With Alderman Charles E. Merriam as the republican nominee and Carter H. Harrison as the democratic candidate for mayor of Chicago, as the result of Tuesday's primaries, politicians declared today that the impending campaign would be the bitterest in Chicago's history.

Merriam's Victory Complete That Merriam's victory over the candidates of the republican city and county organizations was a complete victory for the progressives within his own party and for those voters who are independent of party, was the assertion made today by the Merriam campaign managers.

Harrison's defeat of Andrew J. Graham, the Roger Sullivan "big business" candidate, is regarded in political circles today as a complete overthrow of Sullivan's domination of Cook county and Illinois politics and a serious blow at the gas magnate's business interests.

Compared With Thompson Vote Merriam's nomination is all the more a startling victory for the progressives and independents when his vote is compared with that of John R. Thompson, who received the backing of the republican county machine and who was regarded as a staunch Lorimer adherent.

Merriam's vote more than doubled that of Thompson, the progressive reformer having polled 54,228, while Thompson's vote was only 26,198.

"I attribute my nomination," said Merriam today, "to the eager acceptance by the voters of the opportunity offered them by the direct primary law and to an uprising for progressive republicanism that heretofore has manifested itself only in national expression."

"The voters of Chicago believe the city's resources should be conserved just as much as the nation's resources, for the benefit of the community at large and not for a few special interests."

May Precipitate Fight The nomination of Harrison may precipitate a fight in the democratic ranks that will not end with the primary. There is a chance that Edward F. Dunne, defeated for the democratic nomination, will create or run independently. The police returns show that Harrison received 55,069 votes, while Dunne polled 53,513.

Dunne claims that the figures are "crooked," and cites the vote in the First ward, where the "Hinky Dink-Bathhouse John" combination rolled up a 2,600 majority for Harrison.

"Hinky Dink" Kenna, Senator Lorimer's newspaper friend, received such a unanimous vote in the First ward for alderman that "there was no second."

Turn to Harrison While the defeated republican candidates have announced that they will support Merriam, it is believed the rank and file of the republican organization will offer little support to the reformer, but will turn instead to Harrison as the exponent of the political system to which they are accustomed.

MUST HELP CITY HEALTH

Rodriguez Says Sanitation Is More Important Than Police.

CONSERVATION OF HUMANITY "Poverty means helplessness. We find that poverty pays the highest rates for its miserable existence in food and shelter."

"The real criminal class in Milwaukee today is composed of those who have been dominating the poor. "Selfish and near-sighted people have not yet learned that their safety is dependent on the conservation of humanity as a whole."

"Strange as it may seem, the dominant forces of responsibility have been those we call thrifty, those who pile up wealth."—Extracts from the recent speech of City Treasurer Whitnall of Milwaukee on city planning. Whitnall is one of the elected Socialist officials.

BY WILLIAM E. RODRIGUEZ (Socialist Candidate for Mayor of Chicago.)

The conservation of human beings is one of the things for which the Socialist party in Chicago stands.

Is National Issue Though national issues are being made out of the conservation of timber land, mines and quarries and reputations of public men are being built on their approval or disapproval of such conservation projects, conservation of human beings is likely to be overlooked.

Chicago spends six times as much for police "protection" as for health. I refer to the money appropriated by the city council for the police and the health departments.

Seeks Ideal City Milwaukee under Socialist control is striving for a "city beautiful." This means a city which shall first be healthful.

That is the ideal of the Chicago Socialists. I have stated before that the Socialist party is the party of construction.

It is "Medical science has so progressed that epidemics such as those which terrorized the previous generation are now rendered well nigh impossible.

Pay for Poverty The child reared in the dark tenement, or the insanity shack, is the most frequent prisoner in the police court.

The influence of bad air, insufficient light, too early and too hard labor, too little and unwholesome food, culminates in a being unfit to fight the present terrible battle of "civilization."

The Socialist says that to build any portion of a generation out of such people is suicidal.

Is Burden on State It is to create a perpetual charge against the state in the maintenance of jails, hospitals for the insane, reformatories and like institutions.

Work for Good So that the Socialist maintains that while co-operation in industry is being attained, to the end that each shall have the value of the product of his labor, society's first immediate concern is with living wages, sanitary cities and safe factories.

The extension of the work of the health department is one of the basic pledges of the Socialist platform. What a health department costing 50 cents per capita could do for Chicago is shown by the statement on the subject furnished by the Chicago Health Department.

Shows Health Facts It reads as follows: "A health department spending 50 cents per capita should put diphtheria down to, say, 100 deaths per year; scarlet fever down to 500; typhoid to 120 and cut down 5 per cent from the consumption mortality."

Concerning the present rate of expenditure, which is 21 cents per capita, the statement says: "A 21 cent per capita health department means about 15,000 deaths from preventable diseases a year. If we pay more we will have less. If we pay less we shall have more."

A Socialist administration makes health its prime care. City planning for the convenience of the workers for the sanitation of the city, for a founder development in the future, those are some of the Socialist plans for construction.

WOULD RESTRAIN MINE MERGERS Grand Rapids, Mich., March 1.—Injunction proceedings have been instituted in the United States District Court here by Godfrey M. Hyams of New York against the Calumet & Hecla Mining Company and the Owens Consolidated Mining Company for the purpose of restraining the consolidation of the two corporations.

Hyams alleges that the ore deposits of the Calumet & Hecla mines are nearly exhausted and to protect their future output the corporation has placed their officers in control of the directorate of the Owens, for the purpose of effecting a consolidation. Twenty millions are involved.

Hired Thugs ACTIVE FOR PRESS TRUST

The newspaper trust's wrecking crew was this morning put into operation following the special morning issue of the Chicago Daily Socialist.

Hired Thugs From all over the loop district and prominent street corners on all sides of the city, complaints arrived this morning telling of the activity of the hired thugs of the capitalist newspaper combine to suppress the truth regarding the strike.

The eight-page issue of the Daily Socialist, in juxtaposition with the four-page pamphlets of the big Chicago dailies, whose only purpose is to cloud the strike issue, was the reason for the calling into action of the famous wrecking crews of the yellow journal.

These sluggers, it appears, have been justified along with the advent of the Hearst papers into the boss printers' combine.

Issue Call for Meeting James P. Laroed, secretary of the Cook County Socialist party, today issued a call for a meeting this afternoon of the members of the organization at the Daily Socialist building.

The dastardly efforts of the newspaper combine will be frustrated at any expense.

"NATOMA" PLEASES CRITICS New York, March 1.—Victor Herbert's American opera, "Natoma," at the Metropolitan, met with only qualified approval from New York's critics.

Interesting, assured of a measure of popularity and success, but as a grand opera hardly satisfying, is the consensus of opinion. Mary Garden, in the title role, is given much praise.

hands of the ex-pugilists from the vice districts.

On the northwest side, at one corner where the sale of the Daily Socialist was particularly active, seven of these thugs swooped down on a wagon and within a hundred feet of the police cleaned the news-stand clear of copies of the Daily Socialist. The newsboy barely escaped with his life.

Steps were immediately taken this morning to protect these boys by calling upon the police department of Chicago.

Several of the sluggers are personally known to employees of the Daily Socialist and will be prosecuted relentlessly and their criminal connection with the newspaper trust exposed.

The refusal of thousands of citizens to purchase the four-page statements of the newspaper combine has provoked the sluggers to attempt their tactics in elevated stations.

They were frustrated in the dastardly work by guards and conductors who were called from the trains by the station agents.

