"Oh, Father!" cried the son to the Ogre, "you have not your wand and our Slave Giant is going to vote-his ballot might destroy us."

"Never fear, my son," smiled the Ogre. "The ballot is the thing the down-trodden cry for and battle for, and when they get it we fix the votes so it produces just what our Slave Giant votes for-

-Behold me greeting him from the Ballot Box."

As was expected, the Socialists (or Social Democrats) of Germany made tremendous gains in the election held on Tuesday, June 16th. On Wednesday the capitalist press of the world was compelled to announce the marvellous advance made by Socialism in the Empire where Kaiser Wilhelm heretofore claimed ascendancy. The Socialists have had the opposition of all parties to contend with, but have gained nevertheless.

The press of Berlin confesses its astonishment at the victory of the Sacialists and already great anxiety is manifested at the probable results of the second election which takes place on June 25th, and at which 118 seats will be again contested. In Germany a majority elects, and failing this a second election is held. This gives the electors a second choice, and this invariably results in the Socialists' favor, although the opposition will undoubtedly combine to prevent further

A gain of over 400,000 Socialist votes, or a total of over 2,500,000 in th empire was conceded on Wednesday. In Berlin, a seat in the Reichstag (German Parliament) and 63,000 votes were gained, and other seats captured in Dresden, Solingen, Pirna, Plauen, Sittau, Doebel, Altenburg, Dunstadt, Schwartzburg, Bielfell, Beyreuth and Bremen.

Fifty-three Socialists are elected to the Reichstag with the second election to come. In the last Parliament the total number of Socialists was only 58. In 1898 at first election 32 Socialists were elected. It is computed that the Socialists may win 36 seats in the second election, which would make a total of 89 seats. The Socialists had 322 candidates in 394 districts.

The greatest surprise was the result in Essen, Krupp's town, where Emperor William recently denounced the Socialists, and blamed them for Krupp's suicide. There the Socialist vote was increased from 4.400 to 22.-

In Berlin the Socialist working wo men went from house to house, getting out the dilatory voters in at least 80 districts. The Socialist vote in Berlin in 1867 was 67; this year it was 218,122. On Wednesday morning, the National Secretary of the Socialist Party sent the following cablegram to the German comrades:

"Congratulations from Socialist Party of America upon splendid victory for International Socialism."

The election results in Germany are the direct outcome of organization. which enabled the Socialists to take advantage of the prevailing industrial conditions and the blunders and injustice of the administration. This is an example that can well be followed by the Socialists of the United States.

WHY WE WANT SOCIALISM?

Because it will give us enough to

Because it will give us beautiful

Because we can travel to Europe, if we want to.

Because we shall have time to study and make things. Because we shall not have to work at all after we are fifty. Because we shall not have to be dishonest or mean.

Because we can afford to be married and have happy, healthy children.

This injunction business is a sword that may cut both ways. Irresponsible power is sure to be abused. But cap-Italists have introduced the Judge as a King. Let them not be surprised if some Judge who depends on votes for his place, like this local Judge Dickinson, of Omaha, issues an injunction in favor of Labor Unions. He will expect the Labor vote in return, of course. And he will get some fool votes, but narry a Socialist vote. We can't be caught with one oat. We must have all the oats in the bin.

But it won't be a bad idea to go in and elect a few Socialist Judges ourselves. If irresponsible power is to be exercised by anybody, let's have workingmen to do it.

THE CERMAN ELECTIONS THE RIGHT KIND—A GRATIFYING SURPRISE

The most astonishing thing about our prize offer of a Lot of Land in Seattle is this. Scores of comrades respond with numerous subscriptions but refuse to enter the contest. They say, like Herman Culver, of Port Angeles, Wash .: "I do not ask or expect any prize or reward. The satisfaction of alding in a small way to extend the circulation of such a courageous advocate of clear-cut, square-toed, class-conscious Socialism, is reward enough for me. Yours for working-class Socialism."

This spirit is the spirit that keeps this paper in the field. We have never made a cent on the paper. In fact, all the members of this Union, some 25 comrades, have had to put up their hard earned dollars again and again, in order to pay the current bills. We are all proletarians, but so far our determined co-operation has lifted us out of every hole:

Opportunists strive to kill us.

Right here in Seattle, a little clique of "Mills men" spend the most of their time in attacking "The Socialist" and Mills himself calls it "the worst lying sheet in the country" and advises everybody to destroy it as soon as

Because we advocated the working-class program so strictly, another paper was started in this state with the avowed purpose to "smash "The Socialist." For the same reason, we have been unable to borrow money this very month to liquidate old deficits. The small business men in our party are the ones who have money to spare and, with one or two conspicuous exceptions, they give this paper the cold shoulder.

The result is, the workingmen who have "nothing to lose but their chains," are our main supporters and defenders.

