"Moving Towards Socialism," By Eugene V. Debs.

A FEW years ago the socialist philosophy was spurned as irrational and impossible and its exponents were looked upon as foolish fanatics by thoughtful men in the United States.

During the last decade a profound change has taken place with reference to socialism. Many thousands who once rejected it with scorn are now among its staunchest supporters. Newspapers, magazines and periodicals are discussing it; rulers, statesmen and politicians are worried about it; ministers, teachers and moralists are desecrating upon it, and every day it becomes more apparent that a new and vital problem has presented itself.

The change in the popular mind in regard to socialism is not due solely, nor even mainly, to mental processes. The many "converts" to the socialist philosophy may not credit their intellectual faculties alone for seeing the light, but are indebted primarily, as a rule, to economic necessity, the growing insecurity in the means of making a livelihood as the result of the concentration of capital and other changes in the economic structure of society that are rapidly transforming our boasted republic into an industrial depotism.

No greater mistake was ever made than to suppose that socialism is a dream and that "human nature" must be excluded before it can be realized. It is just because "human nature" is as it is that socialism is inevitable.

Socialism is neither a dream nor a scheme, but a theory of society based upon the principles of social evolution, the trend of which is so clearly indicated in the changes daily taking place before our very eyes that the wonder is that any man with the ordinary powers of observation can fail to see that the economic foundations of society are shaping for a super-structure of socialism, and that it will be socialism because it can be nothing else.

NOT long after the congressional elections of 1902 the Rev. Lyman Abbott, taking note of the great increase in the socialist vote, said: "Socialism is inevitable." In a lecture recently delivered the same eminent divine rudely disturbed the calm in conservative circles by saying: "Our industries must be democratized; if different small bodies of men are to control all our domestic necessities, where goes our democracy? The democratizing of industry means the distribution of wealth. The labor problem can never be solved as long as one set of men owns the tools and another set uses them. When all those connected with one industry become together owners and users, then will come the harmony and union which have been so long striven for."

The economics of socialism are embodied in this revolutionary utterance of Dr. Abbott. Production of wealth is now a social function and the means of production must be socially owned unless society is to disintegrate and civilization to turn backward toward barbarism.

The toolless worker is an industrial slave.

The tool-owning capitalist is an industrial master.

These are the dominant types of commercial society. They represent two powerful and antagonistic classes. There can be no permanent peace between them. The intervals of quiet are but breathing moments between outbreaks. Their economic interests are irreconcilable.

The violent and bloody upheaval in Colorado proves it.

The grewsome packing trades strike in Chicago bears witness to it.

The Citizens' Alliance and the trades union movement are the incarnation of it.

There is war between them to the death.

The socialist party means that the workers have concluded to wage the war upon the political battlefield.

The Citizens' Alliance is entitled to the thanks of the workers for demonstrating the class struggle and the necessity for class politics as the means of settling this class issue.

The working class versus the capitalist class is the only issue with the socialists.

"To the workers their tools" is the rallying cry. With these they are free men and without them slaves.

The gold standard, free silver, fiat money or radium standard are alike to them.

They have no tools.

Protective tariff, revenue tariff and free trade are alike meaningless to workmen.

They promise them no tools.

WORKERS at last are waking. The cry that there are "no classes" in this country deceives them no longer.

It is true that President Roosevelt anathematizes the demagogues who "array class against class in the American republic," but it is barely possible that within a generation or two the dem-

Political parties express the economic interests of classes. The republican party represents the dominant capitalist class; the democratic party the small capitalists. The latter are being worsted as a class and their party is tottering on its foundations. It is today in all essential respects a republican party. This is all that holds it together and even in spite of this it is disintegrating.

As the middle class crumbles the democratic party tumbles.

In the coming phases of the class struggle there will be room for but two parties—namely, a working class party and a capitalist class party. The capitalists know that this political alignment is fatal to them and are doing all in their power to prevent it. But they are pitted against the inexorable laws of industrial evolution and sooner or later the alignment will be made and the working classes will triumph over their exploiters.

The republican and democratic parties have united at every point where the one or the other was menaced by socialist success. These are infallible signs of the coming political alignment based forced by economic necessity into consciousness of their class interests and in that ratio the socialist party is growing.

Four years ago the socialist party was credited with less than 100,000 votes. There will be an extraordinary increase this year.

Capitalist prosperity has reached its limit. Hard times are setting in. The vast surplus that labor produces and that labor needs but cannot buy, periodically congests the market and then labor has to go idle, hungry and naked until the surplus can be worked off.

Production for use versus production for profit is the only remedy.

Men are better than millionaires and mendicants.

Homes are better than castles and hovels.

Freedom is better than despotism; and freedom for all is the mission of the socialist movement.

Capitalism has almost run its course. The old system is breaking down. The Colorado and Chicago eruptions are symptoms of the degeneration that has attacked the body economic of the capitalist system and these eruptions are apt to spread over the entire body.

There is no cause for alarm. Society is but reconstructing itself and the process is eternal. These are transition days—eventful, stirring and of promise for the working class and all mankind.

As long as there is a "working class" and a "labor market" there will be a class conflict that will preclude social peace.

When all are useful workers and all have equal opportunity to produce wealth and enjoy it there will be no classes and no animal struggle for existence.

This will be only when the workers own their tools and produce wealth for themselves. To procure these they must first secure control of government, and this is why the labor question is essentially a political question. When the working class succeeds to political power it will be easy to put the workers in possession of their tools and emancipate them from wage slavery.

Industrial self-government is necessary to political self-government and both are vital to a free nation.

agogues and demigods of this day may exchange places.

The mine slaves of Pennsylvania are not in the same class with Harry Lehr and William Waldorf Astor, President Roosevelt to the contrary notwithstanding.

The development of the capitalist system has produced economic classes and arrayed them against each other in every civilized land on earth, be it autocratic Russia, monarchic Germany or free America. They differ only in degree of development.

