To the National Committee.

Dear Comrades:—The following communication has been received from L. E. Katterfeld, manager of the Lyceum Department:

"A number of the Lyceum lecturers have asked me whether the McKeown National Committee Motion No. 3 would be interpreted to apply to the Lyceum lecturers with whom contracts had already been made at the time when the motion was adopted.

"I answered that the Thompson National Committee Motion No. 6 would decide the point.

"Now that the vote on this motion is called off, I am in doubt what to answer and shall appreciate a decision of the question."

It is hardly necessary to say that I have no desire to override the rules of your committee. The question has to be decided either by you or by me. It will be much more satisfactory to all concerned if it is decided by you. I therefore desire to put to you the question:

Does Motion No. 3 apply to Lyceum lecturers with whom contracts had already been made at the time when the motion was adopted?

Vote will close October '22.

October 23, 1912.

To the National Committee.

Dear Comrades:—Herewith is submitted report of vote on National Secretary question, submitted on October 1.

NATIONAL SECRETARY QUESTION.

"Does Motion No. 3 apply to Lyceum lecturers with whom contracts had already been made at the time when the motion was adopted?"

Voting yes: Arizona, Morrison; Colorado, Geffs; Minnesota, Kaplan; New Jersey, Carless; Ohio, Clifford and Patterson; Pennsylvania, Foley, McKeown and Parker; Washington, Dolge and Patterson; West Virginia, Brown.—Total twelve.

Voting no: Alabama, Hutchisson; Arkansas, Hogan; California, Wilson and Wolfe; Connecticut, Applegate; D. C., Richman; Florida, Allen; Idaho, Cummins and O'Mahoney; Indiana, Fenimore; Iowa, Bennett and McGrillis; Kentucky, Gamble; Louisiana, Bassett; Maine, Irish, Maryland, Develin; Massachusetts, Fenner and Lawrence; Michigan, Aaltonen; Minnesota, Van Lear; Mississippi, Lipscomb; Missouri, Berry; Nevada, Burton; N. York, Lee, Merrill and Wright; Ohio, Eby; Oklahoma, Branstetter and Owen; Rhode Island, Reid; Tennessee, Earnshaw; Utah, Burlison, Vermont, Spargo; Wisconsin, Berger, Gaylord and Thompson; Wyoming, Carlson.—Total thirty-seven.

Not voting: Colorado, Martin; Connecticut, Berger; Georgia, Mulcahy; Illinois, Ball, Germer, Huggins and Rodriguez; Indiana, Reynolds; Kansas, Berry and Blase; Massachusetts, Roewer; Michigan, McMaster; Minnesota, Morgan; Missouri, McAllister; Montana, Kruse and Rector; Nebraska, Olmsted; New Hampshire, Nichols; New Jersey, Kraft; New Mexico, Goddard; New York, Slobodin and Strelb; North Carolina, Smothers; North Dakota, Grant and LeSueur; Ohio, Bessemer; Oklahoma, Ameringer; Oregon, Ramp and Richards; Pennsylvania, Hunt, Kennedy and Maurer; South Carolina, Royal; South Dakota, Ballinger; Texas, Hickey and Noble; Virginia, Rader; Washington, Laury.—Total thirty-eight.

The question is therefore decided in the negative.

Comment.

Morrison (Arizona): "In sending in my vote on the pretended National Secretary question in regard to Motion No. 3, I as a member of the National Committee protest against the secretary counting these votes. There is nothing before the Committee; this is simply an attempt to accomplish indirectly what could not, by the rules of the party, be done by regular procedure.

"I opposed Motion No. 5, believing, as I still do, that it was unwise as tending to destroy the democratic management of the party. Did the sponsors of that motion act with the idea that whenever it interfered with any of their plans that they could extricate themselves by using the National Secretary as a Question Mark? I have never been in the habit of accusing or suspecting my comrades of dishonesty. I have always thought that those comrades who disagreed with me were just as honest and just as apt to be right as I was; and this opinion has extended especially to our Secretary, for whom I have always had the highest regard both as a comrade and as a man.

"But this attempt of the secretary to get a trick, and such a transparent trick, get a National Committee referendum, contrary to the rules of the committee, would be worthy of an official in one of the old capitalistic organizations. There is certainly nothing ambiguous in the language of Motion No. 3, nothing that would need to be interpreted in order to be understood by the astute legal intellect of our Secretary; it seems that Comrade Thompson and several other members of the committee were satisfied that the meaning was clear and plain, so plain that they immediately got busy in a concerted effort to kill the effects of that motion, and siding that they had tied their own hands, the National Secretary undertakes to do what, he concedes, the committee itself could not do—inaugurate a N. C. referendum. Where, Mr. Secretary, do you get your authority to make a motion in the National Committee by which that committee will establish or change important rules? To say that in this case you are asking for information might do as an answer to babes, but is too puerile to satisfy full-grown men; it would be more reasonable to ask if the committee in Motion No. 5 meant 1912, A. D. or B. C. Nothing could be plainer than Motion No. 3 and the comments of McKeown and Kennedy. Once grant that the secretary can do this thing and we have established a dangerous precedent that would give him and a little inner circle complete control of the party. As for the N. C. having acquiesced in any contracts of the N. E. C., when were any such contracts ever submitted to the N. C.? But for the sake of argument, suppose that we had done so, do you think that if we had afterwards undertaken to tax the Jimmy Higgines of the party more, so as to have the wages of the lecturers greater, that these same men would have been so greatly shocked by our disregard of the SACREDNESS OF CONTRACT?"

Wolfe (California): "In voting in the negative, I wish to say this is the first communication I have received from the National Office. This is probably due to failure at some point to report my election as National Committeeman. Had I been permitted to vote on National Committee Motion No. 3, I should have voted in the negative."

Geffs (Colorado): "I sent you a comment on Motion No. 6, but it remained for the Arizona member to raise the point that surely must settle it for the time being at least.

"It is clearly in violation of Motion No. 5, and though, as you will see, I have voted my card, yet I only do it to show you that I am unalterably opposed to the motion in whatever form it may get before the committee. But I insist that neither my own nor any others be counted, because the question, which is simply another way of putting the motion, is out of order.