The pledge last Saturday night by a comrade who said, "I haven't got it to give, but I'll give a dollar a month," that sort of support renders us un-

One thing you can all do, comrades, is to get subscriptions among workingmen. That will help us most of all.

Enter the Ten Weeks' Campaign for 25,000 subs.

Our Third Anniversary occurs on Aug, 11th, 1903. Then we shall begin our fourth year. We want your help to start out with those extra thousands. If every man who reads this will at once, this very day, secure ONE NEW SUBSCRIBER to "The Socialist," we shall get a magnificent start. It is little for each of you, but it means much for this paper.

We propose to publish a Special Cartoon Edition to begin our fourth year. If you respond with enough new subscriptions, it will be an eight-page edition, with cartoons enough to make it alone worth the full year's subscription price.

The lists are rolling in now. Keep it up, all-you who have entered the race for the Seattle Lot. And all you who are too late for that, but who want to help this "Workingman's Paper," just get in and hustle for these coming weeks in July.

WE DEPEND ON YOU.

ONE WAY TO MAKE AN ANARCHIST

John Czolgozz (a brother of the murderer of President McKinley), who has been living in Los Angeles, was arrested as a precautionary measure and placed in jail, where he will be kept until the President's departure from the state. He did not object, but requested the authorities not to give the matter publicity, particularly as he had not done, nor did he intend doing, any wrong, and was known to his employers, co-laborers, and associates as Joseph Hoffman, because he felt the weight and shame of his insane brother's awful crime. A pledge of secrecy was given him, in consideration of which he went without a murmur to a felon's cell. How "sacredly" the secret was guarded may be judged from the prominence given the incident by the Associated Press. The Examiner published his picture, from which we gather that he has a far more honest face than have some of the "distinguished citizens" who sometimes "adorn" its columns. Yet it says of

"John Czolgosz is twenty-two or twenty-three years old, he says; he has light, rather short hair, growing well away from the temples; light grav eyes of the shifty type, thick nose, weak mouth, and a more or less pointed chin. He is about five feet eight inches tall, weighs 155 pounds, and walks with a slouchy, hang-shoulder gait. Degeneracy is stamped all over his weak, pallid face."

When Czolgosz learned that his picture would be published, he pleaded that it should not be, as it might cause him loss of employment. Ever since his brother's crime he has been hunted like a wild beast, driven from place to place, and denied employment wherever his identity was known. Yet he is admittedly industrious and of gentle manners. Such persecution would make a murderous anarchist of almost any man.—San Francisco Star.

WORKING TO SPLIT THE PARTY?

Some people seem to think that "The Socialist" delights in making personal criticisms. They do not seem to see the difference between criticism of a man as an individual and criticism of a man as the representative of a principle

For instance, toward Walter Thomas Mills as an individual "The Socialist" has only the kindest feelings. But toward Mills as the representative of the middle class wing of the Socialist Party, we cherish the most im

In the discussion of principles that concern the building of the Socialist Party, we have no more regard for men or women as individuals than we have for bricks and mortar. All we want to know is, Are they the right

The Socialist Party, as an instrumentality for the emancipation of the human race from Wage Slavery, is so immeasurably more important than any person or number of persons, that they are not worthy to be considered when vital questions are under discussion.

The Socialist Party in America is just now being tested. It may develop along the scientifically established lines of International Socialism, making the working class its basis, or it may develop into another Reform Party directing its appeal to middle class and working class alike.

It is because we believe W. T. Mills to stand for the latter tendency that we criticise him. If we are wrong, we shall be glad to know it, and to

But we have not been hasty in our judgment. In its issue of Sept. 7. 1902, some ten months ago, "The Socialist" published a leading article, entitled "Walter Thomas Mills and the Socialist Platform." We printed his tract, "What Is Socialism?" side by side with our national platform, and reached this conclusion:

"The platform has nothing but the Class Struggle, Mills has nothing

"This tract, Prof. Mills' own statement of the political proposals of the Socialists, not only belittles the Class Struggle, but completely ignores it. If this tract misrepresents Comrade Mills we shall be glad to publish whatever he may write to correct the wrong impression con-

"If any one can point us to any publication of Prof. Mills advocating the class struggle as the central element in our political program, we shall be most happy to publish the same."

This invitation and challenge has never been answered by Mills or his friends though it has been repeated a dozen times since. Mills has written numerous letters to correct errors of statement concerning himself. We print elsewhere in this issue two such letters of his concerning comparatively trivial matters. But he has never found time to write a line to deny this most serious charge that can possibly be preferred against a Socialist, namely, that "he belittles or ignores the Class Struggle as the central element in the Socialist political program."

On the contrary, it appears that in Denver, Wednesday evening, June 3, 1903, he said before a great audience in "The Tabor": "No Socialist teacher ever said the class struggle was the central feature in Socialism." (As reported in "Colorado Socialist" of June 5, 1903.) .

