City Attorney Hoan Shows How Fight Against Odds Progress.

Everyone admits that the biggest fight of the Socialist administration in Milwaukee is to brush aside the cobwebs of the past in order to accomplish some-

The old parties have never attempted to do this. The big attack on the Socialist administration at the present time consists of belittling the efforts of the Socialists because they are not work

Socialist Oity Attorney Daniel Hoan tells of part of the fight of the Social-ist administration in the accompanying article.

It should be clipped by everyone having the interests of the Socialist move ment at heart and kept for referen is attacked. The article is as follows

BY DANIEL HOAN Socialist City Attorney of Milwaukee.

When the Socialist administration as-sumed the reins of government in the sumed the reins of government in the city of Milwaukee, they were confronted by the fact that this city was still be-ing governed by a charter passed by the state legislature in 1874, or, in other words, laws that were framed to meet conditions of the city of less than oue-third its present population and based upon conditions entirely different from those which confront the city at the present time.

Pledges Are Kept

As the city officials took immediate steps to carry out the platform upon which they were elected, it became my duty, as city attorney, to find a way in which these measures could be enacted into law so as not to conflict with the terms of the charter, the state laws and the constitution.

laws and the constitution.

Needless to say, as our record has shown, we found ways and means by which many of the piedges of the party have been enacted into valid ordi-

I advised him that under the charter the Commissioner of Public Works, unler Section 18 of Chapter 5, is authorized to do such work, provided he is first authorized to proceed by a three-fourths vote of all the members elect of the common council.

The minority in the common council, consisting of Republicans and Democrats, had sufficient votes to prevent the administration from doing this work.

How to Carry Project

As a result, the commissioner was compelled to let this public work out by contract, and the contra by contract, and the contractors will of compensation can be written into the now reap their profits until either the state legislature sees fit to amend the charter of the city of Milwaukee, or the people thereof elect Socialists to the common council in a sufficient number to carry through the above project.

The Socialist desired to abolish the office of water registrar and to consolidate his office with that of the city treasurer, and thus save the expense of the needless duplication of work as referred to.

I was obliged to decke that as both of the above offices were established by state law, the municipality had no authority to abolish either office or con-

Demands of Toilers in Life-Killing Industry Are Conceded.

The Human Hair Workers who struck last Saturday against a wholesale re-duction in wages and for the right to organize have won their fight.

Demands Conceded

At a conference Thursday between Attorney Meyer Rossen and the strike committee acting for the strikers, an N. L. Naraski, owner of the Sanitas Hair Roll company, where the strik was called, all the strikers' demands were conceded and they are to return to work Monday.

The strike was the result of a 80 per ent reduction in wages. The men were notified that after April 15 their wage would be cut from 35, 25 and 15 cents to 25, 15 and 10 cents for the different grades of work.

When the men started to organi of the most active were discharged. The men demanded that the six man be taken back and that there should be no cut in their wages. Their demands were refused and they walked out in a body.

Conditions Bad

The work consists in bleaching, dying and making fine hair out of coarse black hair. This is done by boiling the hair in great vata of peroxide and ammonia.

MINERS AND OTHER WORKERS CONTRIBUTE TO $25,000 FUND

We are still at the business of raising the $25,000 fund. Since our last report several good communications and donations have come in.

The following letter comes from the miners of Carrier Mills, Ill., and we publish it herewith that you may have a chance to catch its spirit. Other good letters also follow:

Spread False Impression

It is reported on the best authority that the big business interests of San Francisco and many smaller ones as well, are systematically preparing for an attempt to put San Francisco on an open shop tasis. open shop tasts.

It seems certain that recent efforts in

It seems certain that recent efforts in the way of advertising have been an important part of this preparation. From Atlantic to Pacific the false impression has been spread that the Pacific coast, and particularly San Francisco, is in need of workmen. In a recent interview given in New York and published by newspapers from New York to San Francisco, I. W. Hellman, who is a banker and known to be an enemy of organized labor, is quoted as making the following statement:

"Just now our only difficulty is lack of labor. Never was there a time when abor was so much in demand. All of our California industries are going ahead at an amazing rate and as soon as we can get enough men to do the work, we will show the rest of the world that we have only begun."