"Moreover, even if it were not for the point brought forward by Comrade Morrison, I hold that it is out of order and must remain so until Motion No. 3 has been reconsidered. It is a negative of that motion, therefore can only be reached through a reconsideration.

"My first comment, that it is a violation of the fundamental principle of equal pay for equal work, still holds good, and I add to it the point raised by Comrade Morrison, and the one just mentioned."

The comment on the withdrawn Motion No. 6, referred to above, is as follows:

"I thoroughly believe in the fundamental Socialist principle of 'equal pay for equal work.' This motion is in violation of this principle.

"As for the 'sacredness of contract' that is urged in its behalf will say that it loses force in this instance, because the whole matter of the Lyceum Course being more or less unsettled at the early date upon which these contracts must have been entered into it is difficult to see how an iron-clad contract between the Bureau and a lecturer could have been made. It certainly was not considered that iron-clad contracts had been entered into when the motion was made for re-adjustment of the list of speakers, for under that re-adjustment some would necessarily have to be broken. Besides, had the action of the National Committee instead of reducing to some extent the remuneration of speakers have raised it to a figure above that stated in the iron-clad contracts, would the speakers so affected or any member of the National Committee have held that under the 'sacredness of contract' these speakers should serve at a remuneration less than that paid to others? It is a poor rule that will not work both ways, and it is easy to see this one would only work in one way.

"It is not the fault of the speakers engaged later that they are engaged later, and justice and equity furnish no reason why they should receive less pay for their services than those who had the advantage of knowing they were going to get the job earlier. Their work will be just as hard and their expenses as great as the others. And their work will probably be as faithfully performed and possibly as effective. Speakers are not in the work to get all they can out of the movement; they know too well the struggles and sacrifices on the part of the membership.

"So, knowing that my position on this motion may lose me a job on the Lyceum Course, I nevertheless stand for the fundamental principle of 'equal pay for equal work.'"

Allen (Florida): "I feel that if the mover of the motion to limit the wages of National speakers intended it to apply to contracts previously entered into he should have so stated in his motion. I think the limit set is generous enough, but at the same time we must do business in a business way and we do not want to hamper the Lyceum by changes at the wrong time.

"There could be no further contracts on the Lyceum Course, however, not in conformity with the motion as adopted."

Cummins (Idaho): "In voting No on the within card, I wish to record my vote as in favor of existing contracts unless they exceed $40.00 per week. In such cases I think they are excessive and should be canceled."

O'Mahoney (Idaho): "In my opinion you should have no hesitation in deciding this motion in the negative, and you should be upheld in so deciding by the National Committee or as many of that Committee as hold contracts in violation when made in good faith, as these contracts undoubtedly were made."

Germer (Illinois): "I am in receipt of yours of the 30th ult. asking a vote on the National Secretary question, bearing on the wages to be paid National Lyceum lecturers. Since I am one of that number, I wish to refrain from voting on the question. Did it not affect me personally, I should not hesitate a moment in voting."

McCrillis (Iowa): "It would be illegal in that it would impair the obligation of a contract entered into previously and in good faith; and it would likely cripple the Lyceum Department."

Irish (Maine): "While thoroughly in accord with the provisions of Motion No. 3, I do not believe that the party can afford to entertain the idea of practically repudiating contracts already existing at the time the motion was adopted. I therefore vote No on the National Secretary question."

Merrill (New York): "It is inconceivable to me that comrades of the National Committee voted on Motion No. 3 with the idea of affecting existing contracts entered into with good faith by the Lyceum Bureau. I myself voted against Motion No. 3 because I deemed it unwise to interfere with the plans already laid by the Bureau and because I believed speakers engaged should not be at a disadvantage as compared with those previously engaged and not because I deemed $6.00 insufficient compensation for Lyceum lecturers. I do not believe the supporters of Motion No. 3 had any idea of permitting or advising the Lyceum Bureau to abrogate existing contracts."

Eby (Ohio): "I vote No on this question for the reason that it is embodied in the law of justice that no person can be punished for a crime committed previous to the passage of the law governing such crimes. And acting along the same line of reasoning, no law adopted by the Socialist party can affect acts committed or contracts entered into previous to the passage of such law or the adoption of such motion."

Patterson (Ohio): "I vote Yes on question because there is no doubt about what Motion No. 3 meant. Thompson knew what it meant, therefore his motion to kill it.

"As for the very, very sacred contracts, Hillquit's motion and comment show very plainly they do not exist (not with the Socialist party). But I am satisfied there was some kind of an understanding among some members of the party at the time of the National convention and there is a desire to pay off these debts. But I hold the S. P. is not the debtor and should not be used for an Old Age Pension Bureau. The Socialist party should rid itself of the parasites on the inside before going after the ones on the outside."

McKeown (Pennsylvania): "As a member of the National Committee and the originator of Motion No. 3, I emphatically protest against your counting any votes on your 'question' in regard to the aforementioned motion.

"The language in Motion No. 3 was plain and comprehensible and without a doubt was perfectly understood by all committeemen who voted for or against it. Proof that the opponents of the said motion were familiar with its meaning is shown by the attempt of Thompson, Hogan, Fenimore, Lee, Merrill and Eby to inaugurate Motion No. 6 for the purpose of saving those who had secured contracts with the Lyceum Department prior to the adoption of Motion No. 3.

"Finding themselves 'blocked' by a previous motion, proposed by Comrade Gaylord, the National Secretary now undertakes to accomplish indirectly what could not be done in regular procedure, according to the rules of the party. The meaning of Motion No. 3 was clear to every one and the National Secretary is in duty bound to enforce it in both letter and spirit.

"There is nothing before the National Committee now, and all votes either in the affirmative or negative on your request for 'information' are null and void."

Parker (Pennsylvania): "To be candid I am getting utterly disgusted with the political tricks that are being pulled off in the National Office. There is no need of sending out this National Committee referendum for any one who could read and has one grain of understanding knows that Comrade John R. McKeown's motion covered everyone sent out by the National Office or any of its branches.

"I see by today's bulletin that our National Campaign Committee has set aside the National Committee referendum because they, our National Campaign Committee, interpret it so. Now where in the name of Justice did our National Campaign Committee get its authority to set aside the actions of the National Committee.