In the presence of this world-wide evolution, to charge individuals with arraying these two classes against each other is like accusing the whitecaps on the crests of stirring up the mighty deep.

David M. Parry is doing as much to array class against class as any other individual, though he aims at the opposite effect.

The slave owners of the south were the chief instrumentalities in their own overthrow.

The tool owners of capitalism are being shaped for similar ends.

The late Senator Hanna was discerning enough to foresee what was coming when he predicted that the great struggle of the future would be between the republican and democratic parties. Ninety per cent. of the voters could not tell the platforms apart. There is scarcely an issue between them and certainly none, nor the shadow of one, so far as the working class is concerned.

upon economic class interests. The capitalists will go to the republican party and the workers to the socialist party. The democratic party will go out of business.

The waked-up workers of the country say it is a class struggle. The capitalists deny it. Every day's development emphasizes it. It is so clearly revealed in the packing-house strike that only the purblind fail to see it. The capitalists are one. So are the workers. Their opposing economic interests separate them. What one gains is at the loss of the other.

Upon that basis they will sooner or later meet on the political battlefield.

EVERY defeat on economic grounds recruits the army on the political field.

Trades unionists take their final degree in the socialist party.

Capitalists are shortsighted when they rejoice over the success of a lockout or the defeat of a strike.

When the capitalists have won strikes enough the socialists will have votes enough to retire them from business.

The armies of workers are becoming organized not only as a union of labor but, what is more, as a party of the working class. They need only to become conscious of their power as a class to abolish every form of servitude and rule the world.

The workers are just learning to vote as they strike—as a class and against the class that exploits them. They are being

LABOR DAY IN TERRE HAUTE.

Parade the Main Feature of the Celebration.

The parade Monday was a magnificent spectacle.

The procession moved at 9:45 o'clock, according to instructions from Grand Marshal Ekmark. The line formed on Ohio street and moved down Ohio to Second, over Second to Wabash and down Wabash. The fact that more attention was paid to parade this year than ever before was responsible for the parade being more attractive than ever before.

The Ringgold band led the procession. Immediately behind it was the speakers' carriage. Then came the miners, who made a splendid appearance. Over 150 men were in line from the West Terre Haute mines. Several floats and wagons were in line, calling attention to the vast importance of the coal mining industry.

The boiler-makers were out in force and a brawny looking set of men they were as they marched through the streets with their blue jumpers and black and white caps. The iron moulders were represented by over a hundred men. A unique feature of the parade was the tin paravols of the tinners and sheet metal workers.

The parade was over a mile in length. Consternation among the politicians was caused by a banner carried by the brewers reading—"Vote for Debs and Hanford."

The music was furnished by the Ringgold, Bishop's and Fontanet bands. There was a big crowd at the fair grounds in the afternoon to witness the games and take part in the varied amusements.

J. P. Hardisty the popular umbrella maker of East Main street, furnished the umbrellas for the Barbers and Iron Workers Union, which fact shows Mr. Hardisty fair to the union men. Give him a call. New Phone 863. 1234 Wabash Ave.

Labor Day Celebrated at Diamond.

Diamond, Ind., September 5.—Labor Day was celebrated here by a big picnic. A program was rendered and music was furnished by the Harmony band. Mother Jones was expected to deliver the principal address, but she did not reach here. Addresses were made by Will Mahoney and El Evinger of Terre Haute and Mr. Bradley, of Diamond. The feature of the day was a baseball tournament in which Coal Bluff won first prize, $40, and Diamond second, $25. In the first game Diamond defeated Catlin by a score of 5 to 2. The second game, between Coal Bluff and Diamond No. 2, resulted in a victory for Coal Bluff by a score of 17 to 3. In the final game Coal Bluff defeated Diamond by a score of 15 to 6. Compton's fielding for Coal Bluff was the feature of the contests.

Twenty Unions in Line at Linton.

Linton, Ind., September 5.—Labor Day was celebrated here by 15,000 people, the largest crowd that ever turned out for any event here. Visitors were present from all the nearby towns. Twenty unions took part in the big parade, which was two miles long. The parade formed at 10 o'clock, headed by the fire department. In the line were the Citizens' band, speakers and city officials in carriages, uniformed rank K. of P. company, floats representing the various business houses and industries and the labor organizations. The parade moved to Haseman's grove, where the exercises were held. The celebration continued all day.

The Haymakers baseball team defeated the Knights of Pythias team and won a prize of $10. The first prize of $50 for a drill went to the local uniformed rank K. of P. company. The second prize of $25 was not awarded, as there was but one entry.

Parade of Laborers Through the Streets

Paris, Ill., Sept. 5.—Inability to secure satisfactory rates on the St. Louis division of the Big Four caused the Mattoon and Charleston labor organization to virtually withdraw from the proposed joint celebration of Labor day at Reservoir park in this city today. Only about a hundred people were here from the two towns. The Big Four officials said they could not make the rate because they had too much exposition traffic. There were several hundred people in the parade which took place on the principal streets at 11 o'clock, the best showing being made by the broommakers and glass blowers. Following the parade all went by special train to Reservoir park, where the afternoon was spent in various forms of amusement. As the Charleston and Mattoon delegations did not come the ball game was called off. The address of the day was made at the park by Rev. H. M. Brooks of this city.

Vincennes Celebrates at Princeton.

Vincennes, Ind., September 5.—Headed by the First Regiment band, fifteen hundred union men of this city attended the Labor Day celebration at Princeton, Ind., today. The Vincennes delegation traveled on a special train and was one of the largest that has ever been sent out here for a similar event. Efforts are being made to have a celebration in Vincennes next year, and the delegations from neighboring cities will be invited to attend.

Clinton People Have Big Celebration.