That is a lie.

State Labor Commissioner John P.

State Labor Commissioner John P. McLaughlin, after the most careful investigation of industrial conditions in San Francisco, has reported that at least 40 per cent of the classified laborers now in San Francisco are without work and that 20 per cent of those employed work only three days out of every six.

There can be no possible doubt of the accuracy of his estimate.

For many weeks there have been rumors of an impending industrial struggle in San Francisco.

mors of an impending industrial strug-gle in San Francisco.

An attempt was openly made at the last legislature to establish the open shop in the building of the Panama Fair in 1915, when the World's Fair com-mittee, composed of business men, at-tempted unsuccessfully to insert an open shop clause in a bill for a $5,000,-000 state bond issue for the exposition.

Employers Raise Fund

A prominent banker told me recently that he shad been approached for a contribution for a fund to be used to put San Francisco on an open shop basis. He was given to understand that an attack was soon to be made on organized labor. He was not informed of the details of the plan. He refused to be a party to the undertaking.

The labor leaders here are doing everything in their power to maintain peaceful industrial conditions in the rehabilitated city. They look upon the at-peacerul industrial conditions in the re-habilitated city. They look upon the at-tempt to pledge the state to open shor-in the building of the fair, and upon the methods being used to flood the city with thousands of additional unem-ployed men and women us efforts to lay the foundation for an open shop war.

Many Idle

What I witnessed in the state capital during the last session of the legislature, what I had been told by representatives of organized labor and of the business interests, together with what anyone may witness on the streets of San Francisco any day, lead me to the belief that the plans that have undoubtedly been laid for the establishment of onen shee in San Francisco, have not eary been laid for the establianment of open about in San Francisco, have not been abandened.

If you are looking for work, don't come to Ean Francisco now.

You will be disappointed.

Your coming will put a weapon in the hands of the enemies of imbor, will smake organized labor's defense just so much more difficult. much more difficult.

London, April 20.—Will Godfrey, general organizer of the London Carmen's Trade Union, gave an interesting address at the Ellephant and Castle, Old Kent road, under the suspices of the New Cross branch of the society. During the last few years the funds of the union have increased, so that there are now some thousands of pounds at the back of its members. Many concessions have been gained for its members, wages increased, hours of labor reduced and the working conditions of a very targe number have been improved. Mr. Godfrey said he believed that the time had arrived when there should be but one union for all vehicle workers throughout the country, having one head office, one union card, one con-ribution, and one set of benefits, with a proper understanding as to wages, hours of work, and working conditions generally.

Bad Housing Among Toilers Is Feature of the Health Review.

The report of the department of health for the four years of the Busse administration shows some of the things that could have been bettered by a So cialist control of the city, but for the hetterment of which the health depart-ment has only vague hopes.

Babies of Poor Suffer

One of the main features of that nature is the bad housing of the workers, especially those whose wages are not protected by labor organizations.

Another thing which appalled the authorities was the mortality among the habies of the poor. These deaths were due in the main, the report saintis, to do not the poor of the poor. poverty and the fact that the mothers were overworked.

Poverty Is Patal

The so-called "blessings of poverty" are hard 'nt." the report, which is the result of the s. 'st widespread health campaig. Chicago. 's yet known.
The 'port tells thas 'n 1909, for instancy, 7,970 bables died, most of whom, of 'urse, came from the homes of the poor.

In discussing infant mortality the re-ort says in part:

"Poverty increases infant mortality
by decreasing the number of mothers who nurse their bables.

who nurse their babies.

The percentage of methers among the non-workers who fail to nurse their babies, from other considerations, is small. In addition, the safeguards which they throw around their babies hold the death rate to the normal.

Milk Less Nourishing

"Poverty decreases the quality of the mother's milk among those mothers who nurse their babies. Poverty causes crowding, the use of rooms ill-ventilated and poorly lighted, unhysteric, located imparts of town where there are the most garbage and the most files.

the most garbage and the most files.

"The poor baby gets the poorest quality of milk which is allowed, and the nursing falls either to an overworked mether or to small children."