Mexican! Peon's Enemy It is understood that Hearst owns acres of land in Mexico, and a comparison of even the naturally prejudiced Associated Press articles with those of the Hearst papers lead some idea of on what side of the conflict his issues lie.

HOTEL LETS WOMEN SMOKE New York, March 1.—That the throwing open of its public dining rooms to women who might care to smoke with their afternoon tea has filled a long-felt want here in New York is the assertion of the management of New York's newest hotel. It was said that more than half of the women who dine there daily smoke cigarettes. A special brand of cigarettes, daintily prepared to suit the feminine taste, has been placed on the menu card.

'DON'T HELP HEARST!' IS UNION'S ORDER TO ALL THE NEWSPAPERS

HEARST NOW LABOR'S FOE

Gained Circulation Then Proceeded to Forget Workingmen.

Any edition of the Chicago Examiner that may appear upon the streets of Chicago today will be the product of enemies of organized labor and would place the sheet in the class known by printers as "rat."

May Attempt to Issue This is the position in short that the sheet which was once proclaimed as the greatest defender of labor in Chicago will be placed, if an addition is placed upon the street in order that the Inter-Ocean, Record-Herald and Tribune may escape the ironclad publishers' combine agreement.

Years ago, Brisbane's famous editorials extolled Mr. Hearst and his string of American newspapers, for the overflowing consideration given the "common people," but the "had break" made by the manager of the papers, undoubtedly at the instigation of the millionaire owner, will probably note the beginning of the end of the yellow Chicago sheets.

"To Hell With Labor" Hearst's first fall out with the forces of organized labor in America came when the Hearst Homestake Mine at Lead, South Dakota, declared a lockout and has since refused to employ the miner under union conditions.

Since that time the news stories of both the evening and morning papers have been more and more bitter to the workers. Under headings carrying innuendo and hidden insinuations, the striking garment workers, during the recent struggle were placed in the position of animals whose acts were only to be regarded as "features" of the yellow sheets.

Once Fought for Labor The Chicago American, during its early years, carried three to five columns of articles on "Labor and Progress."

During the last six years a gradual process of elimination was applied until today the space formally used for the publicity of the trade unions is filled with the advertisements of the State street stores, whose alleged child slavery it is at first exposed.

Placed in the light of ridicule by Collier's Weekly in its last few issues, newspaper men today declare that the circulation of the two papers would benefit them.

Must Be Neutral "As long as the other members of the Chicago Local of the American Newspaper Publishers' association remain neutral insofar as direct help to the Hearst papers is concerned, we will not touch them."

"As soon, however, as it is discovered that they are using the work of our members in other chapels to help break the strike against Hearst we will strike all the offices in Chicago which are association members, unless they will agree to discontinue such aid."

LORIMER IS GIVEN HIS WHITEWASH Senate Chamber, Washington, D. C., March 1.—William Lorimer, United States senator from Illinois, was vindicated from the impeachment charges by a vote of 46 to 40, in the Senate here this afternoon.

BULLETIN Driven desperate by the tremendous inroads which the Chicago Daily Socialist is making into their circulation, members of the Chicago Local of the American Newspaper Publishers' association sent out thugs to intimidate newsboys.

On Van Buren street, near the headquarters of Typographical Union No. 18, where papers have been selling by hundreds, a boy was dragged. And, on Halsted street, the word was passed that the boys had better "go home; there won't be any more afternoon papers." Similar action was taken on Van Buren street.

The division men from the big newspapers are bluffing the newsboys.

BULLETIN As this issue goes to press the executive board of Typographical Union No. 18 is in session considering whether other papers than Hearst's are to be struck.

Prospects of a strike against all the members of the Chicago Local of the Chicago Newspaper Publishers' association loomed large today when officials of Typographical Union No. 18 began to probe for the source of the help which made it possible for the Examiner and the American to issue papers after the calling of the strike.

Executive Board Meets Word was sent to the chairman of all chapels to communicate with the executive board which met at the union headquarters at 9 o'clock.

From these men information will be sought as to the efforts of members of the Chicago Local of the Publishers' association to aid Hearst's papers.

These newspapers will then be communicated with and offered the alternative of a strike or the cessation of all aid to the strike breakers employed by the Chicago Examiner and the Chicago American.

Hearst Gets Scabs The American and Examiner procured a small force of strike breakers last night. The appearance of the late editions of the Chicago American showed how hard that paper was hit.

The appearance of the late editions of the Chicago Examiner with material obviously furnished by other members of the Chicago newspaper trust has incensed union men.

"The papers which have signed contracts with us cannot use their offices as strike breaking aids for the Hearst newspapers," said a union official today.

Must Be Neutral "As long as the other members of the Chicago Local of the American Newspaper Publishers' association remain neutral insofar as direct help to the Hearst papers is concerned, we will not touch them."

"As soon, however, as it is discovered that they are using the work of our members in other chapels to help break the strike against Hearst we will strike all the offices in Chicago which are association members, unless they will agree to discontinue such aid."

The Purdue five are said to be the logical representatives of the West.

NEWSPAPER TRUST BENDS KNEE BEFORE ORGANIZED LABOR

William Randolph Hearst, with his millions, is to-day powerless before two hundred and fifty men who are backed by the great power of organized labor.

AGAINST GREAT COMBINE. With William Randolph Hearst stands the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, a giant combine which makes and unmakes Congressmen, creates Presidents and bullies courts.

The trouble which brought the strength of organized labor into play against the Hearst millions was the simple fact that Hearst's representatives would not pay about $1.80 per week to certain linotype operators.

This seems a small thing, but it was not.

QUESTION BACK OF IT. Back of it was the question as to whether or not the Chicago Typographical Union was to be placed on a sufficient basis of equality to give it a reasonably square deal in wage negotiations or not.

If not, the publishers were to be allowed to change their scale of wages without going through the forms which the contracts between the union and the publishers provided for.

The publishers, with their millions, were to be allowed to play the game of delay in dealing with the union. Delay would cost the publishers nothing. In fact, it would save them money.

COST OF DELAY. All the cost of delay would fall on the members of the union.

The union refused to tolerate this. Hearst, the friend of labor, after joining the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, refused to abide by the rules which the union had agreed to with other members of the Association.

He tried delay. The union was patient and lost money. He finally agreed to the union scale in that he paid it for a week and then cut below it for two weeks.

The union gave him every chance to live up to the scale, the merit of which he had admitted by paying it for one week.

Hearst refused. He was given additional time. He refused to accede to the union demands. Then the union chapels at his two Chicago papers went on strike.

Under the agreement existing between the members of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association all the members of that organization in Chicago are bound not to print a newspaper if Hearst or any other member of the association is strike-bound, so as to prevent publication.

SUFFERS PUNISHMENT. Andrew M. Lawrence, head of the Hearst papers, and political agent of Hearst, is really responsible for a large share of the trouble. For years he has been hostile to labor unions, and this time his hostility was carried too far. He is the man who is responsible for Hearst's backing Harrison.

Warn Record-Herald. An ultimatum was served on the Chicago Record-Herald last night warning that newspaper against locking out its union printers.

"If you lock out your union printers because of the strike on the Hearst papers your paper will be held liable for the back pay of the men locked out."

This was the statement from the union.

It was almost immediately followed by an ultimatum from the Chicago Local of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association which ran:

Make Threat. "If the Chicago Examiner is not printed Wednesday no other morning paper will be printed. No sooner had this word reached the union headquarters, where the executive committee was in session, than the Chicago American put on the streets in the loop a fake election extra containing no figures on the vote whatever, but declaring Harrison and Merriam as the nominees of the Democratic and Republican parties respectively.

