doom the organization to insignificance and sterility and to make the strike a utopian farce.

There is another lesson which the capitalists are seeking to draw from this strike. They are claiming that it proves that organization cannot be "tolerated" among government officials. At the very beginning, it might be well to remind such critics that unions have never been TOLERATED anywhere. They have come because the workers established them IN SPITE OF THE EM-

So far as the ruling class is concerned, it need not trouble itself on the question of whether there will be unions among the government employes. All that the employers can do in the matter is to use the press and other organs of public opinion to mentally emasculate such public employes. By such means they may possibly postpone organization for some time, but they cannot ultimately avoid it.

When the teachers, or the postal employes, or any other body of men and women decide that they will organize, no power has eyer been discovered to prevent such organization.

Again, some of the editors and public mouthpieces of the master class have been moralizing on the French strike with the object of showing the "failure of Socialism." Just what connection there is between an industry managed by a government in the control of the profit-seeking class, who use that government solely with the object of exploiting labor, and a Socialist organization of society is something that a capitalist editor would endeavor to explain.

If the workers controlled the government, and the income of each was determined by the amount which the whole body produced. many of the causes of wage disputes would disappear. If the haunting terror of poverty were removed from the worker and the luring greed of profit abolished from society, still other points of disagreement would be removed.

The result would be a new society with new problems almost in no way connected with government industry under capitalism.

The French strike is one of those great object lessons that should be studied as an experiment in practical tactics. The French workers have experimented and learned. We should be able to learn from their experience without the direct personal cost that they have

We Must Not Be Quitters

The workers have never been able to establish a press in any country without a heartbreaking struggle. It is no exaggeration to say that the papers of labor have been printed in blood. In many know. Judge. countries a working-class press has been created only after hundreds of earnest fighters have given their lives to the task.

Men and women have spent years in prison, have gone to the gallows, have starved and suffered by the thousands, and all that papers might be printed and distributed voicing the interests of labor.

No sacrifice has been looked upon as too great for this cause The reason for this should be evident. While labor is dumb, while it cannot speak for its own members, all concerted action is impossible.

THE SILENCE OF LABOR MEANS THE SLAVERY OF LABOR.

English has been the last of modern larguages to establish a daily organ. The reason for this is not so hard to discover. While English-speaking ruling classes have not ordinarily used the dungeon and the gallows and the open censor to gag the throat of labor, it has moved with a cunning that is even more effective.

IT HAS GIVEN THE APPEARANCE WITHOUT THE SUBSTANCE OF A FREE PRESS.

The country has been sown deep with papers, but all have been kept beneath the control of those who live by profits.

Today, in America, labor is making the most desperate effort in its history to escape from this insidious censorship.

ON THE SUCCESS OF THAT EFFORT DEPENDS THE FUTURE OF THE AMERICAN WORKERS. How much are we willing to do to raise the banner of a free press on the last and greatest outpost of capitalism?

We have made a beginning. We have planted our flag there Will we keep it flying?

Or will we driven back to dumb, silent slavery?

The present week will tell much so far as the Daily Socialist is Shall we sound the retreat? Shall we send the word to our comrades who have rotted in Russian jails, suffered in German fortresses starved in New Caledonia and Siberia for the cause of labor's press that we in the United States have surrendered with victory in sight?

WE CAN NOT, DARE NOT, DO THIS.

We WILL NOT do it.

Barbary Yoska—The Man Who Had Read the Newspapers

BY ERNEST POOLE.

genial, easy tone.
"But," sobbed my patient, "his telephone! He will awaken his friends detectives, gendarmes—all will come!" and again she fainted away.

"Thank God!" I whispered, and sat down.

"Thank God!" I whispered, and sat down.

What a half hour. What changing spells, now of hope, now of atter dismay. The grey dawn slowly filtered in. I heard the noise of a motor below.

"Whose?" I thought. "Great Heavens! Whose?" I leaned far out and looked. My heart leaped. It was ours!

A rush of relief, glad laughter, breathless voices, tears at break neck speed. It lacked but a minute of seven o'clock. The sun was up-a dazzling ball. The populace, o'clock. The sun was up-a dazzling bail. The populace, men and women by thousands, trudged to their dull, their sordid toll. Out of our way they scrambled, stared. My heart beat fast, my hopes rose high. Out of the common herd to fame. Success success at last!

We turned a corner. Before us, the river! The ocean waves, a bustling dock and a huge white gleaming ship with the smoke pouring black from her funnels. We "The hospital!" they cried. And before I could voice the emotions that were me, we were to the ladies, the luggage—all were out, and up the dock we hastened.

Staggered, half blinded I saw Adolphus show that note. Staggered, hair bilided; I saw Adophus show that note. An official-bowed, ushered us up into the ship. And there, in a gorgeous suite of apartmen's, strewn with flowers of every kind, stood the renowned physician. Pell mell they grasped his hands. He turned and caught my startled

The great man only smiled. He pointed to the officials, bowing to him on every side.

"Are you in charge?" he inquired.

"But." I cried, "what shall I say to her father? He said, he would have me arrested!" And I described how the telephone had roared. The doctor laughed.

"Here," he said. And as on his knee he now dashed off another note, his smile was inexpressibly grim. "Take this at once to her father," he said. "When he reads—he will not harm so much see a hele of your head!"

will not harm so much as a hair of your head! Adolphus reappeared. Behind him came the other three, and in fervent tones they uttered their thanks. We said soodbye, I choked, I waved both hands, we parted.

I returned to the red motor car. The gruff chauffeur was waiting. And back we went to her father's home, our faces tense with anticipations. The Bull was at the window, and he met me half way down the stairs. His face was apoplectic now, his voice a wheezing whisper. "You!" he cried. "Where have they gone? What have

"This physician," I asked at last is he, then, so wondrous great?"

drous great;" he replied in broken tones, "that I am whipped, held in a vice! What can I do? Nothing! . . . Out! Out of my sight!" he roared.