Clinton, Ind., September 5.—The Clinton Labor Day celebration was a successful affair. The laborers turned out in force to the parade and exercises. The principal amusement of the day was a baseball game between the "Fats" and the "Slats." The result was 43 to 9 in favor of the "Slats" in the ninth inning, when the game was called off and declared a draw because of a dispute over a decision of the umpire. The principal speaker was Rev. Worth M. Tippy of Indianapolis, formerly pastor of the Centenary church in Terre Haute.

LOCAL LABOR NOTES.

The iron workers and the manufacturers now in session at Chicago have not yet been able to accomplish anything. Fred Wilder, one of the two Terre Haute men who has been in the conference, first at Pittsburgh and later at Chicago, received a letter this week from one of his colleagues pertaining to the situation. It appears that the third member of the conciliatory board has not yet been chosen and the appearances point to a desire on the part of the manufacturers to prevent a selection. Several men have been suggested by the workers, but these have been turned down under some pretext or other, and the manufacturers have proposed in return some men who are as well known to be antagonistic to union labor as is D. M. Parry. The hope has not yet been abandoned, however, that a third party can be found.

Greensburg, Ind.—Twenty-two laborers

Bedford Labor Turns Out.

At Bedford organized labor turned out en masse. The parade was a big one. At the fair grounds in the afternoon there was the usual program of games and sports, and an excellent program of working class speaking. By request of the committee, Phil Reinbold of Terre Haute acted as chairman of the speakers' stand, and Charles L. Bracken of Typographical Union No. 16, of Chicago, delivered the principal address.

Literary Note.

The International Socialist Review for September opens with Comrade Debs' great Indianapolis speech, destined to become one of the historical documents of the American Socialist movement, and which every Socialist will wish to preserve. In an article on "The Rise of the American Laborer," A. M. Simon gives a summary of the main facts on the evolution of the American labor movement. In the form of a review of Charles Kendall Franklin's book, "The Socialization of Humanity," Ernest Untermyer gives what is probably the best exposition of monistic materialism, from the Socialist point of view, ever published. A wide circulation and study of this article will do much to give an understanding of Socialism. A translation of the statement issued by the "Russian Revolutionary Socialist Society" on the assassination of Von Plehve fully explains the reasons for a terrorist movement in Russia. An interesting revision of the total Socialist vote of the world is given, with a compilation showing the total vote throughout the world by years, gives the best view of the continuous rapid growth of international Socialism ever published. The "Letters of a Pork-Packer's Stenographer" continue their amazing and amusing revelations of the inside workings of the great meat trust. A report of the International Congress gives all the resolutions introduced by the various national parties. The departments are as full of valuable and interesting material as usual. We note that the Review has undertaken an extensive inquiry into the probable vote of the Socialist Party this fall, the results of which are to be published in the October number.

Campaign Lithographs.

We have received a sample of the two campaign lithographs issued by the National Committee of the Socialist Party. The pictures are meeting with very warm commendation as strikingly strong and artistic characterizations of our movement. They should be put up wherever possible as a means of calling attention to our party and candidates. Lithograph No. 2 is printed in black and tint, size 22 1/2 inches. The No. 1 lithograph is same size and design, printed in four colors. Prices are as follows for No. 1 colored: 1 copy, 15c; 2 copies, 25c; 5 copies, 30c; 12 copies, $1; 25 copies or more, 8c each. No. 2, black and tint: 1 copy, 10c; 3 copies, 25c; 8 copies, 50c; 20 copies or more, 5c each. Sample of each kind (2) for 20c. All small orders by mail rolled in tube. OLD BAVARIAN TOWNS.

Many of the Smaller Ones Are Merely Walled Farm Villages.

In old Bavarian districts many of the smaller towns are merely walled farm villages. These settlements of agriculturists reproduce the ancient laager for all. Each is built in the form of a parallelogram, the shorter sides having each a gateway, with double gates, over which rise central square watch-towers capped with conical red roofs. A narrow road or street runs from gate to gate, with old half timber houses set back close to the inclosing wall. The ground floor of these houses affords stabling for cattle, and from these stables the cows are driven out through the town gates in the morning and brought in at night. Townships like this are merely clusters of houses intimately connected with the farm lands that lie beyond their gates. The peasantry, whether peasant proprietors or allotment leaseholders, go in and out to their work. In eastern Bavaria, toward the Danube, where the better class farms are to be seen, one finds farmhouses of wood, a great shingled roof covering—as in Holland—not only the large living apartment, with many bedrooms, but also the stables for the horses and cattle. On such farms much of the farm work is done by girls, who usually wear short petticoats, tight bodices and kerchiefs on their heads. Most of the men are either in the army or working at trades.

SMOKING A CIGAR.

Some Things That Every User of Tobacco Does Not Know.

"It's really remarkable, considering the 12,000,000,000 cigars smoked in the United States every year, how few men really know how to smoke," said a prominent tobacco dealer. "There is one mistake in particular that even experienced smokers sometimes make—that is in not keeping the tobacco burning properly. About 90 per cent, I should say, of all the cigars sold are better on the outside than the inside. This isn't wholly to deceive the prospective buyer. It requires a good quality of leaf to shape the outside of a cigar, while the filler may be more readily composed of inferior tobacco. The smoker who permits his cigar to burn inside the wrapper loses the best part of it. Practically any cigar is rank when smoked through the center. The aroma is lost and the smoke is bitter and acrid. Puffing on a cigar that is not burning properly only increases the difficulty. The smoker gets more of the smoke of the inside leaves, and the whole cigar becomes hot from the effects of the increased combustion in the center of it. The proper thing—the only thing—to do under the circumstances is to light the cigar again, taking care that wrapper and all are included in the lighting. If this plan were followed a good many smokers wouldn't change their brand of cigars so often."

Looming Mirages.