The Daily News followed a similar plan.

Prints Real News. These issues were in strong contrast to those printed by The Chicago Daily Socialist, which with its composing room crowded with eager union printers, was printing the real news of the election.

The desperation of the Chicago Examiner was shown last night when William Roberts, labor editor of that paper, was ordered to set type.

Won't Be Strike-Breaker. Roberts had been a union printer. He refused to be a strike-breaker and walked out of the office, severing a connection of many years' standing with the Hearst newspapers.

The members of the Chicago Local of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association held a meeting in their rooms in the Tribune Building determining whether or not they will fight the Typographical Union to a finish.

The desperate plight in which the newspapers are finding themselves is shown by the statement of Charles Fay, managing editor of the Chicago Daily News.

When asked last night what statement the publishers had to issue and what they intended to do he said:

Don't Know, Says Fay. "I don't know. They have not told me. I will give you their telephone number."

"Are they in session now?" was asked.

"You bet they are," was the reply. "and if you learn anything as to what their intentions are call me up and let me know, I am curious."

Union printers employed by the Chicago Examiner and the Chicago American struck at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and a complete tie-up of all the Chicago newspapers is expected to follow.

Controversy Over Wages. The refusal of the Hearst papers to pay the union printers the scale to which they are entitled caused the strike.

In order to protect Hearst in his fight on the union the Chicago local of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association is expected to declare a suspension of all the big daily papers printed in English in Chicago soon.

The Chicago Daily Socialist is not a member of the Publishers' association and will continue to be issued both as a morning and afternoon paper if the suspension is declared.

The strike at the Hearst plants followed the refusal of the management to agree to the union demands. When the union men were paid off it was discovered that the pay envelope contained less money than is required under union demands.

Much Reduced Daily Papers

Attack the Electrical Workers.

BULLETIN. The telephone operators of the Edge-water exchange are on strike, and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers is busy organizing the rest of the girls.

The Chicago Tribune had no editorial page. The Chicago Record-Herald had no editorial page. The Chicago Inter Ocean had one column of editorials.

The Chicago Examiner was composed chiefly of the matter which is set up several days in advance and used on the "magazine page."

The election returns in the Examiner were confined to the most general results. No detailed figures were given.

This was in strong contrast with the Chicago Daily Socialist, which being free from any alliances with the publishers' association and being a strictly union shop, had election returns by wards, including interviews with the candidates or their official representatives.

The other Chicago newspapers were leaflets.

The striking printers took 5,000 copies of the Daily Socialist and sold them to the employees of big printing firms.

Thousands of extra papers were sold. All through the night, at intervals, extras giving the only figures printed by any paper on the election results were run off the Chicago Daily Socialist press.

TURNERS RALLY TO PRINTERS. Circulation of The Daily Socialist to Be Pushed Hard.

BULLETIN. Several German and Bohemian Turners to-day signified their intention of assisting the Daily Socialist in its fight for organized labor against the Chicago newspaper combine.

It will be recalled that the purpose of the Chicago newspaper combine is "to make common cause in labor disputes." This statement was made publicly by one of the members of the combine and is further evidenced in the placing on the streets of the four-page papers this morning.

Chicago Socialists are called on to meet to-night in the office of County Secretary James Larsen, 150 Washington street, to organize for the purpose of extending the circulation of the Chicago Daily Socialist during the printers' strike.

A show of no better way to help the printers to win their strike than to circulate the Chicago Daily Socialist as widely as possible," said Larsen to-day.

"This is a fight of the Public Opinion trust," he continued, "upon the forces of organized labor, and it behooves every Socialist to turn out to the meeting to-night."

PRY LOOSE OLD JAY GOULD GRIP

Wall Street Wizard's Fortune Loses Out in Battle of Finance.

BY W. G. SHEPHERD

Special Correspondence. New York, March 1.—Father Time has struck the ghostly pirate hand of Jay Gould a crack over the knuckles and broken its clutch on the railway world.

Fortune Fried Loose. From the family of Jay Gould is passing rapidly the fortune and power which Jay Gould prized from the American people.

This is the story, in short: Jay Gould, who built a gigantic fortune as a defiler of laws and looter of railroad treasures, left his fortune and power to six children when he died in 1882.

Fair Income Assured. There was enough money to give each of the six heirs an income of $1,000,000 a year.

George Gould, the eldest son, married an actress, Edith Kingdon. This woman brought credit on the family name, and it is a notable fact that George, alone of the four brothers, endeavored to watch business and keep his father's estate and fortune intact. However, it was too great a task for him.

HOWARD ELLIOTT

President of the Northern Pacific, who may be made president of Missouri Pacific by those who turned down George Gould.

His brother, Edwin, paid little attention to business, being quite satisfied to seek comfort and pleasure with his income.

Frank Jay Gould, another brother, also refused to help defend the estate from the ravages of time or of the bandits of Wall street.

George Remains to Fight. It remained for George to face Wall street and fight, for it was vain to look to Howard Gould, the third brother, for assistance.

And fight he did. And with wonderful success for a time. The Gould system was unified, extended and improved. It entered Pittsburg despite the powerful opposition of the great Pennsylvania railroad.

Through the city of smoke George Gould drove his road, seeking an Atlantic seaboard at Baltimore. With that object in view he got the Western Maryland.

From Pittsburg he connected with his Washash railroad by getting possession of the Wheeling & Lake Erie.

Engineers Good Deal. Indiana and Illinois were covered by the Washash. That brought the Gould system into St. Louis.

There began the rails of the Missouri Pacific, the central key to what the son of Jay Gould hoped to make the biggest transcontinental railroad in America.

A real transcontinental road it was to be, stretching from the waters of the Atlantic to those of the Pacific.

He made the Missouri Pacific a highly valuable line. He showed the value of its stock from 56, where it stood when his father died, to above par. The Texas Pacific rose from 39 to 34 a share. The St. Louis & Southwestern doubled and then doubled again.

Harriman Fight Begins. Then with rails into Salt Lake City, Gould saw the time ripe for his proposed Western Pacific, to run from Salt Lake City into San Francisco.

And then began his famous fight with the late E. T. Harriman. Any person who ever had the "little wizard" of the railroad world as an antagonist knows what that means. All the wealth in Harriman's control went to the front to keep Gould off the Pacific coast.

Then Harriman died. Gould sold over 250,000 bonds to Kuhn, Loeb & Co. to improve the Missouri Pacific in anticipation of the opening of the Western Pacific, the last link in the Gould transcontinental system.

Bites Off Too Much. But he had "bitten off more than he could chew." The fearful opposition he met with reduced his fighting resources to the vanishing point. The panic of 1907 sent the Western Maryland into the hands of a receiver; the Washash-Pittsburg terminal followed; so did the Wheeling & Lake Erie. And the son of Jay Gould, wizard of Wall street, has now lost control of the Missouri Pacific.

J. P. Helms Himself. Morgan waited until the load grew heavy and then helped himself to the Western Union. But all the money Gould could get for his Western Union stock could not hold control in the Missouri Pacific.

He still has the Washash and Denver & Rio Grande. How long he can keep them depends more upon the Wall street gang than upon anything he will be able to do.

DEMAND TODAY FOR A LARGER PAPER

If The Daily Socialist Were Larger Now We Would Make the Bosses Wince—An Appreciation by the Garment Workers.

The value of the CHICAGO DAILY SOCIALIST as a working class newspaper is appreciated by the workers more thoroughly from time to time as it has a chance to show its power in defense of the principles for which labor stands.