The remedy for the housing of the families of workers in small, insanitary frame houses, which are, however, better than the crowded tenements, suggested in the report, is the building of model homes near factories.

Homes in Bad Repair

In discussing the housing conditions, the report says in part, discussing the fact that most of the Chicago workers live in small frame bouses;

"The majority of these houses are in bad repair. The worst of them are being held by their owners in their present condition awaiting the exten-sion of business or factories to the neighborhood.

Among the Scrappers

New York.—Friends of Al Kubiak, the Mchigan giant, say today he is beginning to get used to being sent to dreamland by negro fighters. His fight with Joe Jennett last night however, gave a further line on Sam Langford's scrapping ability. Sam put Al out in two rounds when they met, but last night took Jeannette nine to end Kubiak's aspirations.

If Tom McMahon, of Pittsburg, stacks up well in his ten-round go with Sailor Burke tonight at New York he will have a chance to see what he can do against Hugo Kelly, Klaus or Papko in the near future. McMahon wants to fight one of these three to show he is of title timber.

Mike Cantwell, who recently returned to Chicago from Oklahoma, declares Carl Morris, the Bapuipa "hope," is a "counterfeit," and one of the biggest sokes that ever crawled into a roped arena. Cantwell saw Morris fight Schreck.

New York.—Patsy Kline, the Newark feather-weight, who has been out of the ring for several months owing to trouble with one of his eyes, will be seen in action again on May 4. He signed up today to fight Battling Mantell, the local feather-weight, a tenround bout on that day.

A ten-round bout between Jimmy Clabby, the Milwaukee wester-weight, and Hugo Kelly, at Milwaukee, on May 30, before the National A. C., is in the embryo, according to Frank Mulkern, Clabby's manager. Mulkern declares since he returned from England, Clabby is confident he can defeat the Chicago middle-weight, and he is anxious to get a chance at him.

New York.—Jack Dillon, the promis-ting middle-weight of Indianapolis, who smeets Jimmy Gardner for six rounds in Pitteburg on Saturday night, has signed up for two more matches. On April 28 he will fight Frank Mante. Afteen rounds at Dayton, Ohio, and ou May 9 he will meet Tony Caponi in a twelve-round bout at Winnipeg, Can-ada.

Rugo Kelly will come into Chicago today from Antioch and wind up his training for his bout with "Cyclone" Johnny Thompson. He will work out in a local gymnasium. Thompson will do nost of his work at Syracuse, but plans to come to Chicago next Saturday, just to show his local admirers how good he is. The advance sale for the battle at Racine, Wis., on April 28, indicates that an immense crowd of fight fans who come failed to land a knockout will be present.

27TH PREPARES FOR 1912 POLLS

"Don't Chew the Rag, Work" Is the New Slogan Adopted.

Three new moves were made by the 27th ward branch of the Socialist party Tuesday night at tis meeting held at Conrad's nill. All three moves aim to increase the efficiency of the ward or-ganization as regards precinct and dis-trict organization.

Ward Meetings Abolished

Ward Meetings Abolished

The biggest move was to abolish the "rag-chewing," time-wasting, general ward membership meeting. The business of the branch will hereafter be taken care of in the thirteen district organizations and by a ward executive committee composed of one delegate from each district and foreign organization. This committee will divide itself into sub-committees if it so desires.

District delegates will be abolived from all other Socialist branch duties except the paying of dues and the distribution of literature.

To Organize Precincts &

The next step to be taken by the committee which is now in charge of the ward's affairs will be to organize every precinct in the ward and provide for precinct captains and aids.

Advertisements will be placed in all

Advertisements will be placed in all of the neighb#hood papers announcing the dates on which the different branches meet, also giving the meeting places and the names, addresses and telephone numbers of the secretaries.