Over against this assertion, let us set these words of no less a "Socialist Teacher" than William Liebknecht:

"For our party and for our party tactice there is but one valid basis: THE BASIS OF THE CLASS STRUGGLE, out of which the Socialist Party has sprung up, and cut of which alone it can draw the necessary strength to bid defiance to every storm and to all its enemies. The founders of our party --- Marx, Engels and Lasalle, --- impressed upon the workingmen the necessity of the class character of our movement so deeply that down to a very recent time there were no considerable deviation or getting off the track." (Liebknecht's "No Compromise." Kerr's edition, p. 9.)

Or, take this declaration by as eminent a "Socialist teacher" as can be found in America:

"The emancipation of labor can only be wrought by a united effort of wage-earners along the line of their class interests . . That this struggle for freedom should express itself in political action is inevitable. Class interests always express themselves in class politics." . (Vail's "Principles of Scientific Socialism." p. 230.)

It would be rather the truth to say: "There never was a single Socialist teacher who did not say the class struggle was the central element in our

This proves Walter Thomas Mills is not a Socialist teacher and that be ignores and denies what Socialist teachers have always affirmed.

In place of such outright, downright and upright statements as those of Marx. Engels, Leibknecht and Vail. Mills has only this phrasing statement: "Socialism is the working program of the workingman's side of the class struggle." That only means that collective ownership is the only program which will deliver the workers, as explained in his tract, "What Is Social-

Nobody denies that. But this declaration wholly misses the point contained in Leibknecht's and Vall's declarations, namely, that the working class must constitute the bulk of the Socialist Party.

Why escape by means of this brief and evasive phrasing? Why not come out so plain that nobody can fail to understand? Why not speak out as our national platform speaks in its opening sentences, as follows:

"The Socialist Party, in national convention assembled, reaffirms its adherence to the principles of International Socialism, and DECLARES . ITS AIM TO BE THE ORGANIZATION OF THE WORKING CLASS, and those in sympathy with it, INTO A POLITICAL PARTY, with the object of conquering the powers of government and using them for the purpose of transforming the present system of private ownership of the . means of production and distribution into collective ownership by the Mills ignores all of this except the last two lines. The way of getting possession of the governmental powers by which to transform private into public ownership, that is, by means of a political party of the wage working class primarily, he quite overlooks and disregards.

This is his fundamental error. Instead of a party of the working class alone, Mills wants a party of all classes. He is glad to get the workingmen; Socialism is their working program, he says. But he is equally glad to get the middle class, Socialism is also a working program for their

Socialist teachers say, Labor must emancipate itself. The Socialist Party must be built on the basis of the class struggle between Wage Labor

Mills teaches that this modern class struggle is not fundamental and central to the formation of the Socialist political party.

Socialists teach that the Socialist Party is a working class party. Mills teaches that Socialism is good for the working class, just as it is for the middle class. He might also say to an audience of small business men: "Socialism is the business program of the business man's side of the class struggle between little capital and big capital. No other program can possibly be devised by which the small business men may win the victory and save themselves from extermination."

That is a new kind of Socialism. The Bernsteinians may be right. Socialism may have enlarged its scope and broadened its basis. But if so, let us say so plainly. Let us come out into the open and discuss whether or not the teachers of Socialism have been wrong in making the class struggle the central element in establishing and maintaining a political party.

If Mills will defend that view, let him say so. We shall know "where we are at." But let him stop declaring that no Socialist teacher ever sa'd what all Socialist teachers have said.

HIS PRACTICAL ACTION CONFIRMS HIS THEORETIC POSITION. If Mills really believes that the working class is not the only class to form the basis of the Socialist Party, his actions square with his belief. In all parts of the country, he is encouraging and co-operating with the fusion elements in the party. Where the working class comrades have had the hardest fight to purify themselves from middle class domination, there Mills koes to discourage their work and to encourage their antagonists.

Omaha is a conspicuous filustration. In that city, the party had excluded a number of members for proved corruption, the taking of money and passes from a capitalist party. The working class comrades were in full power. The expelled middle class "Socialists" formed a "Socialist Club," openly opposing and undermining the regular party organization.

Now it was under the auspices of this corrupt and opposing body that Mills went to Omaha and now proposes to keep on going once a month (see his own statement elsewhere printed.)

He thinks the "Outs" and the "Ins" should unite and go on together. That is, his practice conforms to his theory. He would have working class and middle class, honest and dishonest, uncompromising and compromising, work together in one "Socialist" Party.

The working class organization in Omaha, the Socialist Party there therefore, finds its worst opponent in Walter Thomas Mills. He is working hand in glove with the displaced corrupt members of the Socialist Party in Omaha.