This paper is owned by labor. Its policy is controlled by labor. Its aims are always fight for the things which labor needs.

ITS FIGHT IS FOR BETTER LIVING CONDITIONS FOR THE WORKERS.

Under the present system the worker is able to secure but little and, in fact, the majority nothing at all, of the things which go to make life worth living.

Luxury is unknown. Good food is practically unknown. Good clothing is unknown. Good houses to live in are scarce. Good homes are practically impossible. Sunshine, even, is scarce.

Good conditions under which to work is a joke. Unsatisfactory conditions prevail. The worker is usually tired. When he does not work he usually sleeps to rest his old body that it might be in shape to go to work again to grind out profits for the bosses. The stipend he gets out of it himself is so small that it is hardly worth mentioning.

Work, work, work. That is the lot of the worker. He gets little else out of life. The Daily Socialist recognizes this sad, inhuman and brutal state of affairs, and fights it.

It pleads for fairness to the workers. It pleads for justice to the working class. It pleads for a better world to live in for all mankind.

This is our reason for asking co-operation on the part of the workers for a stronger support of the Daily Socialist financially.

The campaign for an eight-page paper has been conducted for some time. About $6,000 has been contributed to the $25,000 fund.

Many more who have not yet sent a contribution toward the upbuilding of the paper have a chance to do so today.

Just now there is a fight on again by the union organization against the publishers' association.

The Daily is there at the command of the workers. Its fight is for the workers everywhere at their call. Increased size will mean redoubled power. That is why we are making this extra effort to enlarge the paper.

SEND US YOUR CONTRIBUTION TODAY. AN APPRECIATION THE GARMENT WORKERS WERE ASSISTED IN THEIR RECENT GREAT STRIKE BY ONLY ONE DAILY PAPER IN CHICAGO, THE CHICAGO DAILY SOCIALIST. IT IS THEREFORE OUR DUTY AND PLEASURE AS MEMBERS OF THE UNION TO STAND BY AND ASSIST THOSE WHO ARE OUR FRIENDS.

THE DAILY SOCIALIST IS MAKING AN EFFORT TO BUILD UP A LARGER DAILY PAPER FOR THE WORKING PEOPLE IN CHICAGO AND TO PUBLISH THE NEWS FROM A UNION MAN'S STANDPOINT.

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, THAT WE, THE MEMBERS OF LOCAL NO. 21, UNITED GARMENT WORKERS OF AMERICA, DO HEREBY EXTEND OUR HEARTY THANKS FOR THEIR INTEREST IN OUR AFFAIRS, AND FOR THE WAY IN WHICH THEY PUBLISHED THE NEWS OF OUR STRIKE, AND AIDED OUR CAUSE FROM DAY TO DAY.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, THAT WE DO HEREBY DONATE THE SUM OF TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS ($25.00) TOWARD AN EIGHT-PAGE DAILY SOCIALIST, AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, THAT A COPY OF THESE RESOLUTIONS BE SENT TO THE CHICAGO DAILY SOCIALIST.

FRANK A. SPELLSTROM, President Local Union No. 21, U. G. W. of A. Itemized list on page 6.

giving of this decade. By 1903 it had dropped to $475,000.

Coin Fades Away. George Gould, head of the family, has not been able to keep up the value of the family's holdings.

His sister Anna, who was divorced from Count Castellani and then wed Count de Sagan, was $6,000,000 in debt. Over half of her income has been applied recently to settling this burden.

Only Helen Miller Gould, who spends part of her fortune in human service, is an object of popular sympathy.

FISHING BAD? MAKE U. S. PAY

That Is If Gen. Lodge Will Press Your Bill.

BY GILSON GARDNER

Staff Special. Washington, D. C., Feb. 28.—On a lonely spot of land washed by the waves of the Pacific, off the southeastern coast of Alaska, a place marked on a few maps which are singularly complete as Wales Island, are the signs of a previous human occupation in the shape of dilapidated sheds once used for packing salmon.

No Life Signs. No signs of life are visible. Roosting timbers are falling to decay, the doors swing on rusted hinges, parts of the roof have caved in and the skeleton of the structure stands stark and lonely, abandoned to the elements.

The old sheds mark the place where in 1902 the representatives of a company incorporated in New York undertook the business of catching and packing salmon.

The Wales Island Packing Company, the concern was called.

Expectations Fail. "Runs" of salmon were expected in the streams of Wales Island and the adjacent islands, and the backers of the enterprise expected to take from these waters enough fish to keep the sheds and their machinery busy.

The expectation was not realized. The experience of two seasons, 1902 and 1903, showed that the fish could not be secured.

There was not enough in the streams and in 1904 the machinery was sold, the sheds were gutted and the company was dissolved. What was not worth while was abandoned.

Uncle Sam Bets Bill. All this would be of little interest to the people of the United States except that the treasury of the United States is now presented with a bill.

For there then appeared one Chandler Anderson, former clerk in the New York office of Ellhu Root, then Secretary of State, as special attorney for the Wales Island Packing Company as claimant for $31,000 alleged to have been suffered in damages for the abandoned packing sheds on Wales Island in Southeast Alaska.

And also appeared Senator Lodge as sponsor for a bill embodying the claim of $31,000, which claim Senator Lodge informed the Senate was entirely just. The bill appeared first in 1905, and has cropped up in each succeeding Congress.

Lodge, Root, et al. Senator Lodge and Ellhu Root, now Senator, then Secretary of State, both were members of the Alaska Boundary Commission and as such took part in the award in October, 1903, which surrendered to Great Britain jurisdiction over Wales Island.

The claim of $31,000 is based on the assumption that the new boundary made the Wales Island fishing grounds Canadian territory and raised the obstruction of an insurmountable tariff or fishing regulation which was responsible for putting the Wales Island Packing Company out of business.

The Pacific Fisherman, a monthly publication devoted to this specialty, is authorized for the statement that the reason the Wales Island Packing Company went out of business was lack of fish—not the decision of the Alaska boundary.

In an article published in November, 1903, on page 12, entitled, "Profitable Packing Without Fish," the true character of the Lodge claim is disclosed, and the facts are told concerning the small "runs" which were responsible for the abandonment of this packing station.

The bill was worked through the Committee on Claims of the Senate, and reported by Senator Keam of New Jersey on February 17, 1907. Ten days later, when it came up for consideration on the floor, Senator Overman of North Carolina objected and sent it to the calendar.

On that day Senator Lodge made a brief speech in defense of the claim, repeating the allegation of Chandler Anderson that the decision of the Alaska tribunal was responsible for the injury done to the American packers.

A letter from Senator Root was sent to the Committee on Claims indorsing the Chandler Anderson bill, and also

EDNA MAY WILL NOT COME BACK

The remarkable hit made by Edna May, now Mrs. Oscar Lewisohn, at a London theater in a revival of 'The

EDNA MAY

Belle of New York" for charity, brought her an offer of $3,750 a week. She refused because Oscar has cartloads of coin.

A letter from George B. Cortelyou and former Senator George Turner.

Of course, this is not a matter of great importance. The bill still sleeps, and probably will continue to do so, but the facts should be placed alongside Senator Lodge's activity in behalf of the French spoliation claims, and the amendment to the naval bill providing for the purchase of the Boston colliers, in order that the constituents of Senator Lodge and the country as a whole may know what are the interests served in the Senate by Henry Cabot Lodge.

REBEL FORCES ARE DEFEATED

El Paso, Texas, Feb. 28.—Advice received here today indicate that the Mexican federalists again have Francisco Madero and his insurgents "on the run."