"The plan of the 27th ward, I think, is a good one," said County Secretary Larsen of the Socialist party today. "It will give opportunity to the members to work in their own precisets and districts, thus coming closer to the real lives of the workers in their homes. "If the precipict organization plans

"If the precinct organization plans are carried out it will mean the positive ejection next year of a Socialist to the are carried out it will mean the postation election next year of a Socialist to the city hall. It is the same kind of work accomplished in Germany by the Social-Democrats. The lacandaisted manner of carrying on business in most of our locals here would not be tolerated in Germany.
Plan Is Democratic

In Berlin the detail work of the party is all taken care of by commit-tees and therefore the individual com-rade, instead of wasting his time in ragchewing, gets busy in the shop and in his neighborhood.

"The 27th ward plan, as I see it, gives more control to the membership at large in the different districts, as each delegate will report what is going on in the ward. Now very few of the members are intimately acquinited with Socialist affairs in the big branch."

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAP-TERS.

"Burning Daylight"-Elam Harnish is introduced to the render as he enters a Circle City dence hall, saloon and gambling house. The men and women all admire him, for he is of the type Essentially a man's agan, Burning Essentially a man's man, burning paylight resents, or rather fears, the wiles of the women who frequent the dance hall. He is afraid to be even civil to a woman, because he dreads the idea of being mastered by anybody or anything, and to surrender to a woman means, in his mind, that he is connected.

As the indomitable man goes on his way the difficulties that come to him seem too vast to be overcome, and his hardy Indian companion and his dogs are remorsely prodded on by this man from the southland, who, by all the books, should be the softer and should succumb first. At last the Indian breaks. He is hashed to the sled, and, the should should be a succumb first. breaks. He is lashed to the sled, and, thus handlcapped, Daylight gets into Dyea.

books, should be the softer and should succured first. At last the Indian breaks. He is lasted to the sied, and, thus handcapped. Daylight gets unit to Dyes.

Daylight leved the high places, and though few high places, and though few high places, and though few high places, and the might was his mere very experience, he had made a point of sitting in the highest he had never beard his name, but it was known, far and wide in the vast silent North by whites and Indians and Eskimes, from Bering Sea, to the Passes, from the head reaches of remotest rivers to the head reaches of remotest rivers to the land remotest to the land reaches of remotest rivers to the land remotest riv a woman means, in his mited, that he is conquered.

Drink leads to boasting, and in the turmoil that follows Burning Daylight shows his amaxing muscular strength. He wins all the tests and downs all the glants that come before him.

Then comes a poker game—the greatest ever played in the Klondike, Burning Daylight's luck deserts him in the end, and he rises from the table pennices—work than broke.

Then the indomitable courage of this master among men shows itself. He declares himself in readiness to accomplish an impossible task—to run the plish an impossible task—to run the mail to Dyea and back with a dog team and an Indian.

"I swore in 'S3 never to go out till I'd made my stake," he exclaimed, "and I swear once more, by the mill talls of hell and the head of John the Baptist, I'll never hit for the outside till I make my plic, and I tell you-all, and now, it's got to be an almighty big plic."

And so Burning Daylight goes forth, over the frozen, trackless wastes, while behind him bets are made and taken of the chances of his returning inside of sixty days. For they all know he will return. He is Burning Daylight, and Ben Davis must buy them. Further more, all drinks and general treats that Daylight was guilty of ought to be paid the want of the profess. landed.

more, all drinks and general treats that Daylight was guilty of ought to be paid by the house, for Daylight brought much custom to it whenever he made a night. Bettles was the spokesman, and his argument, tersely and offensive-ly vernacular, was unanimously ap-ulanded.

Daylight grinned, stepped aside to the realette table and bought a stack of yellow chips. At the end of ten min-utes he weighed in at the scales and

What Resolution Says

The resolution reads:
"Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled (two-thirds of each House concurring therein). That the following article is proposed as an amendment to the constitution of the United States, which, when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several states, shall be valid to all intents and purposes as a part of the constitution:

visions, went moose hunting, got all ready for the summer's work and then loafed the bleak, dark months strough in the big central camps, such as Circle City and Forty Mile.