In what are called "looming mirages" distant objects show an apparent extravagant increase in height without alteration in breadth. Distant pinnacles of ice are thus magnified into immense towers or tall, jagged mountains, and a ship thus reflected from far out at sea may appear to be twelve or fifteen times as tall as it is long. Rocks and trees are also shown in abnormal shapes and positions, while houses, animal and human beings appear in like exaggerated shapes. Before the sandy plains of our southwestern states and territories were converted into verdant fields by the ingenuity and tireless energy of man mirages were very common in those regions, the Indians regarding the phenomenon as being the work of evil spirits.

Reflecting Lighthouses' Origin.

Accident, not necessity, was the parent of the invention of reflecting lighthouses. During a meeting of a mathematical society at Liverpool some years ago one of the members laid a wager that he could read a newspaper paragraph at ten yards distance by the light of a farthing candle. This he succeeded in doing by covering the inside of an earthen dish with putty and sticking bits of looking glass on it and then placing his reflector behind the candle. Captain Hutchinson, a dock master, was present, and from this experiment gained the idea from which he evolved the reflecting lighthouse as built in Liverpool.

A Sad Predicament.

Mabel—I was so mortified at the Pouch mansion the other night. Flo—What happened? Mabel—I wanted to laugh in my sleeve, but I had on my decolette gown and had to hide the laugh in my glove.

Nothing Free.

Bacon—Do they give you prunes often at your boarding house? Egbert—They give us nothing! We have to pay for prunes, and we get 'em six times a week!—Yonkers Statesman.

A Remarkable Feat.

Old Salt—Oh, the ocean's a big place, dearie! Why, many's the time I've stood for three days on one tack, and—"My sakes, grandpa! I hope you had your shoes on!"—Brooklyn Life.

MAILLY'S REPORT

Weekly Socialist Bulletin of National Secretary.

National Headquarters, Socialist Party, Chicago, September 6.—The contribution of $20 in last week's acknowledgment credited to Comrade Walter Klierath was sent in by him for Ridgefield Park Branch of the S. P. of N. J.

THE NATIONAL CAMPAIGN.

The first meeting of the Socialist National campaign addressed by Eugene V. Debs, the Socialist Party candidate for president, at Indianapolis on September 1st was a great success. Masonic Temple was packed to the doors, despite the intense heat, and the enthusiasm was spontaneous and unstinted. Comrade Debs was at his best and covered the Socialist position thoroughly. It was an auspicious opening of what is evidently going to be a great campaign.

The demands upon Comrade Debs for special articles on the Socialist Party being made by leading magazines indicate the importance being placed upon the socialist campaign this year. The Daily News of Chicago, having the largest circulation of any evening paper in the city, last week published a two-column article by Debs. The "Era Magazine" has offered him space to answer an article by David M. Parry appearing in its September number, and the "Independent" of New York has already accepted an article which will shortly appear. In addition to these are the many calls made upon Comrade Debs by the socialist and labor press, all of which show that being a presidential candidate involves lots of work.

The National Secretary has sent a letter of advice regarding the treatment of Comrade Debs to the locals where he is engaged to speak during the campaign. It is hoped the committees having the meetings in charge will give heed to the suggestions made, as it is highly important that the best kind of care be taken of Comrade Debs, so that he can pull through the long and trying campaign successfully.

Comrade Hanford's dates for the months of September and October are being rapidly made. Passing through Chicago on his way east he reported enthusiastically upon the campaign prospects, and he predicts a greater vote than even the comrades themselves expect. He urges diligent distribution of literature everywhere, so that new recruits can be posted upon the party principles.

Reporting upon Hanford's meeting in Kansas City on August 24th, Comrade Palmer writes:

"Hanford's meeting was in every particular a success. House was crowded to discomfiture. Union men were highly pleased. Tickets for the Debs meeting at Convention Hall September 19th were on sale and went like hot cakes. Some of the unions are voting assistance for this demonstration. Besides individual members buying reserved seats to help us raise the money, the Brewers and Maltsters' Union donated $5, and there are others willing."

The same reports are coming into the national office from all parts of the country. It is up to the comrades to keep things moving until election day.

Another new leaflet is now ready at the national headquarters, entitled "Do You Know What Socialism Is?" It is a short, plain and concise statement of the Socialist position and addressed to working-class voters. It will be sent anywhere at 500 for 75c, 1,000 for $1.25, prepaid. Address the National Secretary.

The catalogue of campaign supplies issued by the National headquarters is being sent to comrades throughout the country, and orders should be placed at once, so as not to crowd matters at the last moment.

The first monthly official bulletin authorized by the new National Constitution will be issued September 15th. There are many official matters concerning the party which the pressure of the campaign prevents the party papers from publishing at this time. The bulletin will contain a complete list of campaign speakers, organizers and financial reports, last quorum meeting, and all secretaries should have one.

THE NATIONAL CAMPAIGN FUND.

Contribution lists for the National Campaign Fund have been sent to locals in all states where consent was given by state committees and all active workers whose names could be had. It is hoped that the comrades will fill these lists and return them rapidly to the National Secretary. The campaign fund is far from what it ought to be, considering the work to be done and the short time there is left to do it. Instead of $3,000 there ought to be $30,000 collected by this time, and every day the demands upon the national headquarters are increasing. How to meet these demands is a mystery so long as the money is not forthcoming which should be. This is the year in which Socialists must "loosen up" as never before. If you have a subscription list, fill it. If you haven't one, send for one. If you can't or won't circulate a subscription list, perhaps you'll use one of the new coin cards gotten out by the national office. Can be filled quickly and is very handy for mailing purposes. Send to the National Secretary for one.

Dates for National campaign speakers traveling under the direction of the national headquarters for the week ending September 17th are arranged as follows:

Harry M. McKee will return to California by way of Southern Texas and Arizona, filling a few dates en route during the latter part of September. After filling a week's engagement in northern Nebraska George E. Bizelo entered South Dakota under the direction of the state secretary on September 1.