A newspaper man returning from Ahuacana says when news was received of the approach of Colonel Rabago and his federalists, Madero's army set a freight train on fire and scattered in all directions in small bands, making for the mountains.

Madero stated that he would not begin fighting until he had an army of 4,000 men drilled and equipped. He said he expected to have his army in shape in thirty days to start on his march to Mexico City, and that his first victory would give him all troops and equipment needed "to run Diaz out of the country."

LORIMER VOTES AGAINST PEOPLE NAMING SENATORS

Washington, March 1.—Senator Lorimer, "sitting member" from Illinois, voted loud and clear against the resolution for the popular election of senator to-day.

Ten members of the Senate who will retire to private life next Saturday joined in the defeat of the resolution. They were: Balkeley (Rep.), Connecticut; Burrows (Rep.), Michigan; Dewey (Rep.), New York; Dick (Rep.), Ohio; Flint (Rep.), California; Hale (Rep.), Maine; Keam (Rep.), New Jersey; Scott (Rep.), West Virginia; Macey (Dem.), Mississippi; and Talliferro (Dem.), Florida. Four votes would have saved it.

FIND MUMMIFIED BABY IN PHYSICIAN'S DESK

Wichita, Kan., March 1.—The partially mummified body of a white girl baby about eight months old was found in the drawer of a desk at a second-hand store here to-day.

The desk was bought recently from R. Brown, a negro physician, who came here from Atchison, where he was county health officer. Brown, who is under arrest, says he bought the desk in Atchison from another negro doctor, J. A. Taylor, now of Columbia, Mo.

NEWS FROM THE WORLD OF SPORTS

COMMISSION WILL FIGHT BETTING, SAYS HERRMANN

Cincinnati, March 1.—A heavy frown crossed the brow of Garry Herrmann, president and chairman of the National Baseball Commission, when he was informed to-day that a group of bookmakers are making a "future book" on the races in the National and American leagues and the American Association.

"Any attempt to encourage betting on the national game will be fought to the bitter end by the National Commission," declared Chairman Herrmann.

The future book on baseball races is being backed by a group of bookmakers, who are operating from Newport, Ky., although their homes are in Cincinnati.

NELSON REFEREEES 6-ROUND GO AT ST. LOUIS TONIGHT

St. Louis, Mo., March 1.—Fight fans from St. Louis and Illinois towns will be treated to a good card of boxing bouts at the Edwardsville A. C. in Edwardsville, Ill., to-night. Harry Trendell, "the pride of Kerry Patch," will go on with Young Gordon of Chicago in the main event of the evening at 135 pounds. The bout is scheduled to go six rounds under the watchful eye of Battling Nelson, former world's lightweight champion. Nelson came over from Chicago especially to referee the fight. Two other bouts are scheduled.

NEW YORK AMERICANS LEAVE FOR HOT SPRINGS

New York, March 1.—Hal Chase, manager of the New York Americans, accompanied by Jack Knight, Bert Daniels and Ray Fisher, left for Hot Springs, Ark., this afternoon for the Yankees' Spring practice trip. At Philadelphia Chase will pick up Jack Quinn and Touch, and at Washington Catcher Blair will board the train.

By the time Chase arrives at the Springs there will be eighteen members of the team there ready for work.

After preliminary work Chase and his men will leave Hot Springs on March 16 for Athens, Ga.

REACH CLIMAX OF CARNIVAL; POLICE MAY RAID BALL

New Orleans, La., March 1.—With 50,000 visitors here New Orleans is celebrating Mardi Gras day, the climax of carnival festivities. The day parent of Rex has as its subject "Art and Sciences." At night Comus will entertain with twenty floats depicting "Familiar Quotations."

The District Attorney has ordered a score of police to attend the ball given by "Two Well-Known Gentlemen" to-night, and to make a raid if liquor is sold. This notorious revel has been given for a quarter of a century.

HE'LL PLAY WITH THE RED SOX THIS SEASON

Jack Killilay, pitcher, who was second in the Northwestern League winning column last season, has left to join the Boston Red Sox, who drafted him at the close of last season. He finished the season with a percentage of .708. Jack weighs 160 from the right side, bats 120 and fields .987.

Chance Pleaded With Cubs

West Baden, Ill., March 1.—With a team that reported in splendid physical condition and which, therefore, needs little preliminary work to get down to fighting weight and wind, Manager Chance took up the task of hardening of his players for the 1911 campaign to lift the National League pennant. The Cubs were all in uniform this afternoon and seven Manager Chance expressed himself as surprised with the ginger and general hustle his veterans were displaying.

SOME BASE STEALER IS PHIL COONEY WHO WILL PLAY WITH THE CUBS

Phil Cooney, shortstop, who did such stunts with the Spokane, Wash., baseball team last season that he was purchased by the Chicago Cubs, is touted as having a good chance to hold down the Cub short field this year. Cooney played in 125 games with Spokane last year, batted .266 and fielded .914. He was also one of the best base stealers in the Northwestern League.

Wolcott to Meet Hogan Soon

New York, March 1.—Ad Wolcott, lightweight champion, and "One Round" Hogan, the coast fighter, have been matched to box a rounds in this city on April 18.

GREAT BOXERS SIGN TO MEET

PACKEY MCFARLAND AND OWEN MORAN. These great little men have signed to meet at Billy Gibson's Fairmont Athletic Club, New York, March 14. The articles, calling for 135 pounds at 5 o'clock, will result in McFarland entering the ring close to 128 or 129 pounds, while Moran will not weigh more than 120, if he scales that high. The confidence of the little Briton must be unlimited, to give away so much tonnage to a boy of McFarland's class. He had to do it to get the bout. They go ten rounds.

PERTINENT SPORT PARAGRAPHS

"It is the mind that makes the body rich."

Don't know whether any one beat us to this, but if so the plagiarist isn't intentional. The swelling from John Evers' ankles seems to have gone upward. His most recent utterance is that he will sign with the Cubs when he's ready.

Texas leads the other Southern states with the music of the bat and ball.

Arthur Raymond is so proud of his degree of B. B. (bachelor of booze) that he displays the Dwight, Ill., fra pin in his label.

It is easy to believe that the lion and lamp will lie down together, now that Charlie Murphy and Clark Griffith have agreed upon something.

Suggests Billiard Leagues

Chicago billiardists take favorable notice of the plan recently proposed by Chairman W. F. Grower of the billiard committee of the Chicago Athletic Association for the formation of an inter-club league embracing athletic clubs all over the country. Grower suggested that instead of holding tourneys similar to the amateur championships, in which the annual contest was a three-cornered match, with only three players in the country having a chance to win, the clubs form a league, confining participation to bona fide members of the organization entered.

COURT SHIELDS FILTHY SHACK

Milwaukee Health Chief Is Balked by An Ancient Injunction.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 1.—That the capitalist owners of insanitary property, such as tenement houses, are not at the end of their rope when their buildings are condemned by the health department was shown recently in this city.

A three-story building, known as Brown Row, corner Wells and Second streets, was condemned recently by the health department on account of its generally insanitary condition.

Immediately the building was placarded, Dr. Kraft was notified by the attorneys for the owners that he and his department are in contempt of court and that they must keep "hands off" until a certain injunction shall have been dissolved.

It appears that the same building was condemned some seven years ago, but was at that time repaired, and the ban against it removed.

Later it was again condemned, and an appeal was made to the courts and an injunction was granted by Judge Halsey, which is still in force.