"I, as National Committeeman, also protest against the action of the N. E. C. in creating a new office at $1,500 per year and practically appointing Carl D. Thompson to that job without allowing the rank and file a voice in the matter. Our hands are tied until after November 1 by National Committee referendum No. 4, but after November 1 I will call for a National Committee motion to set aside the action of the N. E. C. on this affair."

Earnshaw (Tennessee): "I voted in favor of the McKeown National Committee motion because of 'f, Section 1, Article V, of our new Constitution, and never once thought that it could, or would, be construed as being retroactive. The raising of such a question to me seems worse than childish.

"The revenue of your office comes largely through the sweat and grime of grinding toil and should be judiciously expended; but results should be the measure of judiciousness and not parsimonious expenditure.

"Personally, I doubt the wisdom of a flat rate for lecturers and organizers, but hope I may be mistaken."

Burlison (Utah): "Owing to strike situation here, I overlooked the vote on the question of present contracts with Lyceum lecturers; in fact it should not have been called for. Any contract made before a ruling would naturally hold good over the effect of ruling. I vote on it with the impression that there is no contract other than for the present campaign or all contracts will end on or before January 1, 1913."

Patterson (Washington): "Every party member should know that all acts of the Socialist party officers are subject to the approval of the National Committee and membership referendum; and such contracts of the Lyceum Bureau with speakers that call for more than $6.00 per day and railroad fare are annulled by National Committee Motion No. 3. Besides, speakers who would ask more than the sum decided upon are not in proper frame of mind to represent the Socialist movement on the platform or elsewhere."

Berger (Wisconsin): "I am in favor of every man getting the full value of his labor; and if he cannot get the full value, at least as near the value as we possibly can afford. I believe that the Socialist party ought to set a good example by paying fair wages."

Work (National Secretary): "Trickery is an ugly word. If I were guilty of it, I should be recalled forthwith.

"In my report last January, in ample time for the change to have been made, I called attention to the fact that the wages of the Lyceum lecturers were disproportionately high and those of the National Organizers disproportionately low, and advised that the matter be remedied before another Lyceum season came on. I was and am in favor of the six dollar rate. There are dozens of organizers' and lecturers' monthly reports on file in the National Office which show that the average expenses are less than two dollars per day. The six dollar rate therefore equals at least four dollars a day and expenses. This gives the National Organizers a dollar a day more than we old pathfinders, who blazed the way through the trackless wilderness, received. And the Lyceum lecturers, whose work is easier than that of the National Organizers, ought to receive the same rate. The unfortunate thing is that the matter was taken up after the contracts were made. Nevertheless, if I had been compelled to decide the question myself, I would have decided that the six dollar rate applies to all of them, on the same theory on which the state declines to pay damages to those whose property interests are injured by the passing of a new law or constitutional amendment. Early in 1910 we National Organizers, who received four dollars a day for a brief period, had our wages cut to three dollars again while we were in the midst of our tours.

"But I knew that the National Committee had not expressed itself on the point involved in my question at all. Regardless of what I believe on the merits of the matter, the committee's opinion is what should be carried into effect. There was only one way to discover your opinion, and that was to ask you. I knew that if it had been your intention that the rate was to apply to those under contract you would so vote on the question; otherwise not; and the result would be that the point would be decided by you, the proper authority. This was the perfectly straightforward and right course to take.

"If I had wanted to be tricky, I would have decided the question myself, in accordance with my own views as stated above, instead of putting it to the committee. In the nature of things it is necessary for me to decide many important questions myself. But this was a question which, if voted on at once, could be decided by your committee without disastrous delay.

"Besides, the motion would, of course, have been renewed after November 1, if I had not put the question. It was to the best interest of the cause that the matter be decided soon, instead of being allowed to remain in doubt—as it would have done if I had decided it—to the detriment of the Lyceum work.

"As for my authority to put a question, it has been done a number of times before. It would be a strange thing if the National Secretary could not ask the advice of the National Committee. There is a great difference between a question and a motion. A motion, by its wording, urges action in accordance with the mover's views. A question is non-committal.

"Meantime, the main decision stands, namely, that field work arranged in the future is to be at the new rate.

"I would not be an autocrat if I could, and I could not if I would."

October 31, 1912.

To the National Committee.

Dear Comrades:—By request of Local Wilmington, Delaware, the following communication, adopted by it, is transmitted to you:

"To the National Committee of the Socialist Party:—The Weekly Bulletin of August 31, and the Monthly Bulletin for September, 1912, contained a proposed referendum for a change in the present application form, proposed by Central Branch of Local Wilmington, Delaware.

"The Weekly Bulletin of September 14, 1912, contained a statement, presumably from Secretary Work alone, withdrawing it, owing to the provision of the new constitution prohibiting further amendment by referendum for one year.

"The clause in the new constitution (Art. XV, Sec. 3) provides that referendums to revoke or amend the constitution 'may be instituted only one year AFTER THE ADOPTION of such provision,' i. e., the provisions of the NEW constitution.

"The Weekly Bulletin of October 5, 1912, contained the statement 'the new constitution went into effect October 4.' It then gives the particular clause prohibiting amendments for one year.

"Also accompanying this Weekly Bulletin was a statement from the National Campaign Committee (regarding another matter) in which they maintained that THE OLD CONSTITUTION WAS STILL IN FORCE SEPT. 8, the date of their statement.

"How then can the referendum proposed by Central Branch of Local Wilmington published in August be ruled out September 14 as being prohibited by the NEW CONSTITUTION WHICH DID NOT GO INTO EFFECT UNTIL OCTOBER 4?"

"The better uniting of the entire Socialist movement being of so much importance, it is considered worth while that this matter be presented to the party.

"Central Branch of Local Wilmington, Delaware, therefore appeals from this decision and asks that a copy of the proposed referendum as published Aug. 31, 1912, together with a copy of this appeal, be furnished each member of the National Committee.

"Section 3 of Article XV, of the new constitution only specifies when referendums may be INSTITUTED, not as to seconding or voting on amendments instituted before this section went into effect.