Dan A. White, of Massachusetts, who has been secured to work in Wisconsin, will, at the request of the state committee, devote his time to Milwaukee, while Thomas Lucas, of Minnesota, has been engaged by the national office to work in that state.

George H. Goebel entered Idaho on September 1 and will fill a series of twenty-five dates under the direction of the state secretary.

Chas. Perzler, National Bohemian organizer, will soon make a tour extending through Ohio, Pennsylvania, Maryland and New York and will return to close his work in Wisconsin before the election.

Louis Goazion, National French organizer, will make a tour which will include Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan during September and October.

THE KITCHEN DRESSER.

It Was Originally a Bench on Which Meat Was Dressed.

Dr. Johnson tells us that the kitchen dresser was a bench in the kitchen on which meat was dressed, or prepared, for table and gives the following lines in support of his view:

"Tis burnt, and so is all the meat. What dogs are these? Where is the rascal cook? How durst you, villains, bring it from the dresser. And serve thus to me that love it not? —Shakespeare. A maple dresser in her hall she had. On which full many a slender meal she made. —Dryden.

Wright, in his "Domestic Manners of the Middle Ages," says: "One of the great objects of ostentation in a rich man's house was his plate, which at dinner time he brought forth and spread on the table in sight of his guests. Afterward, to exhibit the plate to more advantage, the table was made with shelves or steps, on which the different articles could be arranged in rows, one above another. It was called in French, or Anglo-Norman, a dresser, because on it the different articles were dressed, or arranged."

It is this to which the modern poet refers: The pewter plates on the dresser Caught and reflected the flame, as shields of armies the sunshine.

LIVING SILVER.

The Process by Which Mercury Is Extracted From Cinnabar.

The chief source of mercury is its native sulphide, cinnabar. The most important mines of this mineral in Europe are those of Almaden, in Spain, and Idria, in Illyria; in America, those of New Almaden, in California.

The silvery metal is obtained by roasting the ores in specially constructed open furnaces, where, by the action of atmospheric air alone, the sulphur is converted into sulphurous acid and passes on with the volatilized mercury into condensers. These are usually masonry chambers, with water cooled pipes, from which the fumes pass on through earthenware pipes and finally through others of wood and glass.

Most of the yield is liquid mercury, combined with soot, which is removed by agitating the mixture in receptacles of perforated iron, when the mercury falls through. The quicksilver is finally purified by straining through dense linen and is then sent out into commerce in leather bags or wrought iron bottles fitted with screw plugs, each holding about seventy-five pounds avoirdupois.

THE WORD BOGUS.

There Are Several Plausible Theories as to Its Origin.

The word "bogus" is said by Dr. Ogilvie to be derived from Boghese, the name of a notorious American swindler who about the year 1835 flooded the western and southwestern states with counterfeit bills, sham mortgages and such like. Others connect the word with "bogie," a scarecrow or goblin, and so applied to anything fictitious or chimerical.

Lowell in the "Biglow Papers" says, "I more than suspect the word to be a corruption of the French bagasse." This bagasse was the sugar cane as delivered in its dry, crushed state from the mill, called also cane trash, and fit only for burning, being thus synonymous with useless rubbish.

Again, according to Brewer, there is in French argot, or thieves' slang, a word, bogue, which signifies the rind of a green chestnut or the case of a watch, and this also brings us to the idea of an outward seeming without any solid and reputable foundation.—Pearson's Weekly.

An East Prussian Custom.

Midsummer day, or St. John the Baptist's day, is a festival of much importance among the Masur peasant girls in east Prussia. On this day they each make a wreath, and each in turn tries to throw her wreath so as to lodge it on a fruit tree. A girl must keep on throwing until her wreath stays in the branches, and the number of attempts is supposed to indicate the number of years she will have to wait to get married. When the girls are thus engaged the young men of the village stand around chaffing them when they miss. The girl who lands her wreath at the first attempt is vehemently applauded. The Masurs are Poles who live in that part of Prussia which was once part of Poland.

Donkeys in Egypt.

In Egypt the women still follow the ancient custom of riding on donkeys. The animals are small and well trained and carry their burdens about without remonstrance. The riding under these conditions demands no especial skill of horsemanship. The women make a great convenience of these little steeds, riding them to market or to their shopping as well as on considerable journeys.

Natural Cause.

"I have been told," remarked the visitor in Salt Lake City, "that your lake is drying up. What seems to be the cause?"

"I guess, mister," said the native, "if you had as much salt in you as that there lake's got you'd be gittin' purty dry too."—Chicago Tribune.

The Difference.

The Imprecunous—it is just as easy to love a girl with money as to love one without it. The Heirress—But it isn't so easy to get her.—London Tit-Bits.

Look on the bright side. If there is a baby in the house, there are also enough safety pins for the grown folks to help themselves.—Archibald Glasgow.

MEASURING MEDICINE.

Places Where They Still Take a Dimeful as a Dose.

A man went into a New York drug store and asked the clerk for a remedy for indigestion. The clerk sifted a pink powder into the scales.

"Take a heaping dimeful of this," he said. "It will bring you around all right."

The man's astonishment was almost powerful enough to drive away the indigestion without the aid of the powder. "A dimeful?" he ejaculated. "What kind of a newfangled system of measurement is that you have here?"

"It isn't new," replied the clerk. "And it is very simple. Just take a dime and pile as much of this powder on it as will stick. That will be the proper dose. You couldn't get it any more exact if you measured for half an hour with scales and spoons."

"Well," said the customer, "this is a new one on me." Then he proceeded to measure out a dose of the pink powder. As he did so a man standing close beside him sighed reminiscently. "It makes me feel young to see you do that," he said. "They used to measure medicine that way when I was a kid. I supposed modern appliances had driven all those old methods of measurement out of the market."

"Not at all," said the clerk. "There are lots of places where they still take medicine by the dimeful."

MANAGEMENT OF WIVES.