Was Vermin-Infested

Recently a roomer in the building came to the health commissioner, Dr. Kraft, to be examined, he being under the impression that he was afflicted with some terrible disease, on account of a rash with which his entire body was covered.

On examination Dr. Kraft found that the rash was nothing more or less than bed-bug bites, with which his body was covered from head to foot.

Court Helps Vermin

The building is in a terrible condition and a fit breeding place, not only for vermin of all kinds, but for disease as well. Still, both disease and vermin will continue to breed their kind so long as it shall please the court to say whether or not the building is a nuisance and a menace to its occupants.

BARE FIGHT ON PARCELS POST

Express Monopoly Extorts You by 'Triple Graduate' Robbery System.

BY GILSON GARDNER
Special Correspondence.

Washington, D. C., March 1.—The interstate commerce commission's first annual report on the statistics of express companies, just published, shows that 95 per cent of the number of pieces of express matter handled consists of packages weighing 100 pounds or less.

Evade Big Question

What proportion of this class of matter weighs 11 pounds or less, the probable maximum weight which would be allowed under a parcels post law—if we had one?

The commission's figures do not show this. Due to "the expenses involved," the commission has attempted to go back of the 100 pounds or less classification.

But a prominent official connected with the commission, who has had immediate charge of compiling certain portions of this report, estimates that between 75 and 90 per cent of matter weighing 100 pounds or less would weigh under 11 pounds, and thus could be carried under a parcels post system.

Why Parcels Post Is Fought

In other words, if we had a parcels post law, most of the express business practically three-fourths of it would inevitably go to the government.

Does this suggest a reason for the tremendous opposition being exerted by the express monopoly against any kind of a parcels post?

The parcels post convention which this country has with certain foreign countries allows a maximum of 11 pounds weight, at a rate of 12 cents per pound.

You can send an 11-pound package to Europe for $1.22, while it cost you 15 cents a pound to send merchandise across your city, and you can't send more than four pounds at any price.

Some Differences

Here is an illustration taken from the commission's report which will serve to show the difference in charges by an express company in competition with the postoffice and the bank, and where no competition is possible:

"Two shipments, one a 40-pound box, valued at $50, and the other a package of $1,000 in money, can be made for charges 25 per cent less than a single merchandise shipment of the same weight."

"The probable explanation of these apparent inconsistencies is found in the fact that charges for the transportation of currency are exposed to competition with the postoffice as well as with banks and other agencies of commercial exchange, whereas the shipment of valuable merchandise is a service in which the express companies are without competitors."

How Easy Money Comes

Take a shipment of ordinary merchandise weighing eight pounds and send it from Litchfield, Minn., to Telluride, Colo. This package would be handled by three companies, and under the "triple graduate" system of computing rates, would cost the shipper $2.55.

If two companies had handled it, the charges would have been $2.15. If one company could have handled the package the charges would have been $1.20.

If the United States government could handle it under a parcels post system, the cost would have been 98 cents.

Furthermore, the United States government would have carried it to the Philippines, for exactly the same amount of money, for that matter, as Porto Rico, Guam, Samoa, Hawaii, Alaska, Canada or Mexico!

"Graduated" Robbery

Speaking of the intricate and confusing system of "graduated rates" which the express companies have worked out, the commission says:

"The same lesson may be read from them all, namely, that the usual rates are no correct measure of the amounts which patrons pay for express service, and in general that the rate per pound is in inverse ratio to the weight of the package, and that the payment often increases with the number of express companies concerned."

This report is the first accurate information which the government has ever been able to obtain about the express business in the United States, and its revelations are startling.

Misled Public

"It shows not only that the express business is a practical monopoly, but that it has built up immense assets out of revenues derived from the public, with a very small initial investment of capital.

As long, therefore, as the express companies can stave off parcels post legislation, just so long can they continue to mislead the public by exorbitant rates for service in which they have no competition.

The commission makes significant comment on the balance sheet figures of express earnings which it presents:

"The balance sheet shows very clearly that it is through the profits of the business that the large assets have been accumulated, and it may be safely asserted that the original investment in this business as a whole was relatively insignificant.

The express business is perhaps the best illustration which the country affords of the accumulation of considerable assets out of revenues."

Moran in Windup of Training

New York, March 1.—Owen Moran, the English fighter, who is to meet Packey McFarland in this city on March 14, will leave Lake Placid the latter part of the week and will go to Lake Wood, where he will finish his training for the contest.

McFarland is expected here about March 6 and will finish his training at a roadhouse in Westchester.

Pipe the grin on Hal Chase's maw. Hal was a player when this picture was taken. He is still a player, with the added cares of manager tacked onto his shoulders. It will be curious if, after his first season in the American League as boss, he continues to sport so wide a grin. If he does he's even more of a wonder than he is now given credit for. As manager of the New York team the lively Californian has his work cut out for him. Last year his team finished on the heels of the Athletics, a position several others will try to crowd it from this season.

6,000 ATTEND HARDWARE DISPLAY AT COLISEUM

Calling the trade display that opened at the Coliseum last night a Hardware Show is misleading and still it is a hardware show in every sense of the term. Yet "hardware" covers a myriad of new and necessary things that the home-builder requires, thousands of things that the contracting builder can't dispense with, hundreds of new things that the up-to-date architect ought to know about and everything that a sportsman could desire aside from live game.

Home builders will find everything imaginable, from a furnace to a bath tub, or a washing machine to a talking machine or lawn mowers to ornamental ironwork and bronze. There are several displays of fire arms that will be of special interest to sportsmen.

The majority of the devices and appliances shown offer, as advantages, more work, better work and less labor. The crowd at the opening of the Hardware Show last night numbered nearly 6,000.

This display is being given by the manufacturers for the Illinois Retail Hardware Association, which begins its annual convention in the Coliseum Annex this morning. Grant W. Porter of Chicago is president of the organization which expects an attendance of 1,200 dealers.

Socialism ITS GROWTH AND OUTCOME.

By William Morris and Ernest Belfort Cox. One of the Socialist classics; until lately sold in this country at $1.25. Written in a most charming style, it traces the growth of society from savagery through barbarism, slavery and feudalism to capitalism, shows how capitalism carries within itself the seeds of its own destruction, and why the coming of Socialism is inevitable. It also has a very interesting chapter answering some of the many questions as to how the details of life will be arranged under the coming social order. DUNNE IS DEFEATED BY 1,556; THOMPSON REPUBLICAN SECOND

The bitter factional fight in both the Republican and Democratic parties reached a climax at the primaries yesterday and Carter H. Harrison came out of the fray with the Democratic nomination, Charles E. Merriam getting an easy victory over his Republican opponents.

GRAHAM DIDN'T COME BACK

Andrew J. Graham was tossed head first into his barrel and he and his manager, Roger C. Sullivan, never "came back."

Graham ran third at the Democratic primaries, far behind Edward F. Dunne, who ran close to Harrison.

WHAT MERRIAM SAID

"This nomination shows that the people still rule," said Charles E. Merriam, commenting on his nomination.

"I can say nothing," said Carter Harrison, whose followers were making very merry.

Edw. F. Dunne would not say whether or not he would support Harrison.

Dunne still has hopes that he received the nomination. "We lacked enough funds to get the vote out and to maintain an efficient organization," said James Hamilton Lewis, one of the chief Dunne lieutenants.

GRAHAM NOT AT LA SALLE

Andrew J. Graham did not show up at the elaborate headquarters at the La Salle Hotel last night.

"If you want any statements come around to-morrow," was the message from the chief of Graham's aids.