"Winter diggin's sure comin'," Daylight was tired, proi. tired. Even his iron body acknowledged weariness. Every muscle was clamdring for cheen his iron body acknowledged weariness. Every muscle was clamdring for a new kind of mining. What's to prevent wood burning, and sinking shafts and drifting along bedrock? Won't rail again. All this physical protest revent wood burning, and sinking shafts and drifting along bedrock? Won't need to timber. That frozen muck and gravel 'll standa till hell is froze and tits mill tails is turned to ice cream. Why, they'll be working pay streaks a the time to pile deed upon deed, to fluundred feet deep in them days that's comin'. I'm sure going along with you all, Elijah."

Elijah laughed, gathered his two partners up, and was making a second attempt to roach the door.

"Hold on," Daylight called. "I sure mean it."

The three men turned back suddenly upon him, in their faces surprise, delight and incredulty.

"G'wan, you're foolin'," said Finn, the other lumberjack, a quiet, steady, life the face of his new partners' cabin, the other lumberjack, a quiet, steady, life the working pay streaks, a first had a drink, or a dance, or seen a soul in two months. You-all get to bed.

I'll call you all at five."

And for the rest of the night he danced on his stocking feet, and at five in the morning, rapping thunderously the other lumberjack, a quiet, steady, life the song that had given him his name:

"There's my dawgs and s'ed," Day-

Berger's Contention

"Our constitution is antiquated, o'solete and really a hindrance to any reasonable growth in our public life, and therefore it should be changed.

"Our present constitution was framed at a time when this nation was born, and when the country had about three million inhabitants. At that time the people were in the main hunters and farmers in arms, with a small merchant class in New York, Philadelphia and Boston and cotton planters in the South.

"There were few or no manufacturers.
Manufacturing had been held down by England, and this fact was one of the causes of the revolution. There were no rallroads, no elegraphs and no tele-physics. A corporation in those days meant a city. "Since that time tremendous economic changes have taken piace. Steam and electricity have been utilized. Wonder-ful inventions have been made. The en-tire economic structure has been

"And yet with all these wonderful charges which the framers of the constitution could not have foreseen," declared Berger, "we are still living under a constitution made for hunters and farmers. And what is worse, this constitution, since its adoption, has been materially changed but once and that materially changed but once, and that through a terrific war.'

through a terrific war."
Continuing, Berger said:
"A constitution is a cloak for a body politic and must suit the requirements of the time. There is really no example in history wherein a grown-up nation has been compelled to wear the swaddling clothes of childhood as we are.
"My amendment," asserts Berger, "proposes a method by which the people can have a constitution which would be in accord with the Socialist life of to-day."

The Awakening

There's a call in every village-there's a stir in every street

There's Rebellion in the novel and the hunted look is gone

There's a call in every village—there's a stir in every street. There's a murmur in the distance as of countless marching feet: On the highways sounds the ceho of that voice uprisen high—As it rings with quick rejoinder from the earth unto the sky: There's a song flung to the breezes and a thousand humans rise To the ranks they add their numbers, sending up their eaker cries. There's a movement stealing forward; there's a quickening abroad—Look and listen, feel it thrill you, humble children of the sod'

There's hope sprung in the shadows—there's a gimpse of coming dawn; And the gloomy eye has wakened and the soul once more is free; There's a sweet song in each being in that mighty human sea; And the waves are speeding shoreward to the goal of brotherhood. There's a roar of many voices in the tempest of their mood. They can feel it deep within them—they can hear it in the street. They can sense it rolling forward—they can hear its steady beat.

They can see the vision dawning, daily growing more replete—
For a murmur in the distance tells of countless in rehing feet;
Where the forges shrick and glimmer, where the slaves move to and fro,
In the coal mines grim and sooty, there's an answer to the foe;
There's a reason why the shoulders once so narrow and so bent.
Now are straightened, now unburdened in the prison they are pent—
Once the eye looked outward hopeless, now the light is calm and clear;
There's an impulse in each body—there's a shunning of all fear.