What the Tactful Husband Does When His Helpmeet Weeps.

One thing the tactful husband does is to let his wife cry. I don't mean that he drives her to crying or that he lets her weep while he stands unsympathetically by with his hands in his trousers pockets, his feet apart and gawking sardonically. I mean that when an emotional woman needs a good cry he realizes that it will relieve the tension. He does not get up and rage about and kick footstools out of the way and say, "Oh, for heaven's sake, stop crying or you'll drive me to drink!"

No. He goes and pats her shoulder soothingly and says:

"There, little woman! I'm sorry the cook has left and your new gown hooks up crookedly, but cheer up. Let's go out and have a jolly little dinner, and tomorrow I'll write that tailor a letter that will make his hair curl."

Then she looks up through her tears and thinks how handsome and big and strong and glorious he is, and before the dinner is over she has thought up two ways in which to economize and so pay for the extravagance of his order to the waiter, for the common purse is not elastic, and she knows it.—Lillian Bell in Harper's Bazar.

Character Analysis.

"He is a great deal of an optimist," said one bright girl.

"Yes," answered the other, "and an egotist as well."

"Can one be both?"

"Certainly. He is cheerful because he firmly believes that the world cannot go wrong so long as he lives in it and looks out for it."—Washington Star.

A Venus.

Sister—You have told me her name, yet I know no more than I did before. Is she beautiful? Brother—Beautiful? Why, she could make even the present fashions look artistic.—New York Weekly.

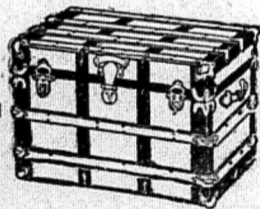

Knew by the Question.

"Doctor," said the patient, entering the office with a most lugubrious expression, "how does a man feel that has indigestion?" Doctor—"You haven't got it!"—New York Press.

Always.

Henry F. Schmidt.

The history of the labor movement shows that it has advanced step by step, each succeeding year bringing improved conditions. There are many causes which have aided and are still aiding in bringing about these improved conditions. One of the most prominent reasons for this advancement is the fact that influential concerns which are important factors in the growth of cities have extended their support and encouragement. Henry F. Schmidt, for example, located at 673 Wabash avenue, has always shown a disposition to be fair and reasonable in his attitude towards labor.

In fact, Mr. Schmidt has been ever ready and willing to lend his best assistance to the furtherance of any conservative movement.

He carries a fine assortment of jewelry. You will receive a hearty welcome and fair treatment and can rely on his line of goods as being strictly up to date.

J. G. King.

There is not a Grocery and Meat Market that is more deserving of the patronage and unyielding support of the labor organizations than the above, located at 1300 Lafayette avenue. The union man is fully recognized there, along with the most courteous and considerate treatment is tendered him. Mr. J. G. King has displayed his loyalty to the union, and has proven his staunch support of all attempts made by the organization to further and perpetuate its interests.

And it is but just and honorable that union men should in turn lend their assistance and bend their energies toward making the business of working a still greater success.

Mr. King also conducts a grain and feed business at 681 Lafayette avenue.

Such concerns as the above are deserving of credit, and should be given the encouragement of all who have the best interests of the city at heart. We wish that the success they have had and have not the slightest doubt that it will be increased tenfold.

Known gentlemen are successful businessmen and we of all. We wish them

404 and 2406 Wabash

THE purpose of an edition of this character is to present a carefully prepared list of concerns and individuals who evidence an interest in the cause of organized labor. By their appearance in this issue their sentiment is expressed. It is also a proper recognition of appreciated patronage of the union man and his family. It is therefore proper that the firms that are here given space and honorable mention should receive the support and patronage due them for their manifest interest in this Annual Review.

Terre Haute Printing Co.

It being essential to our success as unionists to foster and encourage to the fullest extent a deserving enterprise which is not antagonistic to our cause we take pleasure in calling attention to the Terre Haute Printing Co., which is located at 24 South Fifth street, and which is a splendid example of an up to date concern and one which should receive the hearty support and encouragement of all citizens.

This business is established upon a most solid and substantial basis, and has grown in prestige and popularity since the date of its inception.

They can always be depended upon to be fair and reasonable in their attitude toward labor and the cause of labor.

Eppert & Son.

An enterprise of magnitude and importance, such as Eppert & Son, high-class photographers, located on second floor, Naylor-Cox Building, 406-408 Main street, is worthy of commendation, not only on account of their excellent work, but also on account of their fair dealings with both their employees and the public. In recognizing the friendly and cordial relation of the proprietors towards labor, we feel that we not only echo the voice of their own employees but also of the workmen of Terre Haute, who constitute the larger percentage of the city's population.

Our members and friends will make no mistake in giving their patronage and cooperation to this meritorious firm.

Wm. R. White.

A splendid example of commendable enterprise which should be supported and encouraged by our workmen is the Grocery and Saloon of Wm. R. White, located at 31 North Fourth street. This gentleman has shown himself to be always on the side of organized labor, and willing to do anything in reason for the furtherance of our cause.

His stock of groceries is complete in every detail and his bar is stocked with the purest and best goods to be found on the market and his trade is increasing largely, as it should. We are safe in saying that this pleasant resort will not deteriorate, but will advance under its present management.

A. E. Eiser.

We are desirous of calling the attention of organized labor to the fact that A. E. Eiser, wholesale dealer in fancy groceries, confections, cigars and tobacco and table delicacies, always felt very kindly towards the labor movement.

We unhesitatingly commend him to the favor of the labor masses, knowing full well that your interest will be well looked after.

He devotes his entire time to the business he has chosen and has built up a large patronage by his progressive methods and strictly honorable dealings with all. He is located at 15-25 South Ninth street.

Miller Tailoring Co.