"Suppose the word 'instituted' in this clause refers to and prohibits the very first step, that is, the 'proposing' of an amendment.

"In such case our proposition, having got past this step and having been proposed, how could this clause have been properly construed to have prevented it receiving all the consideration provided for by the old constitution under which it was 'instituted'?"

"Would it not be entitled to this even though the seconding and voting extended into the term of the new constitution?"

"Suppose, on the other hand, that the line be drawn closer by deciding that our proposal could not be considered as 'instituted' until sent out for a vote after receiving the necessary seconds under the old constitution; and that unless so 'instituted' before the new constitution went into effect October 4, it would be prohibited?"

"In this case, why should it not have been allowed the more than 30 days from its publication in the Weekly Bulletin August 31, until the new constitution went into effect October 4, in which to secure the seconds which if secured, would have entitled it to be 'instituted' under the old constitution?"

"And if so instituted before October 4, how could the clause in the new constitution be properly construed to prevent a vote being taken by the party members?"

"Central Branch of Local Wilmington therefore asks the National Committee to give the matter their careful consideration and to take such action as will be just and right, to the end that, if right, the members may have the opportunity at this time to decide the question."

A copy of the proposed amendment above referred to is herewith enclosed. To me, the provision making the constitution unamendable for a given period appears very undemocratic. But, without arguing about the technicalities in regard to the proposed amendment, I feel sure that my action in declining to accept seconds for it was in accord with the evident intention of the convention and membership. The membership vote on the new constitution closed August 4.

Fraternally yours,

JOHN M. WORK,
National Secretary.

PRODUCTION CAPACITY AND COSTS.

To get at production costs it is necessary to take concrete examples. The proposed press would print the sheets for a 128-page book, complete, at each revolution of the cylinders. It could be used to print books in any multiple of 32 pages from single plates, or multiples of 16 pages from double plates. It will be convenient to estimate costs on a 128-page book, which, in our page size of 7 1/2 x 5 1/2, would contain about as much paper as 160 pages of the "Standard Socialist Series," well known to Socialists.

The book would contain about 1,000 ems of long primer (10-point) type to each page. The two printers provided for in the wage schedule could easily set in one week 128 pages of such matter, proof-read it, and lock it for electrotype foundry. In fact, they should do this in four days. Since their labor simply covers the typesetting, this item will not be mentioned in the following estimate. But if a typesetting department were not included in the shop, this work could be purchased on a highly competitive market in Chicago at about 50 cents a page.

Here are the raw material costs of a 128-page book, the paper being a news print grade, about the same as is used in Pearson's Magazine, the cover about the same as on the pamphlet "Usurped Power of the Courts." Almost any newspaper uses as good paper, but does not present as good appearance owing to poor quality of printing on book paper. To use a really high-grade book paper would cost from a quarter-cent to a half-cent more, per copy.

New Material Cost of 1,000 128-Page Books.

News print, roll, basis 24x36, 32-lb., weight 137 lbs. per 1,000 books, $2.50 per cwt., discount and trimmings to cover waste.....	$4.67 1/2
Cover paper, "Kraft Brown," basis 24x36, 40-lb., weight 7 1/2 lbs. per 1,000 covers, price $4.75 per cwt., discount pays for the waste of 3 per cent.....	35 1/2
Printing ink, per 1,000 books.....	10
Cover printing, done more than one time at a time, front and back only, 32 forms up in 43x60 sheets, on flat-bed presses. (If inside cover pages are printed, charge item to advertising account.) Per 1,000 covers (Cover printing is charged as raw material, because we could buy such flat-bed work cheaper than we could print it in our own plant, which is for big printing. The cover is comparatively a small undertaking.).....	10
Stapling wire, No. 25, 1 1/4-inch staple, two to book, with 5 per cent for waste, cuts 6,800 to pound, at 10 cents a pound.....	68
Glue (binding machine uses less than hand work), estimated.....	98
Wrapping paper, twine and rope for bundling.....	18
Total.....	$5.62

The cost of electrotyping depends largely on the total number of copies of each title. My opinion is that we should be able to average higher after some experience in development, but for the purpose of calculation let us assume that we would print 300,000 impressions from each set of plates. The set of curved, steel-faced plates, good for over 2,000,000 impressions, would cost about $64, and the 16 front-cover plates, copper, flat, would cost about $44.80. By matching parts of cover runs an average of 16 plates per title would be sufficient. If back-cover page is printed, charge plate cost to Advertising Department.

Electrotype cost per 1,000 books..... $ 23
Plus raw material cost as above..... 5.62
Total electrotyping and raw material..... $28.62

For the sake of brevity and convenience, this combined estimate of raw material and electrotyping will in subsequent analyses be referred to simply as "raw material."

PRODUCTION SPEED OF MACHINES.

Press.

Any press builder will build a machine with speeded 6.00 cylinders, folder attached, guaranteed in many presses in different shops, I find that the printers usually run their machines at slightly less than the test speed. The slower running makes fewer stops, and ultimately increases output.

The proportion of output to running speed depends on many factors, the chief ones being quality of work and efficiency of plant. Our work being on soft paper, with a light ink, would not reduce the speed for quality considerations. The estimate will show varying costs with varying efficiency.

Gathering, Stitching and Covering.

The Juergat machine, the only such combination machine made, differs from printing presses and most machines in that it is frequently run at higher speed than the manufacturer claims, and with seeming success. On their cheap magazines, Street & Smith speed up this machine to about 5,000 per hour, with a net profit of nearly 4,000. Our work, on a book of only four sections, would be even simpler, so I estimate that we could maintain an eight-hour average of 3,500 per hour.

Trimming.

Many magazines do not trim their edges, while some trim only the side edge, leaving the head and foot with the serrated edges made by the rotary slitters on the press. Our paper cutter (41-inch, with offset) and the cutter on the electrotyping in one shift the side margin of the maximum product of two shifts on press and binding machine. Or, at least in the beginning of the business, would trim on side and ends the output of one shift. I suggest that this method be given a thorough trial before installing a more expensive machine, though some thrifty printers (especially when the paper is paid for by the customer) cut off and sell enough waste paper to pay a profit on their trimming machines. I make no note of sale of trimmings, leaving that, with cash discount, to take care of press and bindery waste.