The Rights of Capital and Labor

Hon. Francis E. Baker has an instructive article on the above subject in the March Illinois Law Review. He traces the development of the modern ideas of the rights of labor from the time when

The laborer was no more than a chattel appurtenant to the land or business in which he worked; that his hours of toil and his rate of wages were fixed by statute; that it was an offense to refuse to work for anyone who demanded it; that if he should flee from one county to another he could be arrested and brought back; and that to combine with his fellows to secure any improvement in compensation or conditions of service was a crime, for which, according to the enormity of the particular offense, he might be jailed, pilloried, or have his ears cut off or suffer transportation or death," to the present day, when capital and labor stand "equal before the Judge Baker recognizes the conflict between capital and labor

"Where lies the conflict between labor and capital? from one fund, from the sale of their joint product, must come both the wages of labor and the dividends of capi-tal. The more of the fund the one gets the less remains for the other. This struggle in which each seeks his own benefit and advantage, like the struggle between buyers and sellers, is an inevitable feature of individualism—a condition which mankind cannot complete'v destroy until government becomes either all or nothing.

In other words, the conflict between the owner of the instruents of production and the laborers will continue until capitalism es way to anarchism or Socialism.

This is precisely the position of scientific Socialism.

Judge Baker holds that "laborers have a right to strike and to event their employer from getting other labor to take their places, provided they are directly concerned in the strike, but that "a sympahetic strike is unlawful." The judge forgets that all laborers have a common interest, i. e., "to obtain a larger share of the joint product of labor and capital," and that the sympathetic strike is but an extension of the strike direct, and is not to punish the employers but to benefit the laborers. benefit the laborers.

A truce to this world-wide conflict.

Let the people, by constitutional and legal methods, exercise their right of "eminent domain" and take over the instruments of production and operate them for the good of the workers.

In the last analysis the "capital" we complain of consists solely of "tribute rights," by which the laborer is forced to give a part of the product of his l' or to the "capitalist," who as "capitalist" produces nothing, and is as useless, if not quite as brutal, as were the kings of England.

The Autocracy of Wealth

The United States Steel Company, upon its own showing, controls from 55 to 60 per cent of the iron and steel business in the

At the annual meeting Chairman Gary, speaking in regard to business conditions and prospects, said:

"We believe we have a better organization throughout our companies than ever. We think we are best equipped at the present time to manage our affairs economically and promptly, and yet we have no disposition to remain passive, inactive or contented.

We are satisfied with the amount of business we have done and profits we have realized during the last fifteen months. When the Steel corporation was organized the total capacity of finishing mills was somewhat like 23,000 or 24,000 tons per day. At the present time the producing capacity is nearly double that.

"We started out with about 60 per cent of the total business of the country, and at present we have about 55 per cent on the average. It is our intention to keep a proportion up to about that point. We do not intend to have more than 60 per cent." Mr. Gary, speaking of his power to control the policy of the cora few own this wealth or shall all the people own it?

Thanks to the united efforts of the press, the Libel Bill, fathered and advocated by Lee Browne, was defeated by a large majority.

The sinister purpose of the bill is evident from the fact that Browne viciously fought and defeated an amendment which provided that "the truth of any statement should be a complete bar to recovery in any libel suit brought against a newspaper by a public official or a candidate for public office."

It is the truth that the Lorimers and Lee Brownes, and that whole brood of filthy leeches which attach themselves to the body

Free thought and free speech are essential to progress, and Representative Piercy well said: "The two most precious principles of Americanism are first, freedom of thought, and second, freedom of expression of the thought. For this our forefathers crossed the Atlantic and braved all the dangers of savage warfare, famine and pestilence. They builded upon an everlasting basis and the people of this country will never consent to anything that abridges the freedom of honest thought and its expression.'

But have we freedom of thought and freedom of expression? Ask the man who works for a corporation. Ask the miners, the gar-ment workers, the seamen of the lakes. Ask anyone who depends for a living upon the favor of another.

Ask the middle class storekeeper, the lawyer, the preacher. No man is free to follow the spontaneous impulses of his nature, to think and to fully and freely express his thoughts who is econom ically dependent upon another. Without ecoromic freedom political freedom is a barren ideal, an irridescent dream. Economic freedom is the keystone in the arch of a true civiliza-

Our Needs in Education

Education, we are told, is mental development. That is, education serves to make strong, orderly and efficient mental equipment, and this equipment should enable us to give more effective direction to our life's activities.

Which is the chief of life's activities? That which takes up most of the time of most of the people—the industrial activity.