What does he mean by such action? Unless it is merely to earn his money, it must be a deliberate attempt by a member of the National Committee of the Socialist Party to destroy the Socialist organization in Omaha

The same effect of Mills' influence was observed in California. The ession of his school in San Francisco was followed by the introduction of throngs of middle class members and the adoption of a fusion policy in that Local and in its organ, "Advance." Nearly all his pupils were infected with a disrespect for the working class sprogram. They cease to draw the lines. so closely. They are more "liberal." His recent lecture in San Francisco was not approved by the comrades of the Socialist organization in that city.

In pursuance of the same tactics, Mills is now about to lecture in Portland, Ore., Seattle, Spokane and Pullman, Wash. In Portland, the local declined to receive him. In Seattle, the City Central Committee also declined. In Spokane, he will go under the auspices of a "club" formed of members whose charter has been withdrawn by a State Referendum vote on account of "Fusion" proclivities. In Pullman, too, it is a "Socialist Club" which has withdrawn from the party that will entertain Mills. He went to New York City also in a similar way, despite the regular party organization.

Now, as an "American Citizen," no one will dispute his or any man's right to go where he pleases, take pay from whom he pleases, say what he pleases, do in general whatever he pleases.

tional Committee, goes about the country teaching that the class struggle is not the central element in our political program, and proceeds to cooperate with the corrupt, middle class and expelled members of the party wherever there has been a fight to a finish, it looks very much as if the intent was either to capture the party to his way of thinking and acting, or to split the party wide open.

Fortunately, as we believe, the Socialist Party of the United States has too many workingmen in its ranks and too many educated, determined men among them, to be misled into any middle class morass by any one man or any hundred men.

It was through just such hot discussion and furious internal struggles that the German Socialist Party rid itself of its bourgeois elements in it: early days. Because of its triumphant proletarian elements, it has gone on in its invincible career.

Once our political program and party character are established on the working class, it will be safe to welcome into our ranks more freely the despairing members of the dying middle class. But for the present, to give them the lead or to appeal to them chiefly or even equally, will only result in a quickly-built house of clay.

The basis of representation at the Convention as provided in Article VII. is, "One delegate at large for every local, and one delegate for every fifteen members in good standing, or major fraction thereof."

For instance, if Local Seattle has 98 members, it will be entitled to 8 delegates: if it has 97 members, 7 delegates.

Section 2, Article III., provides that each Local shall pay dues on or before the 15th of each month, but that an additional thirty days shall be allowed before it shall become delinquent. In accordance with this provision, May dues are payable on or before

June 15th, but any Local paying its dues any time prior to July 15th is entitled to participate in the official proceedings of the party. Each Local should endeavor to send its full guota of delegates to the

His last trip in Oregon was through Wasco county on the Colum-b'a river, speaking at Mosier, The Dalles, Dufur and Kingsley, organizing Locals at the first and last of these places named. At Dufur, F. A. Reich, lein, and at Kingsley, Frank Leiblein, two sturdy German comrades, have been holding the fort for Socialism for a long time. Both of these comrades were active in the Socialist movement of San Francisco, Cal., in the latter seventies, and remembered and inquired for their old-time comrades, Jas. Sudrem and G. Moeller, who are still active and are now members of Local Oakland (Alameda county); and who live in Berkeley.

Money talks in the politics of British Columbia. Under the law $200 must be deposited for every candidate placed on the ticket. That's a fine scheme for shutting out the candidates of a working class party, but they'll have to raise the limit before they check the sturdy comrades of British Columbia.

The German election returns come in slowly, but when they arrive they show tremendous gains at every point for the Social'st Party. Comrade M. W. Wilkins, under the auspices of the National Lecture Bureau of the Socialist Party, is expected in the state of Washington about the 10th of June. He has spent several 7:30 weeks in Oregon doing the hardest p m kind of work and organizing more than a dozen locals.

National Organizer Wilkins

We quote from the circular sent a m out by the National office:

Something About Wilkin "Wilkins earned his reputation as a A. B. C. DENNISTON, G. W. P. A., speaker as far back as 1891, when he was active for the People's Party, of which he was one of the original or-ganizers. He was a member of the People's Party National Committee, and lectured for that party over a wide stretch of territory. "Wilkins was elected to the National People's Party Convention at Cincinnati, May, 1891, the National Convention of Farm and Labor Organiza tions, St. Louis, February, 1892, and the National Convention of People's Party at Omaha, July, 1892. He was one of the famous middle-of-the-roaders at the People's Party Convention at St. Louis, 1896, and left that party when fusion occurred, becoming a member of the Socialist Labor Party. "He has edited seven different radical papers in his time, and turned over his paper, "The New Charter," to the Socialist movement in 1896, re naming it "The Class Struggle," and was editor until October, 1899. Was