Wrapping.

The trimmed books should be wrapped at once in unit bundles for wholesale shipping or storage. Piles of 24 pounds' weight, containing about 125 books each, are pressed in a bundler and firmly tied with 6-ply cord, sheets of strawboard protecting the ends from the cut of the cord. Then four of these bundles are wrapped together with one sheet of strawboard and two sheets of heavy express paper, the whole strongly tied with 12-ply twine rope, and you have a 100-pound package containing 500 books, which will not feel embarrassed in the presence of any freight handler east of the Rocky Mountains.

Proportion of Output.

As to the actual output of this plant, running on two shifts, no two men will agree, nor will any two men be able to get exactly the same output. Two partners, in daily contact with their own shop, will vary as much as 50 per cent in their advance estimates of the cost of a job. I have had much correspondence with capitalist managers and superintendents as well as conversations with workmen on this mooted question—What is the proportion of daily output to running speed on rotary presses, make-ready excluded? The largest high-class house in the United States, non-union, replies "two-thirds." The largest medium-quality house in the same city, also non-union, while a big Chicago non-union house is reported to be getting 100,000 impressions per day of 20 hours on mail-order catalogue work. The lowest estimate out of the many received was from an old, conservative, supremely high-class shop in New York, whose printer is a very high class cracker in the printing art. They report 50 per cent, and my own opinion is that we should be able, in a week's work of two shifts, to produce on press and binder a total of 300,000 128-page books or an average of 50,000 per day, with one make-ready (eight hours) per week.

This estimate is for news paper, good news-ink, oil offset if found necessary.

RELATION OF COST TO OUTPUT.

Our raw material cost is $5.75 per 1,000 books of 128 pages. Our fixed expenses of manufacture are $19,800 per year; our variable expenses of manufacture, running two shifts in press room and bindery, are $23,333 per year. Total per year of 300 days, $43,133. Total per day, $142. For the sake of conservatism and convenience, let's call it $150 per day. Then, if we could produce 65,000 books per day, which would be a very high efficiency, our expense per 1,000 above raw material cost would be $2.31, and this manufacturing cost would rise as production declined, affecting the total cost of production as shown below:

Output per Day.....	Cost per 1,000.....
65,000.....	$ 8.06
60,000.....	8.25
55,000.....	8.43
50,000.....	8.63
45,000.....	8.83
40,000.....	9.03
35,000.....	9.24
30,000.....	9.45
25,000.....	9.66
20,000.....	9.87
15,000.....	10.08
10,000.....	10.29

With two shifts working we probably would never fall below 25,000 a day, nor get above 65,000 daily average on runs of any considerable size. Therefore the cost per 1,000 books, present prices of raw material, could probably never go below $8, nor above $10, except through the inability of the party to keep the plant running on anything resembling full time, or to sell large editions.

The relation of cost to quantity offered the factory for production is shown below. In order to avoid endless figuring, the efficiency item must here be stable. Taking my efficiency estimate of 50,000 books per day from two shifts as the basis, we find that of the $5.75 per 1,000 cost, $5.75 is raw material and $3 the total of fixed and variable expenses. However, if we maintain an efficiency of 50,000 per day, our variable expense will decline as we produce fewer books. Estimating fixed expenses at $1.60 per 1,000 books and variable expenses at $1.60, and supposing variable expense to decline in direct ratio with decline of production, the cost would be:

Quantity.....	Per 1,000.....
50,000 books per day.....	$ 8.75
45,000.....	8.92
40,000.....	9.10
35,000.....	9.28
30,000.....	9.46
25,000.....	9.64
20,000.....	9.82
15,000.....	10.00
10,000.....	10.18

The efficiency table probably puts the cost too high at some points, since a full complement of workers would hardly be needed to produce 35,000 books per day. On the other hand, the quantity table probably puts the cost too low at some points, since it would not be practical to "lay off" in direct proportion to lowered production the workers whose wages are listed as "variable." But it is worthy of note that, whether the low production of 35,000 per day is reached through shop inefficiency or through low consuming of selling power, makes a very small difference in the cost.

In the following table the "mean average" manufacturing cost is determined by "splitting the difference" between the cost of the same quantity as shown in the table of varying efficiency, and the table of varying quantity, as above.

Quantity.....	Efficiency Variation.....	Quantity Variation.....	Mean Average Cost per 1,000.....
50,000.....	$ 8.75	$ 8.75	$ 8.75
45,000.....	8.92	8.92	8.92
40,000.....	9.10	9.10	9.10
35,000.....	9.28	9.28	9.28
30,000.....	9.46	9.46	9.46
25,000.....	9.64	9.64	9.64
20,000.....	9.82	9.82	9.82
15,000.....	10.00	10.00	10.00
10,000.....	10.18	10.18	10.18

AUTHORS' ROYALTIES.

The subject of authors' compensation is one which has always caused plenty of trouble, and probably always will. But so do other labor disputes. For the sake of getting the authors' pay into the total estimate, I shall place it here at $1.00 per 1,000 copies of the 128-page book. If a book is good, it should sell to a million copies, and pay the author $1,000. If it is extra good, it should sell to two million, give the author $2,000 in cash and ten thousand dollars' worth of advertising, and enable him to market several thousand silk cloth and gold stamped volumes for the "fancy" trade. And if the book is not good, the author will be better off than if he had fallen into the hands of the publishing ghouls who pick the pockets of gasping literary geniuses.

HANDLING, TRANSPORTATION, ETC.

Storage.

News print paper weighs about 43 pounds per cubic foot, and a careful use of storage space would make it possible to hold 150 pounds per square foot. Warehouse capacity for 780,000 pounds is provided for in expenses of Sales and Shipping department. This would contain the entire production of two shifts for 78 days.

Cartage.

Outgoing Chicago freight is received for distribution by the Illinois Tunnel Company, so that cartage to separate stations is unnecessary. Our freight in bundles not exceeding 100 pounds each, would be very easy to handle, and cartage charges would not exceed $1.00 per ton, or 10 cents per 1,000 books.

Freight.