The votes for the mayoralty winners, on the face of the police returns, give Harrison 55,069 votes and Merriam 54,228.

HOW VOTE STOOD

The also-rans in the Mayoralty primaries polled, according to the police returns, the following vote:

Democrats—Dunne, 53,513; Graham, 38,541. Republicans—John R. Thompson, 26,108. John F. Smulski and Tom Murray were lost in the dim distance.

The primary fight was the hottest in the history of Chicago. Harrison was fought by the public school teachers. Graham also put up the bitterest kind of a fight against him.

The question of the source of campaign barrels was a great feature of the campaign.

Apart from the mud-slinging, the campaign was the means of demonstrating a new method of electioneering—that of adopting advertising schemes on a scale unparalleled in the nation.

USED THE BILL BOARDS

Every spare bill board in Chicago—a city of bill boards—has been taken by the campaign managers. It is estimated that more than $250,000 has been expended in securing bill board space and in printing the immense 20-sheet poster cartoons that have been used by the various candidates.

Electric signs of the most costly type have been erected in every section of the city and a small fortune has been expended in expensive banners that wave from hundreds of buildings.

Newspaper advertising has been indulged in by every one of the candidates, while expensive books and pamphlets have been thrown broadcast.

Carter H. Harrison has been Mayor of Chicago four times. His father before him was Mayor. While in office he played for years with the gas and traction situation, leaving it in a tangled condition at the close of his last term.

About Merriam

Charles Edward Merriam is a member of the faculty of the University of Chicago. He is the author of several books on government. He was a member of the Chicago charter convention.

He has served one term in the City Council and was chairman of the commission on city expenditure.

That commission after unearthing an appalling condition of graft did nothing real to bring any of the crooks to justice. Neither Merriam nor any other member fought against the extreme laxity with which Wayman handled the graft cases.

Merriam overlooked many chances to cause the appointment of a special State's Attorney to adequately prosecute the City Hall crooks.

Dunne as Independent. After the election returns had been announced there were rumors that the followers of Edward F. Dunne and many of the Graham backers formed a plan to run Dunne as an independent candidate for Mayor. This rumor lacked confirmation.

While Merriam overlooked many opportunities to put big business crooks where they rightfully belonged, behind the bars of a jail, Harrison has been guilty of equality as a public official.

Under his administration the Illinois tunnel steal was carried out. He had behind him in this campaign Bobbie Burke, whom he once had to discharge from the position of City Oil Inspector for grafting.

Harrison practically won his nomination through the support of Hinky Dink in the First Ward.

The candidacy of Andrew J. Graham was backed by the Peoples Gas Light and Coke Company and by Roger C. Sullivan. The defeat of Graham is significant for many reasons.

Harrison received the support of Heards, of Tom Carey, notorious as the "red-headed chieftain," and now head of the Illinois Brick Company, and of the First Ward machine under the able leadership of Bath House John and Hinky Dink.

Thompson, who made a miserable showing, was on the unfair list of the

First Ward (29 precincts)—Harrison, 2,980; Graham, 510; Dunne, 522; Merriam, 289; Thompson, 5,3; Smulski, 91. Second Ward (39 precincts)—Harrison, 1,707; Graham, 904; Dunne, 923; Merriam, 1,205; Thompson, 842; Smulski, 753.

Fifth Ward (40 precincts)—Harrison, 1,087; Graham, 1,920; Dunne, 2,630; Merriam, 509; Thompson, 574; Smulski, 326.

STATEMENTS ON PRIMARY RESULTS

BY WILLIAM E. RODRIGUEZ, Socialist Candidate for Mayor of Chicago.

The result at the primaries was in many ways a surprise. It is astonishing that Carter H. Harrison could come back.

The nomination of Merriam, I feel, shows that the people were so disgusted with Fred Busse that they sought an "honest" man for Mayor.

HARRISON WITH OLD GUARD. Harrison stands with the old guard of the Democratic party, the gang of professional politicians. Merriam stands for a sort of La Folletteism, with which people are still led to vote old party tickets.

There are things which Merriam stands for and which would be beneficial to the people of Chicago, but Merriam will not receive the support of the Republican organization at the polls any more than he would be supported by that party if elected Mayor.

Of course the time will come when people in Chicago will see the fundamental difference between the purposes of the old parties and the Socialist party, and then the experience of Milwaukee will be repeated.

SOCIALIST VOTE WILL ASTONISH. The Socialist vote at the April election will astonish Chicago.

A man like Merriam is out of place in the Republican party. In time I hope he and men of his type will have the good sense to become Socialists.

THE CHICAGO DAILY SOCIALIST

Entered as second-class matter, Dec. 22, 1904, at P. O. Chicago, under act March 3, 1879. Issued by the Workers Publishing Co. etc., 166-182 Washington St., Chicago, Ill.

Chicago Mayoralty Candidates

The shrewd old politician, Carter H. Harrison, has won the Democratic nomination for mayor of Chicago. Charles E. Merriam, the University of Chicago professor and alderman from the Seventh ward is the choice of the Republicans.

THE SLOGAN OF HARRISON WAS 70-CENT GAS.

The gas company does not object to that. Harrison should have gone out for 30-cent gas, or GAS AT COST.

Seventy-cent gas is an outrage on the people, but they were caught because it sounds better than 85-cent gas.

The gas company knows that the public won't stand for the present abnormal rate much longer and 70-cent gas is quite satisfactory to the gas crowd.

Moreover, Harrison will see to it that this reduction is not made for some time. He may advise it toward the latter portion of his term and make it a campaign issue in 1915 again.

As for the aid Harrison was expected to give the working class you might as well dismiss the thought. He is the most willing servant of the powers that be in the city of Chicago today.

The very papers that are responsible for his nomination are now strike-bound. What would you expect Harrison to do about it if he were already in power?

And Merriam! It is almost pathetic to consider him. Posing as a comparatively clean man he lined up with the rottenest cut throat gang that has ever invaded our city.

The Republican newspapers fell to his support and gave him publicity. The craving of the people as a whole is for decency, and in their despair the so-called better element voted for him.

Being of a capitalist turn of mind he can be depended upon by the monied men, and for that reason big business supported him to the finish.

As far as serving big business is concerned Harrison and Merriam are equally satisfactory. Both are dependable and true.

But whoever would suspect Merriam of taking any interest in the workers? What has he done in the city council? Has he ever lifted his voice for justice to the toilers in the entire history of his political career?

In the garment workers' strike? Yes, he took part in the conference, but he spoke for the employers and only advised that the strikers go back to work.

Where would you expect Merriam to stand in the present printers' strike? Would he support the Record-Herald, the Tribune and the other sheets that have joined the Hearst forces against labor?

What do you think? We need not even discuss Rodriguez, the Socialist candidate. Everybody knows that he is bound by his party and the principles of the Socialist party.

Just read the platform and see for yourself. EVEN IF MERRIAM COULD GO INTO THE MAYOR'S CHAIR UNHAMPED AND FREE AND COULD PUT INTO REALIZATION HIS HIGHEST IDEALS, HE WOULD BE FAR BELOW RODRIGUEZ.

FOR MERRIAM'S IDEAL IS PRIVATE OWNERSHIP by the few of the means of life, which means starvation, suffering, oppression, class war and corruption, while RODRIGUEZ AND THE SOCIALIST PARTY'S IDEAL IS COLLECTIVE OWNERSHIP in the means of life, which means true democracy, plenty for all, comfort, justice and brotherhood.

Where does Rodriguez and the Socialist party stand in this strike? With the workers. That is where we always stand. Now choose and then act and then work.