The Miller Tailoring Company is the outgrowth of a successful business established thirty-five years ago in Terre Haute and carried on for almost as long by Mr. J. T. H. Miller, who is still an honored citizen of our city. Upon retiring from business he handed down to his sons an unimpaired reputation, which they have striven to advance in every way. One of the sons is an expert cutter of long experience and the other has charge of the business. All work is done under their immediate supervision and is strictly up to date in every particular as to fit, style and workmanship and you can rely upon perfect tailoring. Centrally located in the Opera House Block they enjoy a large patronage. We predict for them continued success. Give them a call for your fall suit.

They are growers of roses, carnations and pot plants. Make a specialty of funeral designs and wedding decorations. Their telephone number is 349. When in need of anything in their line you will receive prompt attention and courteous treatment. We wish them continued success.

Imitation Perfumes.

"It may seem peculiar," said a perfumery manufacturer, "but perfumes are adulterated and imitated just as baking powder and other things are. For instance, we make a high grade carnation pink perfume from the flowers themselves. This, of course, is costly, but the perfume retains its odor, and a handkerchief that has been scented with it will retain the perfume even after it is washed. A hot iron will bring out the odor again. Now, a perfume that is just as good to all first appearances and that for ten minutes will have the same effect can be made out of the oil of cloves mixed with alcohol. At the end of ten minutes the odor will be gone."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Joha Bruns.

We desire to call special attention to Mr. John Bruns, wholesale dealer in blasting powder, dynamite, electric supplies and miners' tools, handles. Woodruff is the resident manager and our friends needing insurance will receive good rates and courteous treatment by Mr. Woodruff.

Brown Bros.

Among the progressive business men of Terre Haute we take pleasure in referring to Brown Bros., Jewelers, located at No. 422 Main street. They carry a fine line of high grade Watches, Diamonds and Jewelry, do expert watch and jewelry repairing, carry a fine line of talking machines and records, and make a specialty of glasses. All glasses properly adjusted and eyes tested by an expert optician. Brown Bros. are courteous and painstaking gentlemen, and everything in their line is strictly up to date.

Beal has taken a most active interest in the welfare of Terre Haute and of its citizens and he is well and favorably known throughout the city. The attitude of this gentleman towards organized labor has always been of the most friendly nature and he has upon many occasions assisted to the full extent of his ability in furthering our conservative interests.

He is located at 419½ Wabash ave.

They conduct a fine grocery and excellent bar attached, also fine livery and sales stables.

We take pleasure in placing the name of this firm foremost among the prominent concerns of the city which are to be depended upon as staunch and substantial friends of conservative organized labor.

E. N. Sparks & Co.

We recommend without hesitancy the above firm, dealers in Real Estate and Insurance, located at 419½ Wabash avenue. There are no unfair and underhanded dealings by this firm.

They are courteous gentlemen and we heartily recommend them to our friends and the public when in need of Real Estate or Insurance. We extend to them our best wishes.

Terre Haute Electric Company.

In looking over the various business enterprises of our city that render effective service to the public the Terre Haute Electric Company is surely in this category, and the stockholders and the general public may be assured that the management is progressive and up to date. New machinery has recently been installed and the aim of the company is to keep the plant in the best possible condition to give the public facilities services.

They furnish electric light, power and steam heat in addition to the street car service.

Mr. Wells, the general manager, devotes all his time to the interest of the company. The excellent record he has made and the high standing of the company speaks for itself. Their general offices are located at No. 303 Wabash ave.

Riddle-Hamilton Co.

We are desirous of calling the attention of organized labor to the fact that the Riddle-Hamilton Co., Insurance and Real Estate Dealers, have always felt very kindly towards the labor movement, and we in turn should patronize them to the fullest extent, thus aiding to make this commendable firm a greater and more splendid success.

They devote their entire time to the business they have chosen and have built up a large patronage by their progressive methods and strictly honorable dealings with all. They are located at No. 20 South Sixth street.

The Majestic Livery and Sales Stable.

When we meet a concern like the above we are only too glad to give them the favorable mention that is theirs by right of long friendship with the cause of organized labor, and we feel that we are doing ourselves credit in the credit we give them. They are livermen of a very successful type, and exhibit a most fair and friendly attitude towards the cause.

No higher commendation can be given a firm than to say that they have always treated their employees with the utmost consideration and have been as careful of their rights as of their own. A call at the Majestic Stable, located at 217 and 219 South Fourth street, when in need of a rig for business or pleasure, will be sure to result satisfactorily.

Wm. M. Bundy.

A meritorious enterprise of magnitude and importance, such as that of Wm. M. Bundy, high-class photographer, located at 420½ Wabash avenue, is worthy of commendation, not only on account of his excellent work, but also on account of his fair dealings with both his employees and the public. In recognizing the friendly and cordial relation of the proprietor towards labor, we feel that we not only echo the voice of their own employees but also the workmen of Terre Haute, who constitute the larger percentage of the city's population.

This successful firm is well and favorably known to the workmen of this district. Today he holds a prominent position among the photographers of Terre Haute.

Our friends will make no mistake in giving their patronage and co-operation to this meritorious firm.

This firm has treated the great question of labor with the utmost fairness and consideration. In recognition of this existing good will this enterprising concern receives our unanimous endorsement, and our friends and the public will always receive courteous and fair treatment when doing business with them.

The J. M. Vickroy Co.

Among the consistent friends of organized labor none is more worthy of the special mention than the above firm. They have taken a most active interest in the welfare of Terre Haute, and are well and favorably known throughout the city. The attitude of this firm towards organized labor has always been of the most friendly nature and have upon many occasions assisted to the full extent of their ability in furthering our conservative interests.

How Are You Going to Vote?

We elect a president next November. Are you going to vote with the Democrats, the party of the little capitalists, and try to put things back where they used to be? Or are you going to vote with the Republicans, the party of the big capitalists, and help keep things as they are?

Or will you vote with the Socialist Party, the party of the workers, and help change things so that those who do the work will own what they produce?