Three-fourths of the population of the United States are within a dollar-a-hundred freight rate from Chicago. Several populous states can be reached on 75 cents, and several more on less. The head of the shipping department in a large paper house assures me that $1.00 per 100 pounds is amply safe as an average for the entire country, though of course, the rates to the Rocky Mountain and Pacific Coast states are much higher.

Sales and Shipping.

The fixed expenses of this department have been estimated at $7,175.20; the variable, $6,589.00; total, $13,764.20. We are justified in assuming that the variable expenses would vary in direct ratio with the output. But the output itself responds to an item of selling expense, which I have left for special consideration—advertising.

Advertising.

As a first measure in advertising the product of a party-owned printing plant, I would suggest a form of serial subscription, by which members of the party could subscribe, in advance, the sample copy output of the plant, receiving a single copy (or in the case of Locals a number of copies) of every book or pamphlet which might be put into type form. This sample copy edition would submit all new books to a judgment of the membership. Books which were clear and forceful enough to hold the attention and interest of these "sample copy subscribers" would be ordered at once in large quantities, and the printing plant manager could appoint a publication day for the new book, giving special prices on orders received before that day, thus being able to gauge with accuracy the size of the first edition. Some plan must be devised, whereby such final judgment of the people could be passed upon any manuscript in case of hot dispute. The people must be the literary court of last resort, to which, on some sort of terms, an appeal is always possible. This feeling that the print shop product were free and uncensored would be of the highest advertising value and would affect sales very greatly. Needless to say, the sample edition series, subscribed and paid for by locals and individuals, would be of great help in the rapid issue of large editions.

In addition to the large cash expenditures for circulars, labor, sample copies, postage, etc., etc., much experience could show what amount to add to selling price in covering this item. After a certain point, each million books is harder to sell than the preceding million, and requires the most advertising or a lower price to effect the sale. But so long as we have only one big mechanical unit in our manufacturing plant, the cost of manufacture decreases rapidly up to the limit of capacity, thus allowing either a lower price or increased advertising expenditure to market the product.

WHOLESALE COSTS, DELIVERED.

Our fixed Sales and Shipping expense is $7,175.20, or about $24 per day. Our variable expense in the same department is $6,589 per year, or about $22 per day. We have estimated royalty, freight and cartage at a total of $3.10 per 1,000 books. Assuming that our variable expense of Sales and Shipping covers, at $22 per day, an output of 50,000 books, and that it would vary in direct ratio with varying output, it would add 44 cents to each 1,000, making the total cost of handling, royalty, cartage and freight, $3.54 per 1,000—but we still have to add the $5.75 per 1,000 of fixed expense in the Sales and Shipping department. The totals of all these items are:

Quantity.....	Mean Average Mfg. Cost.....	Authors' Royalties, Variable.....	Fixed Expense of Sales and Shipping.....	Total, Per 1,000 Books.....
10,000.....	$17.95	$3.54	$2.40	$23.89
15,000.....	14.12	3.54	1.60	19.26
20,000.....	12.20	3.54	1.20	16.94
25,000.....	11.05	3.54	.96	15.55
30,000.....	10.28	3.54	.80	14.62
35,000.....	9.74	3.54	.69	13.97
40,000.....	9.33	3.54	.60	13.47
45,000.....	9.00	3.54	.52	13.07
50,000.....	8.75	3.54	.48	12.77

RETAIL COSTS NOT CONSIDERED.

The foregoing calculations do not consider retail distribution, since this is not a legitimate part of the "overhead" costs of a manufacturing plant, and constitutes a field of its own.

SUMMARY AND CONCLUSIONS

Assuming the entire plant devoted to producing 128-page books, full time, 50,000 per day, the annual output would be 16,000,000, and the total cost $191,550. If we add to this ten per cent for advertising, the total is $210,705. For comparison, we may note that the Lyceum Department, during its first year, sold about $90,000 in books and subscriptions at retail prices, its business being confined to about 800 tons.

However, it would not be necessary to devote the entire time of the plant to books, since it would produce with equal facility pamphlets and leaflets. The most economical method of varying the product on books print would be to run the press two shifts, alternating the weeks when the press was running on pamphlets, the bindery, running day shifts only, could bind up the press product of book sheets turned out the previous week.

I shall analyze briefly the producing power of the plant on pamphlets and leaflets.

SIXTEEN-PAGE PAMPHLETS.

Raw Material Costs. Per 1,000

News print, roll, basis 24x36, 32-lb.; weight, per 1,000 pamphlets, 24 1/2 lbs.; price, $2.50; discount and trimmings to cover waste.....$0.59

Printing ink, per 1,000 pamphlets..... 01 1/2
Stapling wire, per 1,000 pamphlets..... .01
Wrapping paper, twine and rope for bundling, 4,000 to bundle..... .04 1/2

Typesetting and Electrotyping Costs.

Based on editions of 2,000,000 of each pamphlet, the cost of typesetting and electrotypes (eight sets) would be about three cents per 1,000 pamphlets.

Costs of Printing, Delivery, Etc.

Using the kind of press which I recommend, the pamphlets would not go through the bindery, but would be bundled direct from the press. Our fixed annual expense on the press is $6,970.40, the variable expense $12,007, total $19,977.40. At 300 days, this is $66.59 per day, or $399.54 per week for the press. With the additional help of two men from the bindery to wrap bundles, the total press cost would be about $430 per week.

Either pasting or stitching would make some reduction in the press speed. Printing eight complete pamphlets at each revolution of the cylinders, I should consider the total press running on an efficient basis with a production of 2,000,000 pamphlets per week, two shifts, including one make-ready. However, since output must always vary, the table which follows will show the varying cost with varying output. So long as large editions of pamphlets are printed, it would be practically impossible to raise the cost above the high figure given.

Woman's National Committee

October 7, 1912.
To the Woman's National Committee.
Dear Comrades:—The vote on the motion by Branstetter on party ownership of The Progressive Woman resulted as follows:

Voting yes: Twining, Carr and Branstetter.

Voting no: Berger and Brewer.
Not voting: Simons and Lewis.
No action taken.

Motion by Simons:

"1. Shall the Woman's National Committee continue its support of The Progressive Woman in the organization of a stock company?"