The Strike of the Printers

The printers of the Chicago Hearst papers went out on strike at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

According to the agreement of the newspaper association all the other daily papers declared a lockout. This closes all the daily papers in Chicago except the Daily Socialist.

This paper is not tied up by the capitalist association. It is tied to the workers and will serve them as far as in its power, both while they are on strike and after the strike is settled.

The printers are invited to use the Daily Socialist to make the strike as successful as possible. In offering this service the Daily Socialist is only repeating its standing offer to all workers. The policy of the Chicago Daily Socialist is to help the workers and especially stand by them in critical struggles such as the strike and the lockout.

The Typographical union has a spokesman in the Daily Socialist that will tell the truth and inform the rank and file of the strikers, thus cementing them together for intelligent action.

With this instrument the issue of the strike can be nothing but a speedy and satisfactory settlement.

FOLKS, FORKS AND FODDER

PROFESSOR CHARLES ZEUBLIN OF CHICAGO UNIVERSITY SAYS THAT BY HIS SKILL IN THE USE OF THE KNIFE, FORK AND SPOON, MAN SHOWS HIS ADVANCEMENT IN CIVILIZATION.

MESSAGES - By Rolla Myer

"It is not simply that retailers DO NOT cut their prices," iterated Demogorion, "but that as a class they CAN NOT substantially reduce their profit rates and survive in their present vocation." "An average profit of only one and two-thirds per cent on the sales of a sixty-odd million dollars business (like that of a notorious Chicago CATALOGUE HOUSE), would yield a net income of a million dollars a year—quite enough to procure a real imported 'duke mixture' for each of the proprietor's daughters, and to send each of his sons to congress.

Same Old Gag

A cable from Berlin states that the emperor's brother, Prince Henry, in an address to the veterans at their reunion, told them that before the year is out they might have the opportunity to prove their loyalty against "Fomentors of lawlessness." It goes without saying that the culprits referred to by His Royal High Jinks are the Socialists and shows us that they have the capitalists on the jump.

A Chinese Factory in France

The most up-to-date factory in France, and perhaps in Europe, has, states a Paris correspondent, just been established here by a Chinaman, and all its employees are young Chinese. The factory aims at nothing less than the production of semiarificial food, something like the famous nutritive pills of the late Prof. Berthelot. The factory is established on a very solid financial basis, too, with a capital of $400,000, all subscribed by Chinese imbued with modern ideas.

"THEN IT HAPPENED"

The tooth ached. Intensely. It was a back tooth known as a molar and was fastened to the bone of the man's jaw with three prongs of roots, as they are called. It had been planted there forty odd years ago and was something of a fixture. Therefore the man shrank from having it pulled. He felt that parting would be such sweet sorrow.

IRREVERENT

Robert, aged ten, was playing with the other boys on the corner of 15th and Tioga streets, when his mother, who had been listening to his conversation, called him. "Robert," she began, in a grievous tone, "I never thought I'd hear you swearing."

THE HUMAN DRIFT

By Jack London (Reprinted From the Forum by Permission.)

(Continued From Yesterday.) It is undeniable that population will increase prodigiously—just as it has increased prodigiously during the last few centuries, following upon the increase in food-getting efficiency.

The magnitude of population in that future day is well-nigh unthinkable. But there is only so much land and water on the surface of the earth. Man, despite his marvelous accomplishments, will never be able to increase the diameter of the planet.

The old days of virgin continents will be gone. The habitable planet, from ice-cap to ice-cap, will be inhabited. And in the matter of food-getting, as in everything else, man is only finite. Undreamed efficiencies in food-getting may be achieved, but, soon or late, man will find himself face to face with Malthus' grim law. Not only will population catch up with subsistence, but it will press against subsistence, and the pressure will be pitiless and savage.

Somewhere in the future is a date when man will face, emphatically, the bitter fact that there is not food enough for all of him-to-eat. When this day comes, what then? Will there be a veritable day of old obsolete wars? In a saturated population life is always cheap, as it is cheap in China, in India, today. Will new human drifts take place, questing for room, carving earth-space out of crowded life? Will the sword again?

"Follow, O follow, then, Heroes, my harvesters! Where the tall grain is ripe Thrust in your sickles! Stripped and adust In a stubble of empire, Nothing and binding The full graves of sovereignty." (Continued...)

Even if, as of old, man should wander hungry, sword in hand, slaying and being slain, the relief would be only temporary. Even if one race alone should hew down the last survivor of all the other races that one race, drifting the world around, would saturate the planet with its own life and again press against subsistence. And in that day, the death rate and the birth rate will have to balance. Men will have to die, or be prevented from being born. Undoubtedly a higher quality of life will obtain, and also a slowly decreasing fecundity. But this decrease will be so slow that the pressure against subsistence will remain. The control of progeny will be one of the most important problems of man and one of the most important functions of the state.

Disease, from time to time, will ease the pressure. Diseases are parasites, and it must not be forgotten that just as there are drifts in the world of man, so are there drifts in the world of micro-organisms—hunger-quests for food. Little is known of the micro-organic world, but that little is appalling; and no census of it will ever be taken, for there is the true, literal "abyssal fecundity."

Multitudinous as man is, all his totality of individuals is as nothing in comparison with the inconceivable vastness of numbers of the micro-organisms. In your body, or in mine, right now, are swarming more individual entities than there are human beings in the world today. It is to us an invisible world. We only guess its nearest confines. With our powerful microscopes and ultramicroscopes, enlarging diameters twenty thousand times, we catch but the slightest glimpses of that profundity of infinitesimal life.

Little is known of that world, save in a general way. We know that out of it arise diseases, new to us, that afflict and destroy man. We do not know whether these diseases are merely the drifts, in a fresh direction, of already-existing breeds of micro-organisms, or whether they are new, absolutely new, breeds themselves just spontaneously generated.

The latter hypothesis is tenable, for if spontaneous generation still occurs on earth, it is far more likely to occur in the form of simple organisms than of complicated organisms.

Another thing we know, and that is that it is in crowded populations that new diseases arise. They have done so in the past. They do so today. And no matter how wise are our physicians and bacteriologists, no matter how successfully they cope with these invaders, new invaders continue to arise—new drifts of hungry life seeking to devour us. (To Be Continued.)

Observations

TWO MILLION people starving in China and no crops until May. The price of one first-class battleship would save them. LOOK for a full vote in Indiana in 1912. They've made it unlawful not to vote—$100 fine and thirty days in jail. Bet they'll vote, all right. WOMEN don't want to vote, hey? Probably not. Only 95 per cent of 'em registered for the recall election in Seattle. MR. TAFT is issuing written permits for Mexican regulars to pass through United States territory and issuing warrants for insurgents who try to go pass. Mr. Taft must be a regular.

HIS EDUCATION

"What is a college, papa?" "A college, Pauline, is a cross between a country club and an orphan asylum." "Then why do such nice boys go there, papa?" "Because rich boys from sixteen to twenty are too old to be spanked and not old enough to reason." "Do they learn to reason in college?" "Not if the reverend professors can help it." "Then why do they go?" "They go to be got rid of, because they would misbehave at home." "But don't their parents teach them morals, papa?" "Nay, nay, Pauline; it's cheaper to get it done by hired professors."

REASSURING

Nervous Party—The train seems to be traveling at a fearful rate, ma'am. Elderly Female—Yes, ain't it? My Bill's a drivin' of theingin, an' 'e can make 'er go when 'e's got a drop of drink in 'im.—Tit-Bits.