But possibly you do not know about the Socialist Party. Then send four cents in stamps, and receive by return mail three books, Easy Lessons in Socialism, The Socialist Party, and What to Read on Socialism. Address

Albert L. Dill.

Space should be given to Albert L. Dill, the well known meat dealer and meat curer, of his make of fine hams and bacon, handles home killed beef, pork, veal and mutton.

The proprietor is a most exemplary gentleman. The success of this enterprise is due to the efficient management of this large business, which is most favorably known in our city.

We recommend most heartily this firm to our workmen as reliable in all cases, and as a friend of conservative organized labor. Under the present management this firm is sure to make most rapid progress, and they certainly have our good will and co-operation. Located at 1244 Lafayette avenue.

Fred Herman

Prominent among the leading concerns of this section we find the name of Fred Herman, the popular dealer in Fresh, Salted and Smoked Meats, located at 101 North Fourth street. This concern is certainly a splendid example of commendable home enterprise, which should receive the large support and co-operation of organized labor and all loyal citizens of Terre Haute and vicinity.

We are pleased to note this gentleman has always exhibited a most friendly attitude towards labor, and our workmen have good reason to consider him a staunch and substantial friend. He is a man of integrity, who can always be relied upon to be manifestly fair and reasonable in all dealings, and his union friends can bank on getting the best at reasonable prices.

We are pleased to place the name of Fred Herman foremost among the prominent one which are worthy of being classed as the friends of labor.

B. F. Alvey.

We have no hesitancy in stating that Mr. Alvey is a gentleman who can always be depended upon to be reasonable and considerate in all his dealings, both with labor and the public. Such an institution as this one is certainly worthy of the highest commendation. He conducts a flourishing grocery business, notions and men's working clothes. Union men should patronize this deserving enterprise. He is located at 1422 and 1424 Eighth avenue.

Williard E. McJohnston.

When, as labor men, the necessity arises for us to patronize drug stores, we feel that in so doing we are spending money with a concern that is favorable to our cause, and that has a record of having done nothing in the past to antagonize the hosts of organized labor living in and around this district. A well known and worthy firm dealing in drugs, and one that has a splendid record as being always in touch when the cause of labor is striving for advancement, is that of Williard E. McJohnston, the enterprising druggist, whose place of business is located at 1401 South Third street.

Mr. McJohnston is a man whose good sense and business instincts would alone keep him from antagonizing so large a class as that of labor, but when, allied to his other qualities, you find as generous and whole-hearted a man as he is, it goes without saying that such an idea is entirely foreign to his nature.

Mr. McJohnston is a good pharmacist. All his drugs are of the purest quality, and his line of toilet articles is unsurpassed. We wish him continued success.

Max Blumberg.

No more firm friend of organized labor can be found in the city today than Max Blumberg, well known jeweler, located at 17 South Fourth street.

Mr. Blumberg has met deserved success in this his chosen line of trade, and owing to the able manner in which he handles his business, his patronage is increasing largely and steadily.

We take pleasure in warmly recommending him to our co-workers.

Samuel Frank & Sons

Conduct one of the leading Clothing manufacturing establishments of the Terre Haute district. They have made a great success and have always shown a friendly spirit toward labor organizations.

Owing to their honorable and straight-forward manner of dealing, they have built up a large and substantial trade, which is satisfied with only first-class goods, and we are pleased to note that they are men who may be depended upon to be fair and reasonable in their relations to the public.

Such concerns as the above are deserving of credit, and should be given the encouragement of all who have the best interest of the city at heart. We wish them a continuance of the success they have had in the past, and have not the slightest doubt but what it will be increased ten-fold.

Samuel Frank & Sons manufacture a dependable line of clothing. These well-known gentlemen are capable and successful business men and have the confidence of all.

Terre Haute Automobile Co.

Terre Haute has numerous, and diversified interests. We have already touched upon several of the most important ones. There still remains one which is of great importance to the city. We refer to the Terre Haute Automobile Co., located at 121 South Seventh street.

This concern is a fine example of such and such. We hope that their business may continue to prosper and flourish.

Willard Kidder.

One of the leading enterprises of our city is the well known Wabash Mills, located at the southwest corner of Wabash avenue and Water street. These mills use only the finest selected wheat in milling. We desire to call special attention to their brands of "High Grade" patent, "Vigola" patent and "Pride of the Wabash," and Ceres Whole Wheat Flour for gems and pancakes. Mr. Kidder has always treated the wage worker with the utmost consideration, which is attested by those in his employ. He has the confidence of the public and merits the success he has attained.

Cox & Davis.

It may be true that the legal profession is overcrowded. But so long as there is room at the top, as Daniel Webster, the great constitutional lawyer, once said, there will continue to be a fixed position for such attorneys as Cox & Davis, whose offices are located at 17-18 Erwin Block. The labor movement is greatly benefited by the existence of favorable public sentiment. Such a sentiment is best created by the city's leading Attorneys.

Cox & Davis have always been staunch friends of labor and we are pleased to accord them this recognition. They are affable gentlemen and we wish them continued success.

Prudential Insurance Company of America.

Among the matters pertaining to the wage earner is insurance. Every man should be insured for the benefit of his family and those who are near and dear to him. Call upon the above company when investigating insurance, and Mr. C. W. Noble, who is the superintendent, will explain their plan, which will assure your own future and the future of your family. The Prudential offers policies for both sexes in amounts to suit you. This company has the strength of Gibraltar, and wage earners and the public generally will do well to investigate.

James N. Hickman & Son.

Among the prominent Livermen in our city none deserves more special mention than the above firm, located at 19-21 North Twelfth street. Their turn outs are stylish and strictly up to date. You will receive at the hands of these gentlemen courteous treatment and your orders will have prompt attention. They have always espoused the cause of the wage earner in all conservative movements. Terre Haute is to be congratulated upon an establishment of this kind.