"2. I move that the National Woman's Correspondent be instructed to use every possible effort to further the organization of the stock company of the Progressive Woman."

Comment: "The second motion is made with the understanding that if the first question is answered in the affirmative the second motion shall at once take effect."

"The question of the Progressive Woman was taken up to a considerable extent at the National Woman's Committee meeting. It was at that time fully understood by the National Woman's Committee and concurred in by the National Executive Committee, that the National Woman's Committee should aid in every possible manner in the formation of a stock company to handle the financial side of The Progressive Woman. The National Executive Committee voted money to assist the paper for a limited time until it was thought such a company could be gotten under way."

"The former National Woman's Correspondent pushed the matter with some success. It must be recalled that we are in the midst of a campaign and funds are being used in other directions. The formation of the stock company has not had an adequate trial. There is no reason to believe it would not be a success."

October 10, 1912.

I vote no upon Comrade Simons' motion, "Shall the Woman's National Committee continue its support of The Progressive Woman in the organization of a stock company?"

Comment: The use of the machinery of the party for boosting private enterprises is wrong in principle, disastrous in results, and contrary to the long established practices of our organization.

I am opposed to the Woman's Committee doing things which are tolerated only because we are the Woman's Committee and that no other committee of the party would think of doing or would be allowed to do if they dared try it.

Despite my personal friendship for Comrade Kaneko I am even more opposed to this motion for the reason that the paper is bankrupt and has been on the verge of suspension for a year.

It is no argument to say that the stock subscribed will be secured by subscription cards. If the paper suspends next month or the month after, the subscription cards will be just as worthless as the stock would be.

According to Comrade Kaneko's reports, which are very incomplete, the paper was $1,500 in debt in May, and is $2,500 in debt at the present time. This in spite of the fact that during that time the National Executive Committee donated $200 and $420 was received from stock sales as a result of the efforts of the committee.

The former General Correspondent circularized all locals and lists of sympathizers at considerable expense to the party and in every way possible pushed the proposition to the complete satisfaction of Comrade Kaneko, with the result that out of the more than 5,500 locals with a membership of 16,000, only 42 shares of stock were purchased. Of the Woman's National Committee, who naturally would be the most interested, only one has purchased stock up to date.

Last May I did not vote upon the stock company because I was skeptical as to the possibility of the paper being able to survive, even with the assistance of the Woman's National Committee. In August, when I received a statement of progress from Comrade Kaneko, I was still more doubtful and I am now thoroughly convinced that it cannot survive. Under these circumstances I cannot vote to use the party machinery to induce credulous comrades to purchase stock in a paper that is daily threatened with suspension.

Fraternally submitted,
WINNIE E. BRANSTETTER.

October 14, 1912.

"I wish to make the following comment on Comrade Branstetter's comment on my motion:

"Comment: I was one of the subcommittee that put the case of The Progressive Woman before the National Executive Committee. That committee was fully informed of the financial condition of the paper and that there was a debt of $2,000 owed on the paper. They donated the $200 in full faith that the women of the National Woman's Committee would take up earnestly the work of pushing the organization of a stock company. I do not believe that the National Executive Committee acted in the manner it did because the Woman's Committee was asking help, but because they believed it was a good thing to do. Neither do I believe that the party will permit the women to ask and receive favors that do not accord with the party organization. Comrade Branstetter made a motion to ask the party to take over The Progressive Woman. The paper was then in the same financial condition it is now. It would also have been asking the party to begin a party owned press, which has not been done with any other paper yet."

"It may come to a party owned paper in time, but now I believe the thing to do is to act and try to keep our woman's paper alive. Get it out of debt and then if the party sees fit to take it over, all well and good. I shall be first to abide by the decision of the party as to that. I shall also be first to abide by the decision of this committee as to whether we shall let the woman's paper die. Whether we recognize it or not, the time is coming very close when the women of the country will be enfranchised and there must be some means to educate them in the use of the ballot. The Progressive Woman under the direction of the National Woman's Committee can be made the paper that the Socialist women of this country need."

"I do not think the expense of sending out mimeographed letters when other mail is going out from the National Office is very great. There has been so far no objection on the part of the National Executive Committee to this being done and they certainly know that such letters were sent out by Comrade Lowe. I believe also that every member of the Executive Committee understood that it would be done when they favored the formation of a stock company. They must have expected that the National Woman's Committee would use the machinery at its disposal through the National Woman's Correspondent. As for our doing things simply because we are the woman's committee that the party would tolerate of no other committee, the Woman's Committee itself and the office of Correspondent are unique in the party, simply filling a need of the propaganda, and at one time a similar objection was raised to having such a committee."

"As for securing money for The Progressive Woman because it would be imposing on credulous comrades, there has not been a Socialist paper started that has been a paying venture when started, and many were losing ventures even after years, but we did not desert them because of that. How long would any of our dailies lasted if members had waited until they were sure they were on a firm financial basis before they invested in a share of stock? I do not believe that the $2,000 is any more than can be expected."

"I think there need be no fear on the part of anyone that this paper will ever do other than it has done, try to carry on the propaganda among women. So long as the National Executive Committee has not objected to the use of the machinery of the National Office I do not see but that the work should be pushed forward as the Woman's Committee originally voted to do."

"Fraternally,
"MAY WOOD-SIMONS."

Time for comment upon above motion closed October 14, vote closed October 22. The vote is as follows: Yes—Berger, Brewer, Carr, Lewis, Simons, Twining. No—Branstetter. Motion carried.

Definite motions or instructions upon this question are now in order. In the meantime I will co-operate with Comrade Kaneko by sending out with my regular letters, circulars and reports to the party membership and officials such advertising matter, circulars or letters as she prepares and wishes submitted.

WINNIE E. BRANSTETTER,
General Correspondent.

I am in receipt of the following letter from the Secretary of the National American Woman Suffrage Association:

"Our Association is earnestly hoping that the Woman's National Committee of the Socialist party will send to our coming convention in Philadelphia, November 21-26, a fraternal delegate, as was done last year when Miss Caroline A. Lowe came to present greetings from the Socialist women."

"The tentative schedule for our program has placed the greetings from fraternal delegates for the afternoon of Thursday, November 21, when we shall hope to have five minute addresses from representatives of the various national organizations which stand for equal suffrage."