With the advance of time, "the struggle for mere with the advance of time, "the struggle for mere bread has been replaced with men, but the struggle for wealth in general—a struggle of man with men and nation with nation, for the plainly avowed purpose of acquiring a wealth produced by others, and acquiring it by force and diplomacy, which latter is only another word for fraud."—Michael A. Lane, "Man in Perspective."

Life's chief activity, it seems, has adopted a predatory methods, and as far as this method is accepted as proper by our educators, today's education tends to make us well-trained thieves.

Into our world of plunder and prey comes the young engineer who in shep and factory so organizes and perfects the mechanical plant that the worker-yields ever a greater result from his labor; the young lawyer who so shapes the legal structure, that piece of social mecanism, that the work has neither joy nor benefit from his increased productivity, the industrial master absorbing everything down to the limits of the worker's miserable existence; the young minister who preaches master-class supremacy as God's own dispensation, and the teacher who poisons the intellectual life of society at its springs by impressing upon the kinds of the young the standards of a master-and-slave order of life.

No " and again your J. Howard Moore, your Veblen, your Guddings or your Lester F. Ward, goes out consciousness. But while John D. Reckefeller presents the Chicago University with $35,000,000 in interest-bearing stocks and bonds, the faculty of that institution will not be likely to unsparingly condemn the system which forces ignorant workers to donate to the university the angual interest on these securities.

Nor do we marvel that the educator is a prostitute. Rather do we wonder at the interpld few—teachers, ministers and journalists (your jurist is a more consistent

Rather do we wonder at the intropid few—teachers, ministers and journalists (your jurist is a more consistent lickspittle)—who go out in the teeth of disaster to assert their honest convictions. Woe be unto them!, their bones bleach the upward trail.

Our prime need in education is a new soil in which to root educational institutions—a free economic soil. The spirit of freedom will not be found in our educational institutions until the fact of freedom has then established in our bread-getting field. For by "freedom is meant, under present bourgeois conditions of production, free selling and buying." And trust domination has limited even this "unconscionable free trade" to the free buying by masters of human beings—or what comes to the same thing, their labor power—in the competitive market.

One purpose of industrial concentration is to enable those in control to restrict the, output of products and thus maintain the price of the limited output. But competition among the workers cheapens them to the masters, and those who own no means of production are held up and forced to sell their one commodity, labor power, on a market which is interly demoralized by the excess of the supply of labor energy over the demand for it.

We workers are always on the market and continuously making forced sales. In this respect the position of your teacher does not differ essentially from that of the common laborer. Your mechanic sells himself into a machine shop where he becomes an attachment to a tool. Your teacher sells himself as an attachment to a social instrument, an institution, where he must mold young minds for service according to a master-class ideal.

And it makes little difference in the final result whether Rockefeller and his group own the schools directly or whether they own the sources from which school revenues are drawn. The school boards, like other "people's officials," from poundmaster to president, are the obedient choreboys of the masters of the bread.

There will be no freedom in education until the opportunity to get bread is free. Meantime, we must faithfully omerals, 'rom poundmaster to president, are the obedient choreboys of the masters of the bread.

There will be no freedom in education until the opportunity to get bread is free. Meantime, we must faithfully supprit our own press and such schools as have been established for the propagation of the new ideals. But more important than all is Socialist control of school boards. Just as the workers must own the industrial system of the country before we shall have an industrial democracy, so must they control the school system before we shall have an operle's education.

Every boy may not be president; but every boy should have an opportunity to qualify for the presidency or any other position to which he may aspire.

No individual is preat of himself—we are of society and we owe to society the gifts which it places in our hands. ''He who lives to himself is dead, though the ground be not upon him.'' The student who regards himself as an individual who must achieve power and place by clambering pellmell over the prostrate bodies of his fellows, has need of the vision of that ''association in which the free development of each is the condition for the free development of all.'

Let Us Protest BY SOPHIA SALKOVER

In times bygone this great republic wan dominated by the spirit of democracy. It stood for individual and national liberty and was the place of refuge for patriots of all countries defeated in their struggles for freedom.