I took my medical chest and departed. I found the chauffeur waiting below, and back we went at a slower pace. We reached the office. I climbed out.

"Look here, my man," I asked at last, "what can you pulled them out, they were crisp and green, symbolic of my future life. My first fee—one thousand dollars!

Up and down my room I strode, I laid me down, I tried to sleep. Impossible. From every great newspaper in town, voracious reporters began to arrive. My little room was througed with men, pads on their knees, hungrily jotting down my words. Again and again, in minute detail, I recounted the happenings of the night.

The hours passed. On the streets outside I could hear the newsboys shrieking the news-my news! The most daring slope ment of the year, the daughter of one of Wall Street's kings. The head of the Ship Trust was involved. And I. Babary Yosko, "the brilliant young physician," my name appeared at every point!

and I. Babary Yosko, the armant young physician my name appeared at every point!

Curious crowds pressed to my window. And still came the reporters. They begged me now, in eager tones, to recount the story of my life. And so I did. In that hour of success and fame, how the old memories surged up. Incidents, struggles, privations, fervid hopes and dreamsover and over again did I divulge them all. And your name are honored parent, you may be sure was not forname, my honored parent, you may be sure was not for-gotten. It appeared the next day linked with mine. The crowd outside my window grew. Patients came, applied for treatment, singly, then by twos and threes.

My poor medical chest was exhausted. I sent for more drugs, I worked till late into the night. A few brief hours of feverish sleep. I was up and at

I am weary. The pen falters in my trembling hand. For two days and nights food has barely passed my lips. Good night-good night! The hour is late. I must to my cafe, to begin my life of wealth and ease.

He finished with a flourish, leaned far back in his chair; and slowly, with grave relish, he read the letter through

The hour was indeed late. But the cafe windows still shone bright, the jovial fiddles scraped and squeaked the who is shown the joint haddes scraped and equation to voices, peals of laughter, singing—all went gayly on.

Carefully he searched his pockets, collected at last a few small coins. And selecting the tiniest coin of all, he surveyed it sternly. Verily he had fasted long.

"What is life," he asked, "without dissipation?" and with reckless stride left the room.

Five minutes later, in that remote part of the merry cafe which the tenement foreigners still frequent, he sat alone at a corner table. And smiling, with a "peremptory sweep of the hand," he lifted a lonely glass of beer. "Honored parent," he cried, in his soul, "you who have

Hearst and Independence

BY ROBERT HUNTER

Honest Tom Hisgin has deserted the Independence league. He is going back the Democratic party.

It seems the fate of the Independence league to lose all its great leaders. As soon as Mr. Hearst gives sor.) unknown Tom a reputation he drops Mr Hearst. Probably no man has ever had such faithless friends as the distinguished editor and radical politician.

He helped to make Mr. Bryan, and Mr. Bryan deserted him.

He advertised Ton. Watson, and Tom deserted him.

He backed up little Lewis Chanler, advertised him all over the state, made nim a great leader of the people, and Lewis deserted him.

He backed Judge Seabury. The Judge, Hearst's papers said, was one of the test men that ever lived—clean, high-minded, unselfish, radical to the core, The Judge was forced into a long-term job, and he deserted Hearst.

John Ford, the traction expert, the sworn enemy of Belmont and Ryan, was led out as a man of the people, a leader of the great revolt against the traction interests. John carried on a whirlwind campaign, finally landed in a long-term job, and deserted Hearst.

Hearst has preached independence too well.

As soon as anybody can get independent of Hearst's newspapers, of Hearst's ey, and of Hearst's politics, they grasp greedily at the opportunity.

There have been Hearst senators, Hearst representatives, and Hearst alder in, all of whom have declared their independence of Hearst as soon as Tamany Hall offered them an opportunity.

Indeed, the only constant, loyal supporters the League has seem to be Washington, Jefferson, and Lincoln—and they are dead, and it is awful hard to tell.

Economic Determinism
The theory of "historical materialism" or "economic determinism" is accepted by many that are not Socialists, and perhaps rejected by a few Socialists, but it is one of the fundamentals of the Marxian theory.

By it and it only can we rightly interpret history and the actions of the world today.

Man does not live by bread alone, but he must have bread to live and the way he gets that bread largely inthe way he gets that bread largely influences his religion, morals, art and vorid by ecoromic facts, but that the different changes that have taken place in art have been greatly influenced by economic conditions.

Christianity did not come into being pecause of material conditions, but eco-comic conditions have greatly influenceed the church. First, among the early Christians, we find a sort of commun-ism, and their teachings were underism, and their teachings were under-mining the power of the ruling class. So Emperor Constantine, for economic motives, embraced Christianity and changed the economic motive of the church, and so on down through the ages to the present day, when we see the church filled with hypocrisy and preachers held as retainers for the perpetuation of the present system, is it the fault of Christianity? No. Certainly not. It is the economic condition tainly not. It is the econ tainly not. It is the economic condition of the country reflegted in the church. The same effect may be seen in literature, art and morals. Take, for instance, architecture; if it had not been for the system of rents the flat and and tenement style of buildings would have never come into vogue. Neither would they be occupied if people could earn enough to have a home of their own.

Socialism itself is the product of economic conditions. Not until machinery was invented and co-operative production on a large scale made possible was Socialism practical. As Marx pointed out Bourgeois society sowed the seeds of its own destruction, forged the tools and brought into existence the laboring class. And cold, hard material facts are preparing us to use them.

It is thought by some that the theory of economic determinism is opposed to religion, but not only is it not opposed to religion but it can be used as a strong argument for religion, as it can