"Hoping for a favorable reply,
"Cordially yours,
"(Signed) "MARY WARE DENNETT."
"Corresponding Secretary."

Following the precedent established last year, nominations for the fraternal delegate to the National American Woman Suffrage Association are in order. Nominations close October 21. If necessary, nominate by wire (collect).

October 24, 1912.

Nominations for fraternal delegate to the National Suffrage Convention closed October 21.

Berger and Branstetter were nominated.

I am in receipt of telegram from Comrade Berger as follows: "Regret cannot accept nomination for delegate to Suffrage Convention."
"(Signed) META BERGER."

Since Comrade Berger has declined the nomination, leaving me the only nominee, I accept the nomination with sincere appreciation.

Motion: Shall Winnie E. Branstetter act as fraternal delegate to the National American Woman Suffrage Association convention, to be held in Philadelphia November 21-26?

October 25, 1912.

Motion by Lewis: "I move that the first Sunday in December be made Progressive Woman Day and that all locals be urged to hold a meeting on that day for the special benefit of the paper, and the selling of stock and taking of subscriptions be made the special feature of the meeting."

Comment: "If you think this date too soon for a successful meeting, we might have it later. But this is just half way between election and Christmas. In addition I think we ought to set some day during the week for a rally day to canvas for subs. It should be set far enough in the future to give lots of time to advertise it and get the women all worked up to it. I believe the campaign is absorbing a lot of our energies just now and that The Progressive Woman will fare better after election."

Motion by Simons: "I move that November 24 be made Progressive Woman's Day, that the National Woman's Correspondent send out communications to the locals urging the women of the locals to make special efforts to hold lectures or entertainments on or near that date to raise funds for The Progressive Woman."

"2. I move that a letter be sent by the National Correspondent to all locals urging them to secure bundles of The Progressive Woman each month."

Comment: "These letters to the secretaries should be aided by articles in the Socialist press on the work the National Woman's Committee hopes to accomplish through the Progressive Woman, it seems to me. If the members of the committee could find the time to prepare such articles it would put the subject before Socialists better than anything else and would put The Progressive Woman in its proper light as an organ of the National Woman's Committee."

Comment closes November 1: Vote closes November 8.

The above motion by Comrade Simons, parts one and two, has been adopted, the vote standing as follows: Voting yes—Berger, Brewer, Simons, Twining.

Comrades Carr and Lewis have not yet been heard from, but as a majority of the committee has voted I am making this announcement in advance, that action may be placed before the party in the Monthly Bulletin.

In conformity with the above motion, November 24 is Progressive Woman Day. Each local should set aside this day for a special lecture or entertainment for women. The securing of subscriptions and raising funds for the Progressive Woman should be made the order of business. The November issue is a splendid number. Every local should order a bundle for free distribution upon this day. Send orders for bundles, sample copies and subscription cards to The Progressive Woman, 111 North Market street, Chicago, Ill.

Organizers.

Ethel Whitehead, Kansas: Reports committees organized at Caldwell, Wellington, Neodesha, New Albany, Conway Springs, Argonia, Crisfield, Severy, Winfield, Baxter Springs, Galena, Skidmore.

Luella Twining, Michigan: Three Rivers.

Nellie M. Zeh, Minnesota.
Mary L. Geffs, Arizona.
Prudence Stokes Brown, California.

Work of the Woman's Department.

Seven hundred sets of sample leaflets have been sent out, accompanied by a letter of encouragement.

The enclosed letter with press article and clippings on the circulars recently issued by the Progressive party have been sent to 300 active party workers.

Letters have been sent to all national organizers, campaign lecturers and woman organizers, with a liberal supply of literature for distribution.

Specially prepared letters have been sent to National Committeemen and to State Secretaries, urging increased interest and activity in our special work. Copies of above mentioned letters enclosed.

Quantities of free literature have been sent into the five suffrage campaign states. Upon the request of Frances W. Munds, chairman of the Arizona Equal Suffrage Central Committee, 10,500 suffrage leaflets have been forwarded to active suffrage workers in that state.

Letters have been sent to members of the state executive committees and state secretaries of those states not having a state correspondent, urging the immediate election of a capable woman to take charge of this special propaganda work.

Literature.

We have eighteen woman's leaflets issued in the four page, 6x9 form.

"Why the Professional Woman Should be a Socialist," by May Wood-Simons, and "Plea to Club Women," by Agnes H. Downing, have not been reprinted in the new form as there is still one-half of the original stock on hand, these leaflets naturally selling in much smaller quantities than others.

The authenticity of the Frances Willard leaflet has often been questioned. I called at the headquarters of the W. C. T. U. to ascertain the facts in the case. I find in reading the minutes of the convention of 1897 that not only is the leaflet a correct quotation, but that Miss Willard made many other and stronger statements. These have all been copied and will be added to the next edition of "Frances Willard on Socialism."

The small leaflets, "Woman's Day and Woman's Enfranchisement," have gone out of print as there was not sufficient sale to warrant their reprint.

"Address to Women" is the special woman's campaign leaflet. It was prepared by May Wood-Simons at the request of the Campaign Committee and the Woman's National Committee, and is a splendid contribution to our campaign literature. I would suggest that it be reprinted by the Woman's National Committee as a regular party pamphlet with the name of the writer attached.

Local Cook County has printed the Berger leaflet in poster form. Would it not be advisable for us to duplicate it when our present stock of this leaflet is exhausted?

No action has been taken upon the Parce leaflet, on the "Intellectual Inability of Woman" leaflet or the Edelson pamphlet.

Press Service.

The following special press articles have been submitted through the Woman's Department to the National Office Propaganda Press Service and have been sent out to the Socialist press:

"The Soul of Her Revolt," by William Francis Barnard.

"Would You Sacrifice a Principle?" by John M. Work.

"Woman's Emancipation," by Eugene V. Debs.

"Mothers, Where Do You Stand?" by Liliith Martin.

"To the Working Women of America, a Word," by George F. Hibner.

"Women are Workers," by J. L. Engdahl.

"The Mighty Hunter Goes a-Fishin'," by Winnie E. Branstetter.