A nation in a state of revolt against its oppressor could depend on the sympathy of the American people as well as rely on the support of our government.

The United States was never tardy in recognizing the independence of a freed nation after a successful revolution. The attitude of the government toward foreign nations, whether big or small, was that of sincere friendship, but full of proud reserve.

Strong and self-reliant, the Americans did not seek the good graces of the mighty monarchs, neither did they conspire against the weaker states, using to advantage their own superior strength. Considering the government's policies of recent years, we can exclaim with the great Cicero of ancient Rome: "O time! O morals!" We conclude treaties with Russia and lend a helping hand to her bloody czar in his efforts to hound down his escaped victims, the heroes of the last revolution.

The president of a free (?) republic travels long distances to shake the hands of the Mexican dictator. When the downtrodden people of that country rise in arms to throw off his yoke this liberty-loving land speedily dispatches armies to frighten into submission the party striving for progress.

Every opportunity is being utilized to extend our influence and power, either by force or cunning, over near and distant lands, cruelly suppressing the legitimate resistance of the natives. The appetite for foreign possessions is growing ever stronger, expansion is the political slogan of the day.

What is the cause of all these changes, of the new direction in American politics? Are our national resources exhausted, threatening the country with starvation, or have the hitherto peaceful citizens of our land become imbued with the spirit of war? According to statistics, the productivity of American labor excels that of any country on the globe; it gives to our industry indisputa-bly the highest place on record in modern times. The wealth of America is simply fabulous, and the capitalist class that possesses by far the greater part of it is the richest and most envied in the world. Neither is it true that our masses are thirsting for the blood of their fellow beings of other lands.

The laboring classes have always been desirous of peace, for they instinctively felt how little they are likely to profit by wars.

The only great difference between the past and the present is the change in the relative strength of the social classes in America. Before the capitalists attained to their present position of economic supremacy they did not have the power to force their class interests to the front.

The government represented then pretty fairly the country as a whole. Now it is absolutely controlled by capital, and, like a weathercock, turns in the direction of the wind blowing from Wall street.

The ruling class is intoxicated with the power it wields.

Their thirst for wealth is never stilled, their ambitions know bounds. In the mad rush for new markets and more profit they trample nder foot the rights of the people and the traditions of the past. A free country is to be converted into a military despotism; the ons of the toilers are to become cannon food to swell the coffers of moneyed oligarchy. The nation is being pushed backward; reaction has taken the place where progress had been the rule.

The interests of the working class being diametrically opposite to those of the capitalists, the former can only lose if the latter are to gain.

Investment of American capital in other countries must result in an increase of the unemployed army at home.

The uncontrolled power of the capitalist-ruled president over he army means greater subjection, deeper slavery of the masses; it neans more protection to capital and more oppression to the people.

The majority are not for foreign markets. It is the increase of the buying strength of the population, the extension of the home market, that the workers are interested in. Not the skill how to wield the sword on behalf of capital, but the knowledge how to cast the ballot for the benefit of labor is what the working class is greatly in need of. This class alone can stop the downward course of our political life. Let it raise its voice in protest all over the country. Let it prove that there is arising a new force in society capable to exercise control over the doings of the despoiling class and their tool at Washington.

Song of the Forest

Official Hymn of the American Forestry Association.

By W. H. VENABLE

A song for the beautiful trees; A song for the forest grand, The Garden of God's own hand The pride of His centuries. Hurrah! for the kingly oak, For the maple, the sylvan queen For the lords of the emerald cloak,

For the beautiful trees a cong! The peers of a glorious realm, The linden, the ash, and the elm, The poplar stately and strong-For the birch and the hemlock trim For the hickory staunch at core, For the locust thorny and grim, For the allvery sycamore.

A song for the palm-the pine. And for every tree that grows, For the desolate zone of snows To the zone of the burning line: Hurrah! for the warders proud Of the mountainside and the vale, That challenge the thunder-cloud, And buffet the stormy gale.

So long as the rivers flow, So long as the mountains rise, May the foliage drink of the skies And shelter the flowers below; Hurrah! for the beautiful trees! Hurrahi for the forest grand, The pride of His centuries, The Garden of God's own hand.
